CRIMINAL TABLES FOR THE YEAR 1861.

PREFATORY REMARKS.

Prefatory Remarks.

The Tables showing the number of persons committed, or bailed for offences, for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions, in the several counties and towns in Ireland in the year 1861, with the result of the proceedings, have been furnished, as in previous years, by the Local Inspectors of the several Gaols, and are compiled from Returns made by the Clerks of the Crown and Peace, pursuant to 7th George IV., cap. 74, and from the records of the gaols. From the last-named source the age, sex, and state of instruction of the several persons on committal have been ascertained.

The number of cases adjudicated before magistrates and at petty sessions, and the number of persons committed within the year (to the county and town gaols), for drunkenness, under the Act of 6 and 7 William IV., cap. 38, are inserted at foot of each Return, furnished by the Local Inspectors, and a Summary Table, showing the number of such in each county in the years 1860 and 1861 is given at page xx; but these numbers are excluded in the calculations contained in these remarks.

From the Returns furnished by the several Local Inspectors the under-mentioned Summary Tables have been compiled.

Committals.

Committals.

During the year 1861, there were 5,586 persons returned for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions, being an increase of 200, or 3·71 per cent., over the number in 1860, viz., 5,386, which was 8·16 per cent. under 1859, when 5,865 persons were so dealt with.

The county returns being divided into six sections, the following Table has been prepared to show the increase or decrease per cent. in each section in 1861, compared with 1860; and from it we learn, that except in the class of "Offences against the Person" and Committals.

"Offences against Property with Violence" the numbers sent for trial in 1861 for the several other divisions were in excess of those of 1860 :—

Classes.	1860.	1861.	Actual Increase, 1861.	Actual Decrease, 1861.	Increase per cent. on Committals of 1860.	Decrease per cent. on Committals of 1860.

2. Do. do. property with violence,	381	361	.	20	.	5·25
3. Do. do. property without violence,	1,891	2,015	124	.	6·55	.
4. Malicious offences against property,	41	54	13	.	31·71	.
5. Forgeries and offences against currency,	62	101	39	.	62·9	.
6. Offences not included in above classes,	1,070	1,115	45	.	4·21	.
Total,	5,386	5,586	200	.	3·71	.

An analysis of the several sections shows the following changes to have occurred as to the particular crimes included in each :—

Class I. Offences against the Person.

Class I.—Offences against the Person.

Under the following heads in this class, the number charged in 1861 falls below that of 1860, viz. :—"Murder," 30, against 37; "Conspiracy to Murder" affords a nil return in 1861, against 5 in 1860; "Concealing Birth of Infants" fell from 41 to 37; "Sodomy" also shows a nil return, against 6 in the previous year; "Rape," and other offences against female chastity, declined from 88 in 1860 to 83 in 1861; "Child-stealing or desertion" gives but 17, against 34 in 1860; and "Assaults" in 1861 were 1,477, and 1,488 respectively in the previous year. On the other hand, the following crimes exhibit an increase in the number sent for trial, as compared with 1860 :—"Attempts to Murder" 4, against 3; "Shooting at, Stabbing," &c., 67, against 60; "Abduction" 5, against 1; "Bigamy" 8, against 5; and "Assaults on Peace Officers" 119, against 81 in 1860.

Class II. Offences against property committed with violence.

Class II.—Offences against Property committed with Violence.

Some of the items in this class show an increase over 1860 :—thus, "Burglary" increased from 84 to 89; "Housebreaking," from 31 to 44; "Robbery," from 61 to 66; and "Assaults with intent to rob" increased from 14 in 1860 to 19 in 1861. The items showing a marked decline in 1861, compared with 1860, are "Sacrilege," none having been so charged in 1861, against 6 in the previous year; "Robbery of arms" also affords a nil return in 1861, whilst 3 persons were charged with this crime in 1860; "Stealing in dwelling-houses," &c., declined from 8 to 3; and "Taking and holding forcible possession" gives a return of but 122, against 149 in 1860.

Class III. Offences against property committed without violence.

Class III.—Offences against Property committed without Violence.

In this section, several of the crimes embrace a much higher number of persons than in 1860; thus the various classes of "Cattle-stealing" include no less than 157 persons, against 114 in 1860; "Larceny to the value of £5 in dwelling-houses" increased from 37 in 1860 to 46 in 1861—"Larceny, simple," from 1,055 in 1860 to 1,137 in 1861; "Misdemeanors with intent to steal" was 55, against 37 in the previous year; and "Frauds" rose from 74 in 1860 to 78 in 1861.

A decline in the numbers charged is observable under the following heads :—"Larceny from the person" 304 in 1861, against 326 in 1860; "Larceny by Servants" 19, against 26; Stealing from Vessels in Port or River" fell from 13 in 1860 to 6 in 1861; and the number sent for trial for "Receiving Stolen Goods" also declined from 134 in 1860 to 125 in 1861.

Class IV. Malicious offences against property.

Class IV.—Malicious offences against Property.

Comparing the numbers charged with the several crimes included in this section in 1860 and 1861, we find an increase in the latter year under the following crimes :—"Arson (capital)" 16, against 12; "Setting Fire to House, &c.," 10, against 9; "Killing and Maiming Cattle" 6, against 3; "Sending Letters threatening to Burn Houses, &c.," 2, against 1; and "Other Malicious Offences" also increased from 2 in 1860 to 15 in 1861; "Attacking and Injuring Dwelling-houses," however, shows a considerable decline, as but 5 persons were charged with this crime in 1861 against 12 in 1860.

Class V. Forgery and other offences against the Currency.

Class V.—Forgery and other offences against the Currency.

This section, as a whole, exhibits the largest proportional increase over 1860 of any of the other sections of the returns, viz., 62·9 per cent., and each of the nine items included therein are, with one exception, in excess, compared with 1860. The crimes which show the greatest amount of increase are "Uttering other Forged Instruments," which affords a return of 28 persons against 10 in 1860; "Counterfeiting, &c. Copper Coin," which advanced from 1 in 1860 to 10 in 1861; and "Counterfeiting the Current Gold and Silver Coin, which rose from 8 in the previous year to 13 in 1861.

Class VI.—Other Offences not included in above classes.

Class VI. Other Offences not included in above classes.

In this section we find, as compared with 1860, noticeable increases under the following headings:—"Assembling Armed Unlawfully," 76 in 1861 against 20 in 1860; "Perjury," 30 against 24; "Rescue, and refusing to aid Peace Officers," 224 against 154; and "Unclassified Misdemeanors," 235 against 183 in 1860. On the other hand, the following crimes include much lesser numbers than in 1860:—"Riot, Breach of Peace," &c., numbered but 449 persons against 560 in the previous year; and "Offences connected with raising the rate of Wages," fell from 10 in 1860 to 3 in 1861. "Unclassified Felonies" also exhibit a decline from 76 in the previous year to 63 in 1861.

The subjoined Table gives a return of the number of persons sent for trial at Assizes and Sessions, for the more serious offences, in each of the years from 1851 to 1861:—

Convictions.

Convictions.

The number convicted at Assizes and Sessions in 1861, viz., 3,271, was equal to 58·56 per cent. on the total number sent for trial, viz., 5,586, and from the following table which shows the number convicted, not convicted, and their per centages to the whole in each of the years from 1851 to 1861, it will be seen that the convictions in 1861 afforded a higher proportion than in any of the years included therein, with the exceptions of the years 1852 and 1854.

Of the 2,315 persons not convicted in 1861, 1,086 were found "not guilty on trial;" in 684 cases no bills were found; in 420 cases no prosecution took place; 102 persons were bailed and not tried, and 23 were found insane—(6 on arraignment, and 17 acquitted as being insane.)

Of the 2 persons sentenced to death in 1861, 1 was executed, and the other, a female convicted of arson, had her sentence commuted to penal servitude.

The sentences in each year, from 1848 to 1853, previous to the introduction of penal servitude (under the 16th and 17th Vict., cap. 99), are recorded in the following Table:—

It is also to be noted, that in 1861, 51 persons were at Assizes and Quarter Sessions directed, on the expiration of their prison terms, to be detained in reformatories, established under 21 & 22 Vict., cap. 103. In 1860, 65 persons were thus dealt with at Assizes and Quarter Sessions.

Sexes.

Sexes.

The following table shows by sexes, the increase or decrease, per cent. of the number of persons sent for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions in 1861, as compared with 1860, for each of the six sections into which the returns are divided.

Classes of Offences.	Males.				Females.
	1860.	1861.	Increase per Cent.	Decrease per Cent.	1860.	1861.	Increase per Cent.	Decrease per Cent.

4th „	32	45	40·62	–	9	9	–	–
5th „	43	76	76·74	–	19	25	31·58	–

Total,	3,996	4,262	6·66	–	1,390	1,324	–	4·75

From these calculations we find that male offenders increased 6·66 per cent., and that females declined 4·75 per cent. on the numbers of 1860. Between 1859 and 1860, male offenders decreased 10·44 per cent., and females only 0·93 per cent. The numbers sent for trial in 1859 compared with 1858, exhibited a decrease of 5·23 per cent. in the males, and 12·31 per cent. in female offenders.

Education.

Education.

It appears from the following table that the committals for trial in 1861 included a much higher proportional number of persons who could "read and write" than in any year from 1854, viz., 31·9 per cent.; the per centage of those who could "read only" in 1861, was 14·23 per cent., and that of those who could neither "read nor write" was 31·08 per cent. of the committals, being the lowest per centage in the table.

TABLE showing the amount of Education amongst the Persons committed for Trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions in each of the Years, from 1854 to 1861, with the per centage each class bears to the entire committals.

From the next Table may be learned the educational status of the male and female prisoners as compared with each other in the years 1855, 1856, 1857, 1858, 1859, 1860, and 1861, respectively; and it will be found that the proportion per cent. of males who in 1861, could, when committed, read and write was more than double that of the females, whilst the proportion of females who could neither read nor write, was nearly double that of the other sex.

These Tables exhibit the gratifying fact of the continual decline in juvenile prisoners, i.e., prisoners not exceeding 16 years of age; in 1855 they numbered 556 males and 175 females; in 1856, 384 males and 130 females; in 1857, 376 males and 111 females; in 1858, 233 males and 69 females; in 1859, 203 males and 70 females; in 1860, 142 males and 59 females; and in 1861, 143 males and 47 females. During the year there has, however, been an increase in the number of offenders of both sexes under 12 years of age.

The following Table has been compiled to show the proportion which the numbers sent for Trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions during the year 1861 bear to the population of each County, &c. The number of inhabitants of each district have been extracted from the return lately issued by the Census Commissioners.

By these calculations it appears that during 1861 the number of persons sent for trial at Assizes and Quarter Sessions bore a proportion of 1 in every 1,032 of the population, irrespective of sexes. The counties which in 1861 afforded the highest proportional number of offenders to population were—Fermanagh, 1 in 589; Kildare, 1 in 679; Longford, 1 in 695; Tipperary, North Riding, 1 in 700; Mayo, 1 in 742; Westmeath, 1 in 865; Queen's County, 1 in 907; Roscommon, 1 in 976; and Cork County, 1 in 991. The counties which exhibited the lowest proportional number of offenders to population were —Waterford, 1 in every 3,003 inhabitants; Antrim, 1 in every 2,745; Londonderry, 1 in 1,737; Louth, 1 in 1,670; Down, 1 in 1,630; Dublin County, 1 in every 1,570; and Galway County, which afforded a proportion of 1 in every 1,461 of its population.

The proportion of males sent for trial in 1861 was 1 to every 658 of the population of that sex. The following counties gave a higher proportion of male committals than the average:—Longford, 1 in 374; the North Riding of Tipperary, 1 in 403; Kildare, 1 in 460; Tyrone, 1 in 497; Mayo, 1 in 514; Queen's County, 1 in 531; Westmeath, 1 in 550; Leitrim, 1 in every 610; Down, 1 in 610; Armagh, 1 in 631; Sligo, 1 in 638; and Roscommon, 1 in every 646 of its male inhabitants.

The following are the counties which exhibited the lowest proportional number of male offenders:—Waterford, 1 in every 2,144; Antrim, 1 in 1,619; Louth, 1 in 1,117; Down, 1 in 1,109; and Londonderry, in which the male offenders were as 1 in every 1,041 males in the county.

Female offenders sent for trial during 1861 averaged but 1 in every 2,235 of the population of that sex, being very little over one-third as high a proportion as that of males.

The following six counties in 1861 afforded a much higher proportional number of female offenders than the average for the kingdom, viz.:—Mayo, 1 in every 1,304; Kildare, 1 in 1,346; Carlow, 1 in 1,383; South Riding of Tipperary, 1 in 1,398; Fermanagh, 1 in 1,493; and the King's County, which afforded a return of 1 female offender to every 1,852 of its population of the female sex. In eighteen counties, the number of female offenders fell below the general proportion. The following are the six which afforded the lowest proportional number of female offenders, viz.:—Antrim, 1 in every 7,129; Armagh, 1 in 6,569; Monaghan, 1 in 5,376; Longford, 1 in every 5,100; Dublin County, 1 in every 4,869; and Waterford, 1 in every 4,794 of its female population.

Comparing the actual numbers sent for trial in each of the years 1860 and 1861, there appears a marked increase in the latter year in the following localities:—Mayo, 343, against 243; Fermanagh, 179, against 56; Cork, 463, against 385; Cork City, 205, against 176; the North Riding of Tipperary County, 155, against 113; the South Riding of same county, 137, against 92; Westmeath, 105, against 75; Cavan, 139, against 117; and in the County of Donegal, which had 217 persons sent for trial in 1861, and but 196 in 1860; Galway town also increased from 19 in 1860 to 39 in 1861.

The localities which exhibited in 1861 a marked decline in the number of persons sent for trial at Assizes and Sessions, as compared with 1860, were—Galway County, which fell from 298 in the former year to 174 in 1861; King's County, which declined from 119 to 76; Wexford gave a smaller return by 38 than in the previous year, in which 156 persons were sent for trial, against 118 in 1861; Armagh also fell from 192 in 1860 to 159 in 1861; and Roscommon exhibited in 1861 a decline of 25 from the numbers of 1860, viz., 160 against 185.

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 11 March 1862;—for,

RETURN, "by COUNTIES, of all OFFENCES committed in Ireland during the last Eighteen Months; specifying the Nature, Date, and Place of each Crime; whether rendered Amenable to Justice; and the Result in each Case, so far as the same have been reported to the Constabulary."

Constabulary Office, Dublin Castle,
9 May 1862.

H. J. BROWNRIGG,
Inspector General of Constabulary.

(Colonel Dickson.)

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
16 May 1862.

REMARKS.

I. The detections here inserted are necessarily limited to the perpetrators of offences committed within the period of the Return. Within the same period many other offenders have also been made amenable for crimes committed antecedently thereto, as no doubt many will be hereafter arrested for offences here included, who have hitherto eluded detection.

II. The class of offences, the perpetrators of which have hitherto been the most successful in escaping justice, being exceedingly difficult of detection, and more difficult still to prosecute to conviction, are these—Threatening Letters, Incendiary Fires, House Attacks, and Infanticides.

1. Threatening Letters. The difficulty of detecting the offenders in these cases from the fact that the letters are invariably written in a feigned hand, or by some person at a distance from the locality; they are also generally posted at some distant place.

2. Incendiary Fires. It requires but a single individual to perpetrate an act of incendiarism; unless, therefore, the incendiary be caught in the act, it is next to impossible to procure evidence leading to the detection of the guilty party.

3. House Attacks. Persons whose houses have been attacked, frequently refuse to lodge an information that the offence has been committed; and almost invariably assert that the offenders are unknown to them, or that they would not be able to identify them, even in cases where there is strong reason to suspect that the right parties are in custody.

4. Infanticides. Information can rarely be obtained in these cases, in which the perpetrators have the strongest motives for concealment.

III. The numbers under the head of "Offenders unknown," refer to cases in which the injured parties were either unable or unwilling to identify the offenders. In most of these cases no informations were lodged before the magistrates.

Total Number of Sheep Killed by Dogs in Ireland, during the Year 1861		8,897

SHEEP (IRELAND).

RETURN of the Number of SHEEP supposed to have been KILLED by DOGS in each CONSTABULARY DISTRICT in Ireland, from 1st January 1861 to 1st January 1862.

(Mr. Bagwell.)

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
13 June 1862.

Under 1 oz.

CONSTABULARY (IRELAND.)

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 4 July 1862;—for,

COPY "of a RESOLUTION on the subject of the IRISH CONSTABULARY, adopted by the Grand Jury of County of Tipperary, assembled at Clonmel at the late Special Commission for that County."

THE Grand Jury assembled at the Special Commission for the county of Tipperary, now holding at Clonmel, consider it their imperative duty to call the attention of the Government to the constitution and discipline of the constabulary force, with the earnest hope that they may take into their consideration how far that body fulfil their mission as a preventive or detective police, and, in so doing, the Grand Jury beg most distinctly to be understood as not making any hostile movement against the Government, but as being wholly influenced by a sincere desire to stop the progress of crime, which is so disastrous and so disgraceful to this portion of Her Majesty's dominions.

For some years past the constabulary have become more and more a military force, and in exact proportion as that system has been established, their usefulness as a domestic force has been weakened and impaired.

The Grand Jury wish particularly to call the attention of the Executive to three points: first, that the individuals composing the force are taught not alone to look to their chief in Dublin as the only source from which promotion or reward is to be expected, but that any expression of approval or recommendation from the local magistrates, no matter how well deserved, or how earnestly expressed, is a positive injury and actual bar to professional preferment.

That, the country being divided into districts, each officer, constable, or subconstable, is confined to his own peculiar area of action, and that no properly organized system of communicating intelligence of the commission of crime or outrage is established between one district and another; and as one instance amongst many that have come before them, both in their collective and individual capacity as grand jurors and magistrates, they beg leave to call attention to the fact, that the murderous attack upon Colonel Knox at Templemore was not reported at Borrisoleigh Station, five miles off, until 24 hours after the transaction; and they have no doubt that a similar remissness took place in regard of the other stations in the vicinity.

Thirdly. That as the principal use of police is to watch and protect life and property in the several districts, their recent equipment, with a heavy and delicate weapon, such as the rifle and sword bayonet, now in use, render it impossible for them to pursue a supposed delinquent over a close or hilly country, nor does it leave them the unembarrassed use of their limbs in close conflict.

The Grand Jury, however, are most anxious to record their opinion of the general good conduct, sobriety, and intelligence of the members of the constabulary force, and to express their opinion that the failure of the system is owing, not to the individuals, but to military organization established at head quarters.

For Self and Fellows,
Wm. Barker, Foreman.

County of Tipperary,

Out of Ireland.

To a Head Constable	- - - - -	5 s.	– d. „
„ All other Constables	- - - -	3 s.	6 d. „

General Rules.

No greater sum will be allowed, or is to be charged, for car, coach, packet, boat, or railway fares, than that actually incurred: nor will any expense whatever for information, &c., be allowed.

The fare by coach is to be for an outside place; by steam-boat, for the second cabin; by railways in Ireland, for the third class; by railways in England, for the second class.

394. Special Rates of Allowance at Depôt:

Drill.—An allowance of 5 l. per annum each is granted to six Drill Instructors at the Depôt, one of whom is to be the Rough Riding Constable, which allowance is only to be drawn during the actual performance of the duties, and is to be forfeited when absent on leave or on the sick report. The Commandant is, therefore, to certify on the account, that the individuals for whom the allowance is charged have duly performed the duties for the period stated. Drill Constables may or may not, as the Inspector-General may direct, be placed on the extra rate of 40 l. per annum.

Assistant Drills.—Sub-Constables so employed for a period of twelve months to the satisfaction of the Adjutant and Commandant, will be promoted to the temporary rank of Acting Constable: but should they cease to discharge the duties in question, they revert to their proper rank.

Rough Riders.—Constable, see Drills.

Sub-Constable, 32 l. 7 s. per annum, during the actual performance of the duties, certified by the Commandant as above.

Repairs of Saddlery.—One shilling per month for each saddle in use at the Depôt.

395. Allowances to Officers acting in the Absence of others:

I.—To an Officer acting in the absence of the Commandant of the Depôt, after the first 30 days, five shillings per diem; such allowance to be paid by the Commandant, if absent on leave; but if incapable from sickness of performing the functions of his office, or if absent on duty, the amount to be charged under the proper head, on the authority of the Inspector-General, in the public accounts.

II.—To an Officer acting in the absence of a County Inspector or of the Paymaster of the Depôt, after the first 30 days, four shillings per diem; to be paid or charged as in the preceding case. If, however, the Officer acting for a County Inspector draws the allowance for an office and for stationery, he is only entitled to the difference between these allowances and 4 s.—viz., two shillings and seven pence per diem. County Inspector's Clerk and official books to be sent at his expense to the station of the Officer so acting, if absent for his own convenience; if absent on duty, or from sickness, the expense to be charged to the public.

III. When a Head Constable has the charge of a district in the absence of the Sub-Inspector, or during a vacancy, he will be permitted the use of the public Horse attached to the district, and such Horse is to be attended as usual by the mounted orderly in whose care it is. The Head Constable is not entitled to the Officer's forage allowance, but he is to receive the stationery allowance of a Sub-Inspector whilst in charge of a district.

Marching Money.

396. When granted.—This allowance will be granted in the following cases, only, when the distance shall exceed 12 miles, viz.:

1st. When on a march from one county to another.

2ndly. When transferred from one station to another, whether within their own counties or otherwise, except as in section 397.

3rdly. When proceeding to and returning from Assizes, Quarter Sessions, and Elections.

4thly. When proceeding to and returning from the County Inspector's office, for examination for promotion.

397. When not granted.—When men are conveyed at the public expense they will not be entitled to marching allowance; nor when they are removed at their own request, or on promotion, or for misconduct. There may, however, be special cases in which men are promoted and transferred for the good of the service; in such cases special authority for granting marching allowance may be given.

398. When the men receive marching allowance, as above, they are not to receive extra pay for the period on march. They can only receive the one or the other for the same day.

399. Authority for Marching Money.—It is unnecessary to submit for the Inspector General's approval, claims for marching money to which men may be duly entitled, in such cases as recruits joining or proceeding from the Depôt (who may be paid under the authority of the Commandant), or men proceeding from one county to another (who may be paid such allowance under the authority of the County Inspector); but in other cases, and especially where claims for extra pay or travelling allowance are involved, the authority of the Inspector General is indispensable to the charge.

400. Ten Hours' Absence from Home.—When Sub-Inspectors are employed at fairs, races, in the protection of sheriffs, or of coroners, in the escort of prisoners, or on any other duty of a like nature (except on inspection, patrol, warrant, despatch, or petty sessions duty), which shall necessarily detain them from their stations for a period of not less than 10 consecutive hours, they shall shall be allowed one-half the amount of extra pay that they are entitled to when absent the whole night. Head Constables employed under similar circumstances, and with the like exceptions, will be entitled to 9 d., and other constables to 6 d.; provided that, in the event of any member of the force being employed on duty during 10 hours of any day, and through the night of that day, extra pay for the night only shall be allowed. Should the privilege granted by this section be in the least degree abused, it will be withdrawn.

423. County Store.—The allowance for an Assistant Storekeeper in each county is 10 l. per annum, including rent and other expenses of the store.

424. When the store is kept in a constabulary barrack (whether held rent free or not), the sum of 50 s. is to be re-credited to the public, and the remaining sum of 7 l. 10 s. per annum to be paid to the Assistant Storekeeper.

Stationery Allowance.—Sixpence per month to the Head or other Constable in charge of each Station.

Medical Allowance.—One shilling per month for each Officer, Head, and other Constable.

Compensation for Clothing.—When not supplied, 2 s. 7 d. per month per man.

Lodging Allowance.—When there is no barrack accommodation, not exceeding 6 s. per month per man.

RETURN of P. G. BARRON, Esq.

I AM over the age of 60, but I am not incapacitated by bodily infirmity or otherwise from active duty. My district comprises the entire city of Limerick and its liberties, extending into the county of Clare; also a large portion of the county of Limerick. There is a daily police court held in the city, and petty sessions every Friday; also petty sessions for the county every Thursday. The population of the entire district is over 70,000, and my time is so fully occupied by the duties of this large district, that I can but seldom attend at Patrick's Well or Ballynesty, the only two places where I am required to attend in the county. However, when anything particular arises, I do attend, but it is always to the neglect of the duties of the city, which of themselves are quite sufficient for any one person.

Pierse Geo. Barron,
Resident Magistrate,
Limerick.

Limerick, 1 July 1862.

RETURN of EDWARD GONNE BELL, Esq., Resident Magistrate, stationed at Castle Connell, in the County of Limerick.

I WAS born at Listen Hall, in the county of Dublin, in the year 1794.
I became a local magistrate for the counties of Mayo and Galway in the year 1826.
I was appointed a stipendiary and resident magistrate in 1841.
I am now 68 years of age.

NUMBER and Distance of Petty Sessions in said District; viz.:

Castle Connell Petty Session, every second Monday in the month.
Murroe - - - ditto - every second Tuesday in the month; 8 miles from station.
New Pallas - - ditto - every second Wednesday in the month; 18 miles from station.
Newport - - - ditto - every second Friday in the Month; 5 miles from station, county Tipperary.
Killaloe and Ballina ditto - every second Tuesday in the month; 8 miles from station, counties Tipperary and Clare.
Cloonlara - - - ditto - every second Friday in the month; 6 miles from station, county Clare.

(signed) Edward Gonne Bell,
Resident Magistrate.

Castle Connell, 5 July 1862.

THIS is to certify that I have been for years personally acquainted with Edward Gonne Bell, resident magistrate, stationed at Castle Connell, in the county of Limerick, and whom I have been visited by this day; and after a careful examination of him, I declare that he is in good health, and free from any bodily or mental infirmity, and for his time of life, now aged 68 years, I consider him most active and perfectly capable for the effective discharge of all his official duties.

Given under my hand this 4th day of July 1862.

(signed) Robert R. Gelston, M.D.,
Surgeon, County and City Infirmaries;
Physician, County and City Gaols;
Physician, St. John's Fever Hospital;
Consulting Physician, Limerick District Lunatic Hospital and City Limerick Lying-in Hospital.

68, George Street,
Tontine Buildings, Limerick.

RETURN of DANIEL J. CRUICE, Esq.

RETURN of the petty sessions in my district at which I am ordered to attend, with the distance of each from Killarney, where I am stationed, which are as follows:

Killarney.		Valentia - -	49 miles from my station.
Tralee - -	21 miles from my station.	Cahirdaniel -	64 „ „
Tuogh - -	8 „ „	Kenmare - -	21 „ „
Killorglan -	14 „ „	Kilpadder - -	28 „ „
Milltown -	10 „ „	Sneem - - -	41 „ „
Cahirciveen -	44 „ „	Dingle - - -	54 „ „
Waterville -	56 „ „	Aunescall - -	44 „ „
Portmagee -	55 „ „	Castlegregory	37 „ „

A reference to my monthly returns of the performance of duty will show that my attendance at the above sessions has been regular, and I think I may venture to assert that I have done as much duty during the last 20 years as any other resident magistrate in Ireland; in support of that statement, I have to name the two previous districts in which I was stationed, namely, Donegal and Mayo. My age is 61 years. I am happy to state that I am not incapacitated, by bodily infirmity or otherwise, from the active performance of my duty.

FIRST ANNUAL REPORT

OF

THE MANAGERS APPOINTED UNDER THE PRISONS (SCOTLAND) ADMINISTRATION ACT.

TO THE RIGHT HON. SIR GEORGE GREY, BARONET,

One of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

11, Melbourne Place,
Edinburgh, 13*th February* 1862.

Sir,

We have the honour to lay before you our First Report, in terms of Section 60 of 'The Prisons (Scotland) Administration Act 1860,' which provides as follows:—'The Managers shall, on or before the 15th day of February 'in every year, make and transmit to one of Her Majesty's Principal Secre- 'taries of State a full report of their whole proceedings during the year ending 'on the 31st day of December preceding, and an abstract of their whole receipts 'and expenditure, classifying the separate articles thereof; and in the said 'Report, or in the Appendix thereto, there shall be set forth all new rules or 'alterations of rules for Prisons which shall have been made by such Secre- 'tary of State as aforesaid, any orders issued by such Secretary of State 'constituting a new Prison or altering the classes of prisoners for which a 'Prison is legal, and such information and statistics regarding Prisons in 'Scotland as such Secretary of State may require; and a copy of every such 'Report shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament within fourteen days 'after the 15th day of February, if then assembled, or if Parliament shall not 'be then assembled, within fourteen days after the next meeting thereof.' The Managers appointed under the Act are, the Sheriff of Perth, the Inspector of Prisons for Scotland, and the Crown Agent in Scotland, all ex-officio, together with one person to be appointed and removable by Her Majesty. To this office Her Majesty was pleased, by warrant issued on the 1st of January 1861, to appoint Mr. John Hill Burton, who had been Secretary to the General Board of Directors of Prisons.

Annual Report to be made to Secretary of State by Managers.

The functions of the General Board came to an end at the conclusion of the year 1860, and ours commenced on 1st January 1861. It became our first duty to carry out the provision which authorized and empowered us to bring to completion all matters and proceedings left by the General Board uncompleted at the commencement of the Act. To enable us, in terms of this direction, to wind up all proceedings under those powers of the General Board which it was not the object of the Statute to transfer to us, and also to put us in a position for carrying on, without pause or interruption, those functions of the General Board which were to be continued by us, it was provided—'That it shall be lawful for the Managers to sue for, recover, and dis-

'charge all debts or sums of money due to the said General Board at the 'commencement of this Act, and to receive from the said General Board all 'moveable property, records, and documents belonging thereto, and to hold 'and dispose of the same for the purposes and subject to the provisions of 'this Act, and to any directions to be given relative thereto by one of Her 'Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.'

In terms of this provision, the records and documents, as well as the miscellaneous effects, belonging to the General Board, came into our possession on the 1st of January, and have been used by us in carrying out the public service in our department.

Transmission of Balances of Assessments to County Boards. Sect. 56.

The monies standing in bank in the name of the General Board were transferred to our credit, and in their disposal we were governed by the following clause, enacting that we 'shall receive from the said General Board, 'and remit to the several County Boards, any balances of monies raised within 'such counties by assessment, in the possession of, or at the order, or under 'the control of, the said General Board at the commencement of this Act.' There thus came into our possession two separate funds to be restored to County Boards, 1st, The balance on the assessment for converting the buildings at Perth into a General Prison; and 2d, The balance on the assessments for the building of Local Prisons.

1. The former of these was a limited assessment over the several counties of Scotland, which had been mortgaged to the Exchequer Bills Loan Commissioners to repay advances made by them for the purpose of the assessment, viz., the conversion of certain buildings at Perth, in the hands of the Government, into a General Prison for Scotland. That loan was extinguished in the year 1858. The expense of the General Prison having, in the year 1846, ceased to be a charge on public funds specially assessed over Scotland, and having since been paid out of public funds voted by Parliament, the assessment terminated when the loans were paid up. There remained, however, a small balance of the sums paid or due by the several counties after the repayment of the loan. In the Supplement to the Concluding Report of the General Board, we stated that this sum amounted at 1st January to £73, 13s. 6d. A statement of account of this balance and its distribution will be found in the Appendix.

Balance of Assessment for building General Prison.

App. No. XXVI.

2. The assessment for building Local Prisons was special to those counties in which funds for such a purpose were required. The monies raised in connexion with this assessment so transferred to us stood in two different shapes, —the one being the direct produce of the assessment, the other the balance on cash credits established with banks on security of the assessment. Under the former head it was stated in the Supplement to the Concluding Report, that the amount standing at our credit in bank was £8559, 3s. 11d. When this sum was distributed at 1st March there had accrued interest to the amount of £45, 9s. 7d., making a total of £8604, 13s. 6d., distributed as follows :—

The sum stated in the Supplementary Report as standing at our credit in the form of balances on cash credits is £2491, 8s. 9d. This sum was subsequently increased by a remittance from Renfrewshire, amounting to £579, 8s. 1d., and, by interest, amounting to £13, 19s. 9d., making the total sum £3084, 16s. 7d., which was distributed as follows :—

MANAGEMENT OF THE GENERAL PRISON.

Under the previous Acts the General Board fixed, from time to time, by declaration published in the Gazette, the classes of prisoners who might be admitted to the General Prison. Their latest declaration admitted male prisoners sentenced to nine months and upwards, female prisoners sentenced to one year and upwards, and criminal lunatics. It specially excluded prisoners under sentence of court martial. Convicts sentenced to transportation and to penal servitude were not included in the declaration, but were admitted under the powers conferred by Statute on the Secretary of State. Classes of Prisoners formerly admissible.

By the Act of 1860 it is provided, that the General Prison 'shall be a 'Prison for the reception and detention of prisoners sentenced to imprison- 'ment by the Courts of Law in Scotland, and also for the reception and deten- 'tion of such convicts, under sentence or order of transportation or of penal 'servitude, as Her Majesty may please to direct to be removed to such 'General Prison,' under the powers to that effect conferred on the Secretary of State. Classes of Prisoners admissible by the Act. Sect. 63.

By the following clause the classes of prisoners to be regularly removed to the Prison are separately defined :—

'When a sentence is pronounced by any Court of competent Jurisdiction 'adjudging any person to imprisonment for a period of nine months or up- 'wards, such sentence, whether the General Prison at Perth be mentioned 'therein or not, or whether the name of any other Prison be mentioned 'therein or not, shall be deemed to be, and is hereby declared to be, a sentence 'which may be carried into effect in the said General Prison, unless such 'sentence contains a clause especially declaring that the prisoner shall not 'be removed to such General Prison; and any person undergoing a sentence 'which may be so carried into effect in the General Prison may be removed 'thereto at any time in terms of the provisions of this Act for the removal of 'prisoners.' Sentences of Nine Months and upwards to be carried out in the General Prison. Sect. 64.

By a further clause authorizing the Secretary of State to order the removal of 'any prisoner from any Prison in Scotland to any other Prison 'in Scotland, being a legal Prison for the class of prisoners to which such 'prisoner belongs,' it is in the power of the Secretary of State at any time to remove to the General Prison a prisoner sentenced to imprisonment by a Court of Law in Scotland for any period less than nine months. Sect. 68.

An application having been made for the removal of two prisoners in the Prison of Stirling under sentence of court martial to the General Prison, we expressed, in consequence of a communication from the Secretary of State, a doubt whether they could be legally received there under the above definition of prisoners sentenced to imprisonment by the Courts of Law in Scotland. Prisoners under sentence of Court Martial.

The new Act contains no clauses relative to the disposal of Criminal Lunatics; and hence, as the law at present stands, untried lunatics cannot be received. The Secretary of State can, however, under the powers above referred to, direct the removal thither of any convicted prisoner becoming a lunatic in a Local Prison. The classes of lunatics who are found unfit for trial, or are acquitted on the ground of lunacy, may also be detained there under the clauses of the Lunacy Act, which place them at Her Majesty's disposal. On this matter we have some further observations to make in special connexion with the Lunatic Department. Criminal Lunatics.

The distribution of the accommodation in the Prison was, at the close of the year, as follows :—

	For Prisoners Sentenced				TOTAL
	To Imprisonment.		To Transportation or Penal Servitude.
I. The Prison Proper, exclusive of the Department for Lunatics—	M.	F.	M.	F.

Accommodation.

II. The Department for Criminal Lunatics—	Males.	Females.	Total.
Accommodation in 31 apartments for	33	13	46

The separate Juvenile Department containing, in terms of the above statement, 58 dormitories, was discontinued in 1860, owing to the decrease of that class of prisoners, who are now usually confined in Reformatories. In this and other available vacant accommodation the Prison could contain between 200 and 250 beyond the present average number.

Mode in which Prison was filled.

At the close of the year 1860, the number of prisoners in the Prison was 611—viz., 208 males and 403 females.

There were admitted during the year—

Prisoners sentenced to periods of imprisonment, 375—viz., 229 males and 146 females.

Female convicts sentenced to penal servitude, 75.

Criminal lunatics, 1—viz., 1 female.

These numbers, added to the number in custody at the close of the preceding year, make the total number who have been confined in the Prison, during the year 1861, amount to 1062—viz., 437 males and 625 females.

Liberations and other Removals.

There were liberated during the year, 194 males and 92 females, on expiry of sentences to imprisonment, and 90 females under sentence to transportation or penal servitude, 71 of whom were liberated by release on license—1 male imprisonment prisoner was liberated on warrant of the Court of Justiciary, and 3 male imprisonment prisoners received free or conditional pardons.

Deaths. App. No. X.

There were 8 deaths. For the particulars of each, we refer to the Report by the Medical Officer, and the relative Tables, both in the Appendix.

Number at the close of the Year.

At the close of the year, viz., on 31st December 1861, the number in custody was 674—viz., 237 males and 437 females.

Transferences from Ordinary to Lunatic Department.

One male and 2 females from the ordinary imprisonment department, and 1 female from the convict department, were removed to the lunatic department, on medical certificates of insanity. One female prisoner was retransferred to the Main Prison from the lunatic department.

Reports by Chief Officers.

We append, according to the practice adopted by the late General Board, Reports by the chief Officers of the Prison down to the close of the year, referring to them for information on the following particulars, viz. :—

4. A Table of the whole establishment of Officers in the Prison, with their emoluments, the dates of their appointments, and other particulars. App. No. XX.

Discipline of Prisoners.

There has been no alteration of the rules for the discipline of the prisoners during the past year, and consequently no material change in the discipline itself. We have kept in view, however, that with the progress of time, since the year 1855, when the Prison became an establishment for female convicts, a new class of prisoners are gradually coming into existence, namely, those who have been for a long period in detention, and who, owing to the effect of protracted confinement, both on the body and the mind, require a method of treatment, not necessarily applicable to prisoners whose privation of liberty has been more recent. For the purpose of varying, so far as practicable, their occupation and the objects surrounding them, convicts of this class have been taken occasionally to work in a plot of open ground, to be hereafter referred to, within the Prison wall. When its improvement has made further progress, this space will be available for airing and exercise. For a full statement of those statistical results which bear on the influence of the discipline, both on body and mind, we refer to the instructive and satisfactory analysis of the condition of the convicts in the Resident Surgeon's Report.

Remission, on License, of Sentences of Convicts.

The arrangement by which the Secretary of State remits to convicts, whose conduct in Prison has been satisfactory, a portion of their sentences, has been in systematic operation throughout the year. We append the two tables limiting the periods of remission,—the one applicable to convicts sentenced to transportation, the other to those sentenced to penal servitude. Being entrusted with the function of bringing under your notice the claims of convicts for remission, we have felt it our duty to look upon the full period in the Secretary of State's scale as the amount of remission to which the convict is entitled, unless a portion of it is justly forfeited by misconduct, and we have hesitated in general to recommend the forfeiture of any considerable proportion of the full period. Hence, the periods of forfeiture recommended by us during the year have only in three instances exceeded a month, though in the case of one very incorrigible prisoner the period extended to four months. In 71 remissions during the year, the number in which there has been any deduction from the full period is 13. The Table in the Appendix affords further particulars on this head. App. No. XIV. App. No. XIII.

Reporting Recommendations for Remission.

When a convict commits a Prison offence, she is reminded of its effect on her period of remission. If it be a trifling offence, she will probably be told that no notice will be taken of it in recommending her case to the Secretary of State, but that if she commit a second, the two will be put together, and weigh accordingly. Whatever period is at first debited against a convict, she is told that by very good conduct, she may redeem a portion of it—generally a half. To render the whole redeemable would, of course, place the erring convict in the same position with those whose conduct in the Prison has been irreproachable. A minute daily record of conduct and industry, with other particulars as to each convict, is preserved in such a manner that it can be posted up in a general statement as the term for making the recommendation approaches. The consciousness that every particular is registered, and especially that a portion of the remission which is recorded as lost, may yet be recovered by good behaviour, has a powerful influence over the conduct of the convicts. Without professing to judge of the influence of the system on the suppression of crime, we are enabled to state that it is one well adapted for the preservation of order, and the promotion of good conduct in the Prison.

Reconvicted License-Holder.

When a convict is a reconvicted license holder—that is to say, when she is sentenced to penal servitude before the expiry of her previous sentence, and while at large as a license holder—she forfeits the stated period of remission in the Secretary of State's scale, and you were pleased to intimate that you would consider special recommendations for remission in such cases, and decide on them in a view of all the circumstances connected with each.

Condition of Premises.

There have been no structural alterations in the Prison or the buildings connected with it, during the year, more material than the removal of a pump-house which had been superseded by the use of steam, and the employment of the materials thus obtained in some minor improvements. At the end of the year, the premises were in good condition and order. Some progress has been made under the superintendence of the Board of Works in cultivating and laying out the piece of open ground within the Prison walls, amounting to about five acres, with a view to its being employed in the manner elsewhere referred to in the occupation and airing of the convicts and the recreation of the criminal lunatics.

Proposed Improvement of the Department for Criminal Lunatics.

The most important new work in contemplation is in connexion with the Department for Criminal Lunatics. This has hitherto contained not only those who have become insane in the General Prison, or when under sentences which would be carried into effect there, but also under certain limitations, persons charged with crimes who have become insane in other Prisons. It was thus, to a certain extent, a general place of detention for criminal lunatics. It was open, under the former Acts, for those who were under sentence, as well as for the classes who, before the passing of the Lunatics' Act in 1857, were at the disposal of the Court, and have been since at the disposal of Her Majesty. It was not lawful, however, under the former Acts, nor is it under the new, to detain there a lunatic under sentence after that sentence has expired; and, as already stated, under the new Act an untried lunatic cannot be there detained.

The late General Board on several occasions recorded their opinion that the Lunatic Department of the Prison was not in a satisfactory condition as a building, but they were restrained from coming to any practical conclusion in the matter by the transition state of the law both as to prisons and lunatics. The alternatives that would have presented themselves in a practical consideration of the question would have been, either the discontinuance of the department, or such improvement in its structure as would render it a suitable establishment for the Criminal Lunatics of Scotland.

The abandonment of the recently built department for juveniles, placed at your disposal a building, pronounced on competent authority to be well suited for, and easily convertible into an improved lunatic department. It is adjacent to the open ground already referred to, which slopes to the Tay, and affords a view of the surrounding country. While thus within the walls of the Prison, and participating in its means of safe custody, the department would possess the character of a separate asylum designed for curative and alleviative purposes. As this arrangement would considerably enlarge the lunatic department of the Prison, it would adapt itself for any change in the law which might enable criminal lunatics to be detained there after the expiry of their sentences.

The separate erection of so suitable an asylum for criminal lunatics would be very costly, while the Assistant Surveyor of Her Majesty's Board of Works has calculated that the necessary alterations here referred to can be executed for £950—a sum which has accordingly been included in the estimates transmitted to you.

Disposal of existing Lunatic Department.

If, in conformity with these views, the existing lunatic department be abolished, it will afford accommodation for storage—now much needed—and would, at the same time, facilitate the carrying out of a resolution by the late General Board, for the erection of a tenement to contain apartments for male warders.

New Offices.

The only other considerable change in contemplation is the erection of new offices for the Governor, the Steward, and the Clerks. The great amount of sickness which has appeared in the establishment, and the results of investigations into the structure and condition of the existing offices, convinced us, that from their connexion with the foul air extracting shaft, they were liable to invasions of foul air, and the evil seemed so pressing that we have fitted up temporary offices in the vacated juvenile department.

Deaths of Officers.

We regret to have to mention the loss of two valuable officers during the year by death—Mr. William M'Donald, the steward, and Mr. Alexander Stuart, the chief clerk. Mr. Alexander Ross, who succeeded Mr. Stuart, was obliged, from failing health, to retire from duty, on leave of absence granted by you, and was, towards the end of the year, certified to be so unlikely ever to return to duty as to render it necessary to consider his office vacant.

Monthly Visits of Inspection. Sect. 61.

It is provided by the Statute, that 'one or more of the Managers shall 'once at least in every month see and communicate with each prisoner, shall 'examine the books, accounts, and documents kept in the Prison, shall inspect 'the Prison premises and stores, shall examine into the conduct of the several 'officers, shall investigate all complaints and alleged or apparent abuses, or 'deviations from the rules, shall inquire into the cause and nature of every 'punishment that has been administered, shall ascertain how far the health, 'education, and industrial training of the prisoners are in a satisfactory con-'dition, and shall make a report in writing, under these heads, which shall be 'laid before and specially considered by the Managers.'

This provision was carried into full effect throughout the year, written reports of each visit having been brought under the notice of and considered by the Managers.

MISCELLANEOUS FUNCTIONS.

In the statutory directions for the preparation of our Annual Report already referred to, we are required to furnish, either in the Report itself, or in the Appendix thereto, 'such information and statistics regarding Prisons in 'Scotland' as the Secretary of State may require. To facilitate compliance with this provision, it is also enacted as follows :—

Proceedings under sect. 57, for collecting, arranging, and reporting Prison Statistics.

'Whereas it is expedient that the statistics regarding Prisons and 'prisoners in Scotland should continue, as heretofore, to be collected and 'digested, and laid before Parliament in a tabular form ; The clerks of the 'several County Boards shall, and they are hereby required to transmit to 'the Managers such returns as one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of 'State shall from time to time direct, applicable to the amount of Prison ac-'commodation in the county, the number of prisoners, their ages, sentences, 'educational condition, health, conduct, casualties, Prison punishments, the 'receipts and expenditure connected with the several Prisons, the observance 'of the rules, and other similar matters.'

Secretary Sir George Cornewall Lewis was pleased to favour us with a copy of a letter addressed by him to each County Board, communicating to them the method in which he desired them to give effect to these provisions. We print the letter in the Appendix. Under these arrangements, we have received from the officers of the several County Boards the statistical information referred to, with an accuracy and punctuality which has rendered it unnecessary for us to complain to you of any failure to comply with the provisions of the Act, and the directions of the Secretary of State. Besides the main body of the statistics digested in the Appendix, we also received, in terms of the letter above referred to, the quarterly reports of the chief officers of Prisons, and the quarterly returns of Prison statistics, which, though they are not embodied in the Appendix to our Report, are very serviceable in enabling us to test the accuracy of the returns which are there embodied, and otherwise supply us with the necessary information for the preparation of our Report, and carrying out your instructions.

App. No. III.

Returns received from Officers of County Boards.

The schedules for the returns so embodied were revised and sanctioned by Sir George Cornewall Lewis before being transmitted to County Boards. His recommendation that they should communicate directly with us on all matters connected with the filling up of the schedules, has facilitated our efforts to secure accuracy in the details. These are so adjusted to balance each other, that an error in one item is liable to be detected by a discrepancy between it and some other. On the numbers entered, however, as being in each Prison at the end of the period, there is no check; and if there should be any mistake, it can only be discovered when the next year's return tells the number in Prison at the commencement of the period. The number at the end is always given correctly for the larger Prisons. In the smaller there is sometimes a mistake, by the keeper carelessly taking the wrong day. For instance, between the total number in all the Prisons, as at the end of the year, in last year's Report, and those at the beginning in the present, there is a discrepancy of 4, the numbers being 2173 and 2177. This has been caused by the keeper of the Prison of Dingwall, in his return for 1860, having entered 4 instead of 8 prisoners as in Prison at the end of the period.

Explanations regarding the contents of the Statistical Tables.

The Tables of Statistics which accompany the Annual Report on the Prisons of Scotland, having existed in their present form for upwards of 20 years, and being now likely to continue, this may be a proper opportunity for affording a few guiding explanations for their proper use, as an index to the extent of punishment and criminality in the country.

In the first place, those Tables which contain the statistics of all the Prisons, having to embrace returns from the most distant portions of the country, it was found from the commencement that they could not be brought down to the end of the year, and therefore they have all along covered the 12 months ending with the last day of June. The Tables and Reports referring separately to the General Prison, on the other hand, cover the year from 1st January to the end of December.

Reference of contents of Tables to specialties of the Prisons of Scotland.

The greater portion of the Tables in Appendix No. IV., relating to the Prisons at large, explain their own import; but it may be of use to offer some special explanations regarding the tendency of some of them, as it cannot be fully appreciated by those who have not under constant consideration when using them the peculiarities of the constitution of the Prisons of Scotland. In applying, for instance, the third Table of this Appendix, 'Number received 'during the said period,' that is, during the year ending in June, it must be kept in view that in Scotland a criminal prisoner may pass through three Prisons. He may be detained before trial in a subordinate county Prison, on conviction he may be committed to the principal Prison of the county, and he may thence be removed to the General Prison. Thus he will appear three times in the total 'number received.' That total for the year was 19,292. The Table No. 5 of this Appendix contains the numbers removed to other Prisons, making a total of 806. When deducted from the total received, this leaves 18,486. This will approximate the number of persons committed on criminal charges during the year, but will not quite reach it, as of the 'number re-'moved,' a small portion, namely, those who have been first removed from a subordinate to the chief county Prison, and thence to the General Prison, will be twice counted. In making up Table No. 14, which contains an analysis of the ages of the different prisoners committed, the object is not to show the extent to which each Prison has been occupied, but to record conditions personal to the prisoners, and therefore means are taken in the schedule which supplies this Table, to prevent any prisoners from being counted more than once, however many Prisons they may have been in. Hence, in the enumeration, those removed to other Prisons are deducted. For instance, 13 prisoners appear to have been removed from the Prison of Huntly, and are deducted from the Table of Ages in that Prison. They would be taken to the Prison of Aberdeen, and if 6 of them should be subsequently removed to the General Prison, these 6 would be deducted from the Table of Ages for the Prison of Aberdeen. The female convicts are deducted from the Table of Ages in the Local Prisons, because they go to the General Prison and swell the Table of Ages there. The male convicts, on the other hand, appear in the Table for the Local Prisons in which they are detained, because they are subsequently removed to England, and if they were not so entered, the statistics of the ages of criminals in Scotland would be deficient. The only necessary deviation from absolute accuracy in this Table will arise from the small number who, being in one Prison at the end of June, are subsequently removed to another. These are counted in the former Prison in one year's report, and the latter in the next year's; but the number is so small as not to affect the substantial accuracy of the Tables. The total number in the Table of Ages is 18,578. This is more by 92 than the number found by deducting the total removed to other Prisons from the total received in all the Prisons, and hence the number, 92, will very closely represent the number twice removed.

The Table (No. 24) of the state of instruction to prisoners received during the year, is made up on the same principle as the Table of Ages. The detailed numbers which appear in both are consequently identical. The sums total do not quite agree, because in some small Prisons, where the detention of convicted prisoners is only for a very few days, there is no teaching and no estimate made of the state of instruction. These are the Prisons of Dunse, Helensburgh, and Edinburgh Court Buildings. The number whose ages are recorded in these Prisons collectively is 872. When that number then is deducted from the total Table of Ages, it gives the total of the Table of the state of instruction, viz., 17,706.

Average daily number as a measure of extent of punishment.

The most perfect measure, however, of the extent of punishment by imprisonment at any given time in Scotland, is in Nos. 7 and 8, containing the average daily number throughout the year, and the average daily number in each of the four quarters. To find the daily average number for a year, you add together the numbers at the close of every day throughout the year, and divide the total by 365. In the case of fractional parts, as it is not expected that the officers of small Prisons, where these have most influence on the results, should be expert in decimal fractions, they are instructed to adopt the nearest unit, an arrangement which contains within itself a general principle of compensation for divergences; since if some overstate by a fraction less than ·50, others understate by such a fraction. The removals from one Prison to another, above referred to, do not affect the daily average as a whole, since the amount of time which the prisoner passes in each contributes only to the daily average of that Prison. In other words, if a prisoner has been a whole year in Prison, he will be a unit in the daily average, whether he have spent all that time in one Prison, or have passed through several.

The daily average, at the same time, affords the best measure of the extent to which punishment by imprisonment has been administered throughout the country during the year, since it contains a general measure of the pressure of all lengths of imprisonment, many short sentences having the same weight as a few of long duration. Thus, on the Table of Averages, a prisoner who has been in Prison during the whole year counts one, and twelve prisoners who have each been in Prison for one month, count also one. In this way the general pressure of crime, as represented by punishment, can be estimated and compared period against period, without entering into minute calculations about the increase of one class of punishments or the diminution of another.

Statistics as affected by detention of Female Convicts.

In all inferences drawn from the numbers from time to time contained in the Prisons of Scotland, and especially in all that may involve a comparison between the male and the female side, it is necessary to remember that since the year 1855 female convicts have been detained in Scotland, instead of being, as the males still are, removed to England. For some time it was a necessary tendency in this class of prisoners to increase in number, independently of any increase in the annual number of convictions, for the obvious reason, that as the sentences were for periods of years, each year, after the first, was burdened not only with those sentenced within itself, but with a remainder brought forward from previous years. Before this element of increase should be entirely extinguished, it would be necessary to wait for the release of the longest sentenced convict. Virtually, however, it is already ineffective, and the number of female convicts is not increasing. Of these sentences, abbreviated as they nearly all are by Secretary of State's remissions, the great bulk expires within five years. The influence, indeed, of the few very long sentences seems to be more than balanced by an element of decrease arising in a reduction of the numbers sentenced. The sentences of female convicts recorded by the General Board for the year 1855 amounted to 102, next year they amounted to 75, in 1857 to 69, and in 1858 to 76. Supposing all these to be released exactly at the end of five years, the number in confinement in 1861 would be 27 less than in the previous year. In fact, at the beginning of the year 1861, the number was 306, and at the conclusion it was 291. It may therefore be held that they do not now increase, but remain at, in round numbers, 300.*

* It will be seen that the Statistical Tables are precisely in the form and sequence adopted by the General Board, with this exception, that such of the Tables, to the numbers in which a small portion only of the Prisons contribute, are abbreviated by being limited to the Prisons named in them. The opportunity has been taken of giving those who examine the statistics of Prisons in Scotland the means of correcting some errors in the Tables already issued.

The following Table contains the information which the General Board were in use to embody in the same form in their Annual Report. In comparing it with the contents of the Appendix, it will be kept in view that the Table refers to each year as completed on the 31st of December.

The late General Board from time to time drew attention to the annual decrease in the average daily numbers of prisoners in Scotland, from the year 1849, when it was 3143, to the year 1858, when it was 2114. Next year showed a reaction, the number being 2191; but we had the satisfaction, in supplementing the General Board's concluding Report, to show that the decrease had resumed, the total number for 1860 being 2101. The decrease would appear, when the figures for the whole year are taken, to be still in progress, the number for 1861 being 2083. It appears, however, on examining the quarterly returns, that the small apparent decrease in the whole year has been caused by a large decrease at the commencement, partly counteracted by an increase in autumn. The average for the March quarter was so low as 1938, being 161 under that of the corresponding quarter for the previous year, which was 2099. The average for the June quarter was 2076, being 57 less than that of the corresponding quarter of the previous year, which was 2133. The return for the September quarter, on the other hand, shows 2177, being an increase of 7 on the corresponding quarter of 1860, which was 2170; and the December return gives 2140, being an increase of 121 on the corresponding quarter of 1860, which was 2019. Hence it appears that there was a great decrease of the number of prisoners in the earlier part of the year 1861, and that they have increased during the later half of the year, so as to exceed the number during the same part of the previous year. In estimating the influence of these numbers, it must be remembered that they do not include Juvenile Offenders detained in Reformatories.

Calendars of Prisoners.

Sir George Cornewall Lewis was pleased to direct that, under section 57 of the Act, we should obtain and transmit to the Home Office returns resembling, as nearly as the difference in the practice of the two countries permits, the calendars of Prisons, which are prepared by the officers of Prisons in England. These were readily furnished to us by the Governors of the various Prisons, and a copy has, from time to time, been transmitted to the Home Office, where it will provide a record of the judicial proceedings in all those prosecutions which, unless the prisoner plead guilty, must be tried by a jury.

The late General Board were in the practice of communicating to you the result of inquiries made by them, under their statutory powers, into all acts of suicide committed in Local Prisons. Notice of any such event is required by the Act of 1860 to be made to the Crown Agent, and as he is one of the Managers, we have thus been enabled to communicate each case to you, so as to enable you to institute such proceedings as you might think proper. Under this arrangement, we intimated to you the following acts of suicide during the year :— Suicides in Local Prisons.

29th March—An untried male prisoner in the Prison of Glasgow.
15th May—A convicted male prisoner in the Prison of Glasgow.

By your direction, special returns as to suicides have been added to the Tables of Statistics filled up by the Clerks of County Boards. The information thus obtained, being for the year ended in June, appears in the Appendix. App. IV. No. 29.

What we have stated as to the procedure regarding the intimation of suicides, applies to escapes from County Prisons. Of these we intimated to you the following during the year :— Escapes from Local Prison.

9th February—A male prisoner from the Prison of Linlithgow. App. IV. No 28.
3d September—A convicted male prisoner from the Prison of Alloa.

Under the previous Acts the Prison assessment or tax was divided between the landward or rural, and the burghal districts in each county, by the General Board, who had thus in their own hands materials for appending to their Annual Reports a Table of the whole assessments for the counties, and of their apportionment between the rural and burghal districts. By the new Act this division is made for each county by the Clerk of the County Board. The criterion of division has, at the same time, been materially altered, for under the former Acts it was apportioned according to the amount of population in the several districts, and is now, in terms of section 36, assessed according to the value of lands and heritages, as appearing in the valuation rolls. Considering it of importance that this class of statistics should continue to be published, you were pleased to direct us to require the necessary returns from County Boards, in terms of section 57 of the Act; and a Table made up from these returns is accordingly appended. Table of Assessments for Prison purposes, and their apportionment.

The Act provides that we shall report all new rules, or alterations of rules, for Prisons in Scotland, made by the Secretary of State. The only changes of this description, so far as we are aware, made during the year, are embodied in the 'Rules for the adjustment of the Staff of the General Prison 'of Perth,' printed in the Appendix. Rules for Prisons. App. No. XIX.

We are also required to report any orders issued by the Secretary of State constituting a new Prison, or altering the classes of Prisoners for which a Prison is legal. There is no established channel by which intimation of such an order ought to reach us, but the other information which we receive gives us the means of ascertaining whether any such order has been issued, and enables us to say that no alteration has been made on the constitution of the Local Prisons during the year. We therefore append unaltered the list of the Prisons of Scotland and of their purposes, issued with the Twenty-Second Report of the Proceedings of the General Board. App. No. I.

Among the Statistics which you directed us to procure in relation to Local Prisons, was a return showing how far, and with what results, the inspection of each Prison by Members of the County Board, in terms of Rule 6, had been carried into effect. Returns in the same form were procured by the late General Board, to whom they supplied information for enabling them to exercise their statutory powers of control over the management of Local Prisons. These powers having been transferred to you, we append, for your information, a digest of the Returns relative to inspection. Returns of Inspection of Local Prisons by County Boards. App. No. V.

The Act, after making provision that all removals of prisoners from one County Prison to another, shall be carried out by County Boards, enacts thus—

'Save as herein excepted, all removals of prisoners from one Prison in 'Scotland to another Prison in Scotland, and all removals of convicts sen- 'tenced to transportation or to penal servitude from any Prison in Scotland to 'any one of Her Majesty's Prisons or Penitentiaries in England, in virtue of 'warrants granted by one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State 'under the provisions of the Statutes to that effect, shall be carried out by or 'under the direction of the Managers, who may issue regulations or instruc- Sect 67. Carrying out the provisions of the Act for Removals of Prisoners.

'tions for carrying out such removals, and fix from time to time the remu'neration and allowances to be paid to the persons employed therein; and
'such regulations and instructions shall, so far as the same are not inconsistent
'with the existing laws or statutes, be binding on the persons to whom any 'such warrants, by order of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, are 'addressed, and all other persons employed in carrying into effect such re-
'movals of prisoners.'

The late General Board had taken several steps for simplifying and economizing this service, but there were some elements of complexity which it was not in their power to remove, as, for instance, in the circumstance that while the funds voted for the removal of prisoners sentenced to imprisonment were included in the expenses of the General Prison, and the accounts of the outlay rendered to the Board of Audit, the funds voted for the removal of convicts were included in the expenses of the Board, and the accounts of the outlay rendered to the Remembrancer in Exchequer. The new enactment has enabled the Managers to conduct the service in a uniform and satisfactory manner. Under the directions contained in the above clause, we prepared and communicated to the Governors of the several Prisons 'Regulations 'for the Removal of Prisoners,' and transmitted to them, a scale of allowances to those employed in the service, which met with the approval of the Secretary of State. The Act and the Regulations leave it open to us to employ in the service either the officers of the Local Prisons or those of the General Prison. In the removal of prisoners sentenced to imprisonment, we have only employed the officers of the Local Prisons in those instances where the County Boards expressed a desire that they might be so employed. In the removal of convicts under your warrants, it was necessary that, in terms of Statute, the instructions should be directed to the Governor of the Prison to whom your warrant is addressed.

5 Geo. IV. c. 84.

Of the particulars of the removal of convicts, and the expense of each removal, a Tabular Statement will be found in the Appendix.

App. No. XXV.

We are required by the Act to report to you an abstract of our whole receipts and expenditure within the year, classifying the separate articles thereof. A considerable proportion of the funds passing through our hands had to be returned to County Boards; and as this is a branch of expenditure special to the past year, which will not again appear in our Reports, we have disposed of it before entering on the narrative of our ordinary proceedings.

Receipts and Expenditure.

Of the sums voted for the several branches of expenditure connected with the General Prison, certain balances came into our hands. Referring to the more detailed statement in the Appendix, we account for them as follows:—

App. No. XXVI.

1. Current Expenses of the General Prison.

Charge. Received from General Board of Prisons.	Discharge. Paid to Governor of General Prison.
£3,425 15 8	£3,425 15 8

Bank interest thereon, .	16 13 10	Balance in Bank at credit of Managers, .	367 3 7
	£368 16 7		£368 16 7

By a Treasury minute of date 20th February 1861, communicated to us by the Secretary of State, we were instructed that the amount required to meet the current expenses of the General Prison would be advanced by monthly imprests in favour of the Governor, granted on our certificate. The sums necessary for works and repairs are to be advanced to him from time to time in the same manner. Thus, with the exception of the balance on special works still to be accounted for, the monies so applied do not pass through our hands, but are received by the Governor of the General Prison, who finds security for their proper expenditure, and the faithful performance of his duties. The accounts of receipt and expenditure of these funds are among the documents relative to the General Prison in the Appendix.

App. No. VII.

The only monies which are received and expended by us, are those advanced for the current expenses of our establishment, and for the removal of convicts and other prisoners.

For these we account as follows :—

We regret that we were deprived, during the latter portion of the year, by bad health, of the assistance of Sir John Kincaid, our colleague ex-officio, as Inspector of Prisons. He gave material aid at the commencement of the year in adjusting the arrangements under the new Act; but when he found, after more than fifty years of active service, that his health would not enable him to perform to his own satisfaction his various duties, he resolved to resign his office.

We have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your very obedient Servants,

EDWARD S. GORDON.

No. III.—Copy LETTER addressed by the Secretary of State to the County Prison Boards in Scotland.

WHITEHALL, 21*st December* 1860.

GENTLEMEN,—You are no doubt aware that an Act 'To provide for the Management of the General Prison at Perth, and for the Administration of Local Prisons in Scotland' (23 & 24 Vict. cap. 105), comes in force on 1st January next, and from that day supersedes the existing Statutes relating to Prisons in Scotland.

By that Act the General Board of Directors of Prisons comes to an end, and certain functions are vested in one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, which must be exercised by Her Majesty's principal Secretary for the Home Department.

A portion of these functions is directly set forth in the Act; but others are contained in the 'Rules for Prisons in Scotland,' under the clause of the Act (Sect. 17) which provides that when the words 'General Board' are used in such Rules, the words 'One of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State' shall be substituted therefor.

With the practical interpretation of the Rules you must already be familiar, and for the performance of the duties required of you by the Statute you will derive the best information from the provisions of the Statute itself, which, so far as they are imperative, must be carried into effect.

Your attention is requested to the following directions, relating to certain routine duties, as to which by the Statute and the Rules the Secretary of State is vested with discretionary power.

I shall not, in the meantime, require, under Rule 14, a return of every appointment of an officer in a Local Prison. Hereafter, if it should be proper at any time to lay before Parliament a statement of the numbers, salaries, and functions of the officers of the several Prisons, such a return may be obtained under Sect. 57 of the Statute, as it has heretofore been at intervals obtained by the General Board.

The returns under Section 57 will supersede those called for by Rule 8. The Managers will, by my direction, transmit to you the Schedules to be filled up in terms of that Section. While on this, as well as on other matters, I shall always be ready to attend to such communications as County Boards may consider sufficiently important to be specially referred to me, I think they will find it less troublesome and more conducive to the public service on all matters connected with the filling up of the Schedules to correspond directly with the Managers; and I trust that County Boards will co-operate harmoniously with these gentlemen in rendering the statistics of Prisons in Scotland accurate and complete.

Under the clause last referred to, you will continue to transmit copies of the Quarterly Reports of the chief officers of Prisons to the Managers, in the manner in which they have been heretofore transmitted to the General Board.

Inconvenience having been felt in the Home Office from the want of a Record for Scotland, equivalent to that supplied by the Calendars of Prisoners returned by the jailers in England, I propose to direct the Managers to furnish you with the proper Schedules and instructions for enabling you to cause similar returns to be made by the Governors of Prisons in Scotland.

In reference to the Registers to be kept in terms of Rule 117, and to other duties which are required by the Rules to be done in the manner directed by, or in the manner approved of by, the General Board, you are to understand that, in the meantime, the existing instructions of the Board are approved of by me, and are to remain in force until they are revoked or superseded.—I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant, (Signed) G. C. LEWIS.

GENERAL PRISON.

No. VI.—Report by the Governor of the General Prison at Perth for the Year 1861; with Tables of Expenditure and State of Accounts.

General Prison, Perth, 8th January 1862.

Gentlemen,

I have the honour to transmit to you my Annual Report for the year 1861.

I have every reason to be satisfied with the manner in which the Officers of the Prison have conducted themselves during the year—one male and six female Officers resigned, and no dismissals have occurred within the period.

Several changes have taken place in the Staff since my last Report. On the 16th April, Mr. Alexander Stuart, chief clerk of the Prison, and on the 8th May, Mr. William M'Donald, steward of the Prison, died. On the 1st June, Mr. Alexander Ross and Mr. John Baird were promoted—the former to be Chief Clerk, the latter Second Clerk, in the Governor's Office. Same date, Mr. Samuel Brownsmith was promoted from Second to First Clerk in the Steward's department, vice Baird. On the 29th July, Mr. Charles Shedden commenced duties as Second Clerk in the Steward's department, vice Brownsmith. On the 9th August, Mr. Peter Cruickshank commenced the duties of Steward of the Prison, vice M'Donald.

On the 5th March, one cell was transferred from the Male, and on the 26th March, one cell from the Female Imprisonment, to that of the Lunatic Department.

The accommodation of the Main Prison at the close of the year was 724, viz., for imprisonment prisoners, 245 cells for males, and 129 for females, and 350 cells with four work-rooms for females under sentence to transportation or penal servitude.

Hospitals for the sick of both sexes are in the Main Prison, as also accommodation for female Imbeciles, Epileptics, and Nursing Mothers.

The class Juveniles are accommodated in the Main Prison, the same as explained in my last Report.

The accommodation in the Branch Prisons is as follows:—In Imbecile Prison, 14; in Epileptic Prison, 12; and in the Lunatic Department, 33 for males and 13 for females.

The following Table shows the number received during the year 1861, including the number in custody at the commencement of the year, and the number liberated or removed, and the number remaining in custody at the close of the return:—

	Prisoners Sentenced				Insane.		Total.

Remaining in custody at close of 1861,	219	138	...	288	18	11	674

The average daily number of prisoners in the Main Prison during the year has been 601, viz., 197 males and 113 females under sentence to imprisonment, and 291 females under sentence to transportation or penal servitude. The average daily number confined in the Branch Prisons, during the same period, has been 6 Imbeciles, 2 Epileptics, and 28 Lunatics—of whom 17 were males, and 11 females.

The average daily number of Juveniles during the year was 3 males.

The total average daily number of prisoners in the whole Prison during the year was 637, viz., 222 males and 415 females.

The daily average duration of exercise throughout the year was 90 minutes to male Juveniles, 98 minutes to female Convicts, and 62 minutes to other Adults.

The general conduct of the prisoners has been very good during the year.

The number of punishments inflicted was 207, viz., 69 males and 138 females; and the number of prisoners punished was 126, viz., 37 males and 89 females—leaving 400 males and 536 females who were not punished. Of those who were punished, the general conduct of 5 males and 19 females was good, 10 males and 39 females indifferent, and 22 males and 34 females bad.

Of 198 male and 93 female Imprisonment prisoners liberated during the year, 114 males and 69 females received gratuities for good conduct, in terms of the 89th Rule for Prisons.

Ninety females under sentence to transportation or penal servitude were liberated by expiration or remission of sentence during the year, and the good conduct money due to them was paid as explained in my Annual Report for 1859, and in conformity with the Regulations of the late General Board. In very few cases have the Convicts failed to apply at the periods fixed by the Regulations for the balance of their good conduct money.

The education of the prisoners has been conducted as formerly under the superintendence of the Chaplain, and I believe the Teachers have performed their duties faithfully.

Of 196 males and 182 females liberated during the year, it appears from the information received by the Chaplain, Matron, and myself, that 100 males and 28 females obtained employment shortly after liberation, 10 females were sent to the Houses of Refuge, and 77 females left this with the view of proceeding to their homes, where they had friends willing to receive them.

In January the pipes connected with one of the heating apparatus of Wing L., as explained in my last Report, were completed. Otherwise the heating and ventilating of the Prison has been satisfactory during the year.

In November a building was erected containing a straw-shed, tool-house, and two other small rooms, which have been found very useful.

The Inspector of Weights and Measures for the county inspected and adjusted the weights and measures in use in the Prison as formerly.

The supplies for the use of the Prison were, as far as practicable, provided by public contract, and articles of any consequence, for which no contract had been entered into, were provided by estimate.

The chief kinds of work carried on in the Prison have been matmaking, shirtmaking, shoemaking, tailoring, weaving, carpentry, and hair, wool, and oakum teasing.

A full supply of work has been obtained for the Prison during the year.

With the exception of prisoners sentenced to Hard Labour, all were employed when practicable at their own trades, and a considerable proportion of them were taught trades in the Prison which might be useful to them on liberation.

The following Table shows the different trades at which the prisoners admitted and liberated or removed in 1861 have been employed; the number who were good tradesmen on admission; the number who had a slight knowledge of a trade on admission, and who improved therein; and the number who were and are presently being taught trades in the Prison:—

From the view of the outlay connected with prisoners' labour, and the returns therefrom for the year ended 31st December 1861, appended hereto, it appears that the clear profit during the year from the labour of prisoners was £2188, 9s. 1^{10}d. sterling, or, exclusive of insane, an average of £3, 11s. 10^{5}d. per prisoner.

The classified Table, appended hereto, of the expenditure of the Prison during the year 1861, exclusive of the expenditure on the labour account, shows that the total cost of each prisoner in that year (exclusive of the expense of transmitting prisoners to and from the Prison) was £23, 15s. 2^{9}d.; and after deducting the profits arising from the labour of prisoners, the nett cost per prisoner was £20, 6s. 6^{4}d.

I have the honour to be, Gentlemen, your most obedient humble Servant,

JA. STUART, Governor.

Report by the Rev. William Brown, Chaplain of the General Prison at Perth, for the Year 1861.

General Prison, Perth, 6th January 1862.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit, through you, to the Managers of the General Prison, this, my Seventeenth Annual Report—a summary of transactions in the Chaplain's department during the year 1861; the rules and regulations applicable to my duties having been anxiously and truthfully carried out.

The number of Prisoners—Male and Female, Adult and Juvenile, also the age of the oldest and youngest—admitted and re-admitted, in the course of the year, stands thus:—

	Males.			Females.			Total.			Age of Oldest.		Age of Youngest

Taking nothing for granted, I deem it my duty statedly to examine, in the presence of their respective Teachers, the Prisoners individually as to their relative attainments. The Educational Tables, in the preparation of which the utmost care is bestowed, give, I am disposed to think, a satisfactory view of their progress. The female convicts in association, however, I cannot but observe, show less aptitude for secular instruction and mental culture than those subject to separate confinement. The non-improvement of the 17 Prisoners, who are unable to read, is attributable to causes which it is not in our power to obviate. Of these, 1 is dumb, 2 are blind, 7 insane, and 7 of defective intellect.

In a pastoral capacity I do what I humbly can, subject to and dependent on a Power superior to that of man, in furtherance of the good object, "the spiritual and moral improvement of the Prisoners," the reformation of the fallen creatures committed to our charge.

Bearing in mind the evil propensities of our nature, our liabilities to err, the innumerable temptations to which we, in "a world lying in wickedness," are ever and anon exposed; the fact that they, the objects of our care are not "sinners above all" the delinquents of mankind, not a few, doubtless, having been more sinned against than sinning, we cannot, we would not, we dare not but commiserate, sympathize indeed somewhat at least with our brothers and our sisters, our "kinsmen according to the flesh," in their untoward, their legally and morally branded position.

The nondescript culture of our inmates in the main,—the scheme cunningly devised, the process initiatory, in gradation now and then intercepted, matured, competitive even as to the ways and means of accomplishing unjust ends,—the betaking of themselves in pursuit of happiness ephemeral, an illusion, to "refuges of lies," is such as to require on our part tact, care, and watchfulness, in rightly dividing among them "the Word of Truth," to which they, alas! have more or less, if not entirely, been strangers, regardless alike of the laws of God and man.

Religious denomination—in many cases, I fear, merely nominal and stated suitably to convenience—makes no distinction in my mode of treatment; liberty of conscience as to creeds being fully accorded to every one—in no way interfered with. Scriptural statutes, Divine edicts, the Bible entire, is my special province and bounden duty to offer and recommend to the prayerful consideration of the prisoners for their guidance now and hereafter; and all things considered, I am gratified in being able to state that they give wonderful heed to the counsels and warnings daily and statedly administered to them, as classified in the cell, the school-rooms, and the chapel—one only, and that one only at times, declining to take advantage of the religious instruction beneficently provided for our inmates. Their privileges are great; our aids are ample; the issue is with the Omniscient Jehovah, the Author and Finisher of our faith, who alone can open the heart for the reception and belief of His Word.

The sick in the hospitals, and the closely confined in punishment cells for Prison offences, are not neglected in my daily ministrations.

I continue to give extra attention in the school-room to the Male Juveniles' Association Class, which was organized on the 30th of November 1847. I also meet with the boys in the Chapel for devotional exercises daily at eight or half-past eight o'clock in the morning, according to the season of the year. The female convicts are also assembled in chapel daily for morning service. The Psalmody on both occasions is conducted by one or more of themselves in a way striking and solemnizing.

Nothing can exceed the propriety of demeanour manifested towards myself by the prisoners, male and female, in the circle of my duties.

In the management of the Library much care is taken that the periodical supplies of books, religious and secular, be ample and various.

The number of prisoners discharged, during the past year, was 388, viz., 200 males and 188 females, including 2 males and 6 females by death.

The following Table gives a comparative view of their educational state, as on admission and at departure, with their ages and sentences :—

Two of the males were well-educated on admission.

Of the liberated male prisoners, 71 are entered in my Register as expected to do well, and 100 as having obtained employment. Of those released prior to 1861, I also ascertained that 21 had, in addition to the number already reported on, got work.

Of the discharged females, 19 are marked by the Matron as hopeful; 28 got employment; 10 were admitted into Houses of Refuge; and 77 were received by their friends.

During the past year, my visits to discharged prisoners and their relatives, and my correspondence with them, as well as with the friends of those about to be liberated, have, in not a few instances, been followed by gratifying results.

It may not, I humbly trust, be altogether out of my province to remark, that I was glad of the return amongst us, after seven years' absence, of the Governor of the Prison of Dundee—Mr. Peter Cruickshank—an anxious, an accurate, a most faithful public servant, who took his place on the 9th of August last, as Steward of this establishment.

I have the honour to remain, Sir, your most obedient Servant,

WILLIAM BROWN, Chaplain.

No. IX.

Report by J. B. Thomson, Resident Surgeon to the General Prison at Perth, for the year ending 31st December 1861.

General Prison, Perth, 28th January 1862.

Gentlemen—I have the honour of submitting to you my Annual Medical Report for the year 1861, as to the health, bodily and mental, of the prisoners in the General Prison for Scotland; and, for the sake of statistical arrangement, I shall place my information, as formerly, under the following heads:—

I. Of the General Health, Sickness, and Deaths of Prisoners.
II. Of the Mental Condition of Prisoners not in the Lunatic Department.
III. Of the Department for Criminal Lunatics.

General Health.

I. The general health and physical condition of the prisoners throughout the year has been very good.

The number of prisoners placed on the Register of Sickness has been below the average annual amount.

Kinds of Illness. Causes of Diseases.

The chief kinds of illness have been as usual of a chronic character, and the causes can be traced generally to the hereditary taints, depraved habits, and frequent imprisonments of the criminal population.

Epidemics.

The only epidemic diseases which have appeared were of little significance, viz.:—a mild case of Measles and of Typhoid Fever, the particulars of which two cases were as follow:—97/20, E. C. or M., an imprisonment prisoner, was admitted from Aberdeen on the 3d April 1861, and on the 22d of the same month was seized with Measles. She was at once isolated, under the care of a hired nurse, in a cell apart from the occupied cells of the Prison. She recovered well, and the disease did not extend. This patient probably imported the epidemic from Aberdeen, where she says her children lay under it at the time of her being sent to prison. The other case was that of 70/20, C. L. or M'L., an imprisonment prisoner in the Lunatic department, attacked with fever of a mild type on the 16th October 1861. The patient was convalescent in about three weeks. The same precautions were adopted, as in the former case, to prevent infection or contagion, and no other fever case ensued. The fact, that within the walls of this Prison we have only had in the course of the year these two mild cases of epidemic disease is remarkable, when I add that zymotics have been very frequent and fatal in this locality. The exemption uniformly of the General Prison from this class of diseases, while the adjacent city of Perth suffers severely from them, is perhaps the best proof that can be offered of the hygienic and sanatory condition under which the prisoners are placed.

Ventilation, &c. Dietary, &c.

The ventilation and temperature of the Prison are satisfactory, and the dietary of the prisoners seems adequate to maintaining among them generally a healthy bodily condition.

The following table shows the number and class of prisoners who have been put on the Register of Sickness during 1861:—

Table of the Sick.

	Sentenced to Imprisonment.		Convicts.	Total.
	M.	F.	F.
On Register at commencement of 1861,	3	...	7	10
Put on during the year, . . .	25	16	42	83
Total during the year, . .	28	16	49	93
Of whom removed, ...	26	14	41	81
Leaving at 31st December 1861, .	2	2	8	12

Of these there were:—

Slightly ill, . .	33.	Contracted before admission,	40.
Seriously ill, ...	50.	Do. after do.,	43.
	83.		83.

Child-bed Cases.

The number of child-bed cases was 8; of these, two of the children were still-born, probably from syphilitic taints. Deducting these child-bed cases and two patients debilitated by old age, the number remaining on Sick Register was 73.

Deaths in 1861.

The number and class of prisoners who died in 1861 were as under:—

	Sentenced to Imprisonment.		Convicts.	Total.
	M.	F.	F.
Deaths in 1861,	2	1	5	8

The sum of deaths is very considerably below the annual mean for several years, and only half of the mortality of last year.

Causes of Death.

The causes of death were :—

Scrofula,	1	Decay from Insanity	1
Phthisis,	1	Heart Disease,	1
Paralysis,	1	Ascites	1
Brain Disease,	1	Cancer Uteri	1

These diseases and their predisposing causes are almost all due to vitiated systems and criminal habits; and are not in any case the result of prison discipline. One of the cases was a sudden death :—346/15, E. R. or S., a female convict, admitted 18th October 1856, fell down in the court-yard and died in a few minutes. A post mortem inspection, made by authority of the Sheriff of Perthshire, showed the cause of death to be fatty degeneration of the heart.

Liberated on Medical Grounds.

There was only one prisoner during the year liberated on medical grounds, viz. : 271/19, D. G., aged 20, an imprisonment prisoner, who was, on the 16th May 1861, certified to be in danger of life from further imprisonment. His disease was vomiting of blood, accompanied by great mental depression.

General Health, etc., of Female Convicts.

While treating of the general health of prisoners, I am desirous of tabulating our experience of how far the physical and mental condition of those suffering under long sentences can be maintained. We have now in the General Prison all female convicts sentenced to transportation and penal servitude, and the problem is being solved, to what extent imprisonment can be borne by this class without injury from the discipline of the Prison. Of this class 600 have been admitted from October 1855, until the 31st December 1861 ; and the disposal of these is shown in the following Table :—

RETURN of the Number of Female Convicts received in each year from October 1855 to December 1861, showing the term of their sentences, the number and grounds of liberations, the number who have died and of those remaining in custody, the number respectively in Main Prison, or under treatment for sickness or mental diseases, as at 31st December 1861.

| Year of Admission. | No. admitted and sentenced to Transportation or Penal Servitude. No. of Years. 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 10 | 12 | 14 | 15 | 21 | Life | Total. | Grounds of Liberations. No. of Years sentenced to Transportation or Penal Servitude. Expiration of Sentence. 4 | 5 | 6 | Remission. 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 14 | 15 | Commutation of Sentence. 14 | On Medical Grounds. 4 | 6 | Died. 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 10 | 14 | 15 | Life | Total. | Remaining in Custody, 31st December 1861. No. of Years sentenced to Transportation or Penal Servitude. In Main Prison. 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 10 | 12 | 15 | 21 | Life | In Department for Sick. 4 | 10 | 15 | 21 | Imbecile. 4 | 8 | Life | Epileptic. 4 | 6 | Lunatic. 8 | 15 | Total. | victs who became insane would be 6 + 2 = 8. Referring to the history of these insane, I find that three of them had been convicts formerly, one in the General Prison for Scotland, and two in English Prisons; so that it is probable that their long confinements and criminal habits may have had something to do as causes of insanity.

Of these 600 female convicts, I am still further to show, what numbers came under treatment on account of their mental condition; but not in the Lunatic Department. These I have classified according to their different mental conditions:—

(a) There were associated, as unfit for separation, Imbecile and Suicidal,	37
Epileptic, ...	5
(b) There were separate, but under special observation, as Weak-minded and Suicidal, ...	65
Total, ...	107

Those in separation were in a lesser degree weak-minded, and among the suicidals were no doubt several, who, for the purpose of being associated, threatened or attempted self-destruction. A leading feature among female convicts is a want of self-control; and under a fit of rage they rush into acts of violence against themselves, as well as others, for which they are often placed under special observation; for even when there is no suicidal premeditation, a sudden fit of rage may lead to a suicidal attempt which may be fatal.

Gain or Loss of Weight by Female Convicts.

To this résumé of the bodily and mental condition of our female convicts, I have to add Tables showing their weights, maintained, gained, or lost after admission.

The first Table gives the weights of all in this Prison, at the last general weighing, on 20th September 1861. There were at that time 271 female convicts here; and deducting 6 who were in hospital, we had 265 whose weights were as under:—

Number weighed.	Stationary in weight.	Gaining.	Losing.	Percentage. Maintaining or gaining weight.
265	11	176	78	70

The amount gained by those gaining, was	1847 lbs.
The amount lost by those losing, was	724 lbs.
Total Gains, . . .	1123 lbs.

Next Table gives the weights of all female convicts who have been liberated by remission, or by expiry of sentences, excluding the sick:—

	Numbers.	Stationary.	Gaining.	Losing.	Percentage. Maintaining or gaining weight.
Liberated up to 31st December 1860, excluding Sick, . .	180	14	93	73
Liberated up to 31st December 1861, excluding Sick, . .	90	4	51	35
	270	18	144	108	60

It appears that Prisoners generally increase in weight during the first year; but fall off a few months before liberation, probably from anxiety of mind.

Percentage of Deaths during the period 1852-61.

In the next Table I give the total Prison population, the daily average population, with the number and percentages of Deaths during the decennial period 1852-61, inclusive :—

1860	1074	675	16
1861	1065	637	8
	10,016	5,652	100	1·7

* See Table No. XII. as to Epileptics and others mentally affected.

Out of a total Prison population, numbering 10,016, and with a daily average population making a total of 5,652, we have during the last ten years had 100 deaths, or 1·7 per cent.

But we must take into calculation those who in these ten years were liberated on medical grounds, viz. :—

	1852	1853	1854	1855	1856	1857	1858	1859	1860	1861	Total.
Liberated on Medical Grounds,	7	4	3	0	0	1	4	1	2	1	23

If we add one-third of these liberations for probable deaths, we shall have 100 + 7 = 107, and this will give us the annual death-rate 1·8 per cent.

At the same time it must be remembered that a large proportion of the deaths might fairly be deducted for those who were admitted "worn out" in body and mind, and in the last stages of Phthisis and Scrofula.

I am enabled to give in the next Table all the deaths, and the fatal diseases or causes of death, which have taken place in this Prison, from its first opening in March 1842 till 31st December 1861, inclusive :— Deaths and causes of Death in the Prison from its opening in 1842 to 31st December 1861.

II. Of the mental condition of Prisoners not in the Lunatic Department.

A Table is given, No. XII., containing particulars of all prisoners placed by the authority of the surgeon in association, as better suited for their mental condition than separation, with the reasons for association, annexed to which are remarks pointing out the peculiarities of each case. The number of this associated class was 32, whose mental conditions were :— Number associated for Mental Condition.

Mental Conditions

Weak-minded and Suicidal in Separation.

There is another class of prisoners weak-minded and suicidal whose cases are of a less grave nature, and are still in separation, but under special observation. These, at 31st December 1861, numbered :—

Weak-minded, ...	18
Weak-minded and Suicidal, . . .	32
	50

This is above the average number of this class, and among them there are, no doubt, several who have feigned mental affections for various purposes, and especially for association.

The number of suicidal is considerable; and I shall examine those reported in 1861, with the view of showing whether their cases were probably real or feigned—a question often very difficult to determine.

Of those placed in association as being imbecile and suicidal, 8 were in these mental conditions on admission, and only 1 can be looked upon as feigned :—375/20, H. M'A, an imprisoned male, who was found suspended from the cross-beam of his loom almost exanimate. This lad has since confessed that the hanging was feigned, in order to have a companion; and it is probable as the attempt was made when an officer was expected to visit. Still, although not intended, if the officer had not entered, the result might have been fatal. This man is now separate, in a safety-cell, partially restrained, and under special observation. Of the 32 belonging to the class separate and under special observation, I have tried to ascertain their probable mental conditions, and whether their suicidal threats or attempts were real or feigned, and the conclusion arrived at is, that more than half the number of cases were feigned. Many of the threats and attempts were made by female convicts in association under fits of rage; but the impulsive and passionate character of this class of prisoners is such, that when such fits of rage, accompanied with suicidal threats, have once appeared, the subjects are always taken note of and kept under special observation. There is no doubt that a large proportion of these prisoners are, in some degree, weak-minded.

Number associated 1852-61.

The following figures give the number of prisoners associated on account of their mental condition during the ten years 1852-61 inclusive :—

	1852.	1853.	1854.	1855.	1856.	1857.	1858.	1859.	1860.	1861.	Totals.

	34	37	32	32	29	43	20	36	29	32	324

Of 353 who have been associated during the last eleven years on account of their mental condition, I find the following to be the dates, on or after admission, at which association seemed necessary :—

Dates of Association after Admission.

Probable cause of Weak-mindedness.

The above statement shows that a large proportion were, on admission or before the end of the third month, imbecile or weak-minded; and confirms the opinion that hereditary diseases, increased by vicious habits of life, do probably explain the prevalence of mental debility among the criminal population.

III. Of the Department for Criminal Lunatics.

Health and Death of Criminal Lunatics.

The general health and exemption from disease has been very satisfactory in the Lunatic Department.

There has been only one death among the criminal lunatics, that of 346/14, J. M'K., a female convict, under sentence of 14 years, who has been in Prison 70 months and 13 days, and sunk under gradual decay common to the insane.

Table XI. shows the number of, and particulars regarding those who have been confined in this Department during 1861.

The admissions were as under :—

Admissions.

	From Main Prison. Imprisonment Prisoners. M.	F.	Convicts. F.	From other Prisons. F.	Total.
Admissions,.....1	2		1	1	5

Although 4 of these patients were, after admission, transferred to the Lunatic Department, yet their mental condition in all was, on admission, bordering on insanity.

Notice of C. L. transferred to Lunatic Department.

29/20, C. L. or M'L., a female imprisonment prisoner, had become insane in the Prison of Glasgow; and on admission under medical certificates, was transferred immediately to the Lunatic Department.

57/20, A. C. or S., an imprisonment prisoner, was admitted on February 20, 1861, from the Prison of Paisley, in a state of great mental imbecility. She was at once placed with a nurse in cell; and not improving, but rather becoming more incoherent, with delusions, she was certified as insane on the 26th March 1861. Being of filthy habits, this patient, with the authority of the Managers, is retained in Wing II., Gallery A, No. 47, which cell is held as pertaining to the Lunatic Department.

69/20, R. A. H., a female convict, was here formerly, a convict under sentence of 4 years' penal servitude; was always regarded as weak-minded. When re-admitted, 1st March 1861, she was violent, disorderly, and weak-minded, but on account of her violence could not be associated. Soon after admission insane delusions supervened; and, on May 4, 1861, she was transferred to Lunatic Department.

338/20, D. T., an imprisonment male, was here not long before his re-admission. He is deaf and dumb, so that his mind is imperfectly developed. He was associated on re-admission; but suddenly, 25th November, became incoherent, and was certified insane.

None of these cases, then, can be said to have become mentally affected in this Prison.

In the course of this year the following circumstances, relative to two of our homicidal lunatics, deserve to be specially mentioned:—

Homicidal case, A. M. Put to prison service.

In terms of Rule 8 of the Regulations for the duties of the Resident Surgeon, I reported to you, in the case of 41/18, A. M., aged 23, in the Lunatic Department, that he was not now an insane or lunatic person, and, as far as I could discover, of sane mind. At the same time I stated, "I deem it, however, necessary and proper to add, that A. M.'s sane state of mind I consider as due to the quiet and order of the hospital treatment; but looking at his antecedents, and his constitutional tendency, his malady might return if he were subjected to the excitement and irritation of common life, and therefore I cannot regard him as a fit subject to be at large."

The result of this certificate was, that, under your authority, A. M. was transferred from the Lunatic Department to a cell in the Main Prison, where he is employed in Prison service, his cell, 38, in Wing I., Gallery A, being held as belonging to the Lunatic Department.

Homicidal relapse, A. M'P.

Another homicidal case appears to me also worthy to be noticed here. 358/16, A. M'P., admitted 21st December 1857, tried by the Circuit Court of Justiciary, Inverness, charged with the murder of three persons, his father, mother, and aunt, in one night, was found to be insane at the time he committed the act, and adjudged to be detained in prison, subject to future orders of the High Court of Justiciary, 30th September 1857. From the date of admission up till the month of April 1861 (3½ years), nothing remarkable appeared but a certain degree of weak-mindedness. Indeed, the question was under consideration, whether the man was sane or not, when he became threatening, furious, and homicidal. He became sullen and taciturn, and one day said, "I am a strong man, and more warders will be required to keep me from hurting them." He was restrained, and placed in a padded room. Whenever an opportunity occurred, he rushed furiously at the warders, and for fully a month continued furious, threatening, and requiring several warders to control him. He improved in June, but was still incoherent and noisy. September 13th, so much improved as to be free of all restraint by night. September 24—Recovered. October 1—Free of all restraint. He has since continued well comparatively in body and mind. This is an interesting example of the recurrence of the homicidal impulse, after the absence of it for several years, and when the patient's mental condition was improved.

The number of admissions to the Lunatic Department of the General Prison during the last ten years, 1852 to 1861 inclusive, appears in the following statement:—

Admissions 1842-1861.

Proposed changes and improvements.

For the comfort and benefit of the criminal lunatics, a number of mental relaxations, such as the present premises admit of, have been introduced. But I look forward with interest to the plans and propositions at present under consideration, by which the superseded Juvenile Department may be converted into a lunatic establishment. If the proposed changes are carried out, the buildings and recreation grounds contemplated must be beneficial, and tend to the physical and mental amelioration of this most interesting class of prisoners.

Of Juveniles.

The Juvenile Department having been given up, and the juveniles placed in the Main Prison, in a large cell, associated almost the whole day, and returned by night to separate cells,—I have only to observe, that this new arrangement is quite satisfactory, and the Prison discipline has not been injurious to the juveniles, either in mind or body.

I have the honour to be, Gentlemen, your most obedient Servant,

J. B. Thomson, Resident Surgeon.

RULES for the ADJUSTMENT of the STAFF of the GENERAL PRISON at Perth, approved of by the RIGHT HONOURABLE the SECRETARY of STATE for the HOME DEPARTMENT, in terms of Sections 9 and 62 of the PRISONS (Scotland) ADMINISTRATION ACT, 1860.

1. All appointments and all dismissals are to be made by the SECRETARY of STATE, who will intimate his pleasure on each occasion to the MANAGERS in the manner in which he communicates his ordinary instructions to them.

2. Whenever a Vacancy occurs, whether temporary from suspension or illness, or permanent, the MANAGERS shall arrange for the performance of the duties by the other Officers, and when this is not practicable, they may employ a temporary Officer.

3. Every Officer is to hold office during pleasure, and to be liable to dismissal, either immediate, or with such warning as may be deemed proper.

4. Every dismissed or suspended Officer must, when required, vacate any premises occupied by him within the bounds of the Prison, and restore any uniform or other effects in his possession belonging to the Establishment.

5. When a vacancy occurs the MANAGERS shall immediately intimate it to the SECRETARY of STATE, mentioning the duties, the emoluments, and their opinion whether the office should be filled. When the vacancy is not in the office of Governor, Chaplain, or Surgeon, the MANAGERS may appoint a person to perform the duties ad interim, until an appointment is made by the SECRETARY of STATE.

6. The Managers may suspend an officer, and the Governor may suspend an officer, intimating the fact by a letter posted on the same day to the MANAGERS, whose instructions he will follow. No suspended officer shall continue to possess a key, or to have access to any of the Prison Buildings in which there are prisoners. The MANAGERS may, in consideration of special circumstances, authorize any amount, not exceeding half his wages, to be paid to an officer during suspension. When a suspended officer is restored, the unpaid arrears may be wholly or partly forfeited, or may be paid to him as the MANAGERS, on consideration of the case, may determine.

ELEVENTH REPORT

ON THE

DISTRICT, CRIMINAL, AND PRIVATE LUNATIC ASYLUMS

IN IRELAND.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY, GEORGE WILLIAM FREDERICK, EARL OF CARLISLE, K.G.,
LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

INTRODUCTORY.

In accordance with the desire of the Executive, that we should review the state and individual condition of Lunatic Asylums in this country during the nine months intervening between April and December—our last Report extending to the former month—we have the honour of submitting the present Supplementary Report for the above period.

The same favourable results continue to mark the general working of institutions for the insane, both District and other, under our superintendence and control. In preceding Reports we brought under the notice of Parliament the history of District Asylums in Ireland, from their first establishment; the expenditure, both in regard to their erection and current annual maintenance, as well as their progressive increase, and the improvements effected in them. We have further made such observations as we deemed pertinent to the subject of lunacy, than which perhaps none other at present more fully engages public attention, generalizing the result of our experience in deductions which we thought might be found interesting, if not of practical utility. We believe, too, that the appendices to our former Reports are as varied, extensive, and at the same time as strictly accurate and minute, as are to be found in the similar public documents of any country.

After giving the subjoined tabular returns of the number of the insane of all denominations accommodated in Ireland, we shall apply ourselves to the details of these several Asylums in alphabetical order, and thereby endeavour to place before your Excellency the particular condition of each.

Number of lunatics subject to Inspectors' authority.

The insane classes of all denominations, placed directly under our control and inspection, amounted on the 31st December last to 8,055, and were thus distributed :—

Besides the above, from returns we obtained at the close of 1860, from every police district in Ireland, and in which the particulars as regard name, age, residence,

INTRODUCTORY.

&c., were given, there appeared to be an aggregate of 8,991 human beings of all grades more or less mentally affected, of whom 1,651 were lunatics properly so called, 5,469 were imbeciles, and 1,871 affected with epilepsy. We need scarcely observe that these returns, from the mode through which they were obtained, although, as stated in our last Report, every care was taken in their compilation, can only be regarded as simply approximative.

ARMAGH.

ARMAGH.

Insufficient accommodation.

The Armagh Asylum, belonging to the counties of Armagh, Monaghan, and Cavan, had been long felt to be too small for the first-named county alone; we, therefore, urged the division of the District both at the Board of the Asylum and personally before the Grand Juries of the two other counties. For a time it was supposed by the local authorities that poorhouses might be made available for the reception of lunatics, particularly of the chronic classes, and a proposition was adopted to convert them in part to the purpose; but the result was so unpromising that the Grand Juries of Cavan and Monaghan decided on having each a separate asylum. The diminished and diminishing population of the two counties, at present amounting only to 280,000, from 315,000 in 1851, induced them to reconsider this arrangement also, when, on consultation, and after entering into the merits of the case, it was decided that it would be far more economical to build an asylum in common, it being mutually agreed on that the site should be close to Monaghan. An Order in Council has been consequently passed for the erection of an asylum there for 300 patients. Suitable grounds, about fifty acres, have been inspected for the purpose, and at the coming Spring Assizes we trust that all preliminaries will have been so arranged that the buildings may be speedily commenced.

New Asylum for Cavan and Monaghan.

Alterations and improvements in Armagh Asylum.

During the nine months just elapsed a very important improvement has been effected at the Armagh Asylum, an ample supply of good water having been procured by the sinking of a well, about eighty feet deep, through a limestone rock, at a cost of £220. Previously there had been from time to time, but particularly in the summer months, a great deficiency, and even the water obtained was of an inferior quality. The Board, at which we attended on two occasions for the purpose, has further applied to and obtained a loan of £6,500 from Government, wherewith to effect various additions, recommended by us—among others, a dining hall, infirmary, &c., &c., as well as alterations in the kitchen, laundry, dormitories, &c., and which, when finished, must prove of great benefit to the institution. An architect has been already employed by the Board of Governors, and is now preparing plans, which will be immediately carried into effect. We think, as the farm is much too small, only comprising eight acres, that the addition of ten or twelve more at the southern or town side of the building would be highly advisable; and we have not failed to submit our views for the consideration of the Governors, now, we may say, all but limited to those belonging to Armagh, and who, though aware that their county will have to repay a considerable sum to the detached counties of Monaghan and Cavan, do not hesitate in doing what they consider advisable for the requirements of their own more limited District, the population of which amounting to 189,000, will have accommodation for about 200 lunatics.

Statistics.

The number of patients in the Asylum on 31st December was 144; 21 were admitted in the previous nine months, 14 were discharged cured, and 5 died, or 4½ per cent. per annum—a very low mortality indeed on the daily average under treatment.

No death was caused by accident or suicide, neither did any escape occur. Of the total number under treatment, 25 are probably curable, the remaining 119 offer little or no hope of recovery. The proportion of the married to the unmarried is 33 to 111. The average number employed is 40 males, and 41 females: 85 patients are more or less educated, and 59 would appear to be altogether illiterate. The total outlay for nine months in the Asylum was £2,529 11*s.* 9*d.*, or at the rate of £23 6*s.* 7*d.* per head annually. On the condition of the Armagh Asylum, which we frequently visit, we have reason to report favourably, as well as of its general management; and we are happy to observe that the corridors and day-rooms have been rendered more cheerful by the introduction of plants, pictures, birds, &c., and that means of amusement for the inmates are not neglected.

The Board attends regularly once in each month, for fiscal and general business.

BALLINASLOE.

Ballinasloe.

The Ballinasloe Asylum, originally constructed (1833) for 150 patients, was intended to meet the wants of the whole province of Connaught, containing nearly one million and a-half of inhabitants. From time to time it was enlarged to accommodate its present number, 333—the same as that on the 31st March. In the year 1855, on a report to the Executive from the Inspectors, a new asylum was erected at Sligo, for the two counties of Sligo and Leitrim, thus leaving Galway, Roscommon, and Mayo, with a conjoint population of 681,000, attached in common to Ballinasloe. The dearth of sufficient provision in the asylum was first mooted by us at the Board of Governors, and subsequently brought under the notice of Government. The Grand Jury of Mayo at once assented to the proposition of dividing the District, and to the establishment of an asylum at Castlebar, the county town. The Grand Juries of Galway and Roscommon, on fully considering the exigencies of the District, the question having been discussed between them and the Inspector at two different assizes, withdrew all objection to their detachment from Mayo—passing, however, resolutions to the effect, that when repayments came to be levied, ample allowances should be made in favour of the ratepayers of the two remaining counties for the wear and tear of thirty years, and that Mayo should still contribute its fair proportion of the superannuation payable to the staff and servants of the Ballinasloe Asylum.

Division of the District.

An Order in Council was passed in due course for an asylum for 300 patients, at Castlebar. Fifty-one acres have been purchased at a cost of £4,090 by the Board of Control (of which the Inspectors form two of the four members), the plans have been approved of, estimates and specifications prepared, the grounds surveyed, &c., so that when the weather admits of it there will be no delay in undertaking the works.

New Asylum for Mayo.

Within the last five years no structural additions or alterations have been undertaken in the Ballinasloe Asylum. Its inmates—at least, the great majority—belong to the humblest classes of the rural population, and are in every way most carefully attended to; indeed, were we to adduce an instance of the benevolent and liberal spirit which pervades the management of Irish District Asylums, we would most appropriately refer to that at Ballinasloe, where patients, hitherto living in a destitute condition, are afforded food, raiment, lodging, and other domestic comforts previously unknown to them.

In the course of nine months ending 31st December, 62 lunatics were admitted; 25 were discharged cured, and 10 improved; 27, or 10 per cent., died, and from natural causes only. None escaped. The married and widowed amount to 103; the single to 230. The probably curable fall to the low figure of 48, against 285 incurable, and many of them very aged; 42 males and 57 females formed the daily averages employed; 171, or something over a half, are utterly uneducated—in fact, of the 333, 27 alone can read or write well. In an asylum such as the Ballinasloe there is, therefore, very little room for mental occupation or varied amusements. Still the patients in it, most kindly treated, have an air of comfort about them. The expenditure for the nine months embraced in this Report was £4,921 3*s.* 2*d.*, or £19 13*s.* 5*d.* per head annually.

Returns of admissions, &c.

On the removal of the Mayo lunatics this asylum will be restricted to the insane poor of the two counties of Galway and Roscommon, having a united population of 427,000. The buildings are all through in excellent repair. The construction of a dining-hall appears to us very desirable, together with increased facilities for supplying the house generally with hot water; the latter subject will be immediately brought at our request by the Resident Physician under the notice of the Governors, whose attention has been already called to the want of a proper drying apparatus in the laundry, as well as to the advantage of enlarging the main cistern, which is capable of containing only about 2,000 gallons of water, a quantity insufficient for the requirements of so large an establishment.

Condition of building.

THE BELFAST ASYLUM

Belfast.

Continues in the same overcrowded state, being far too limited in size for the wants of the District, notwithstanding that from the additions made to it within the last six years it is at present one of the largest asylums in Ireland. Its proximity to a populous and daily increasing town, and the number of inhabitants in the adjoining manufacturing villages, producing incessant demands upon it. The separation of the counties of Down and Antrim became long since an object of urgent necessity in the opinion of the Inspectors, and we consequently pressed its consideration on every occasion that offered before Committees, Grand Juries, and the Board of Superintendence of the Down Gaol. In accordance with our recommendation, the Grand Jury of Down, at the last Spring Assizes, decided Overcrowded state.

BELFAST.

New Asylum for Down.

on the erection of a separate asylum for the county, the gaol of which, from want of suitable accommodation, was converted into a sort of lunatic depôt. The Grand Jury of Antrim, and also a majority of the Governors of the Asylum in Belfast, were adverse to a division of the District, advocating either the enlargement of the existing institution, or the erection of an auxiliary asylum in its vicinity. To arrive, if possible, at some definitive arrangement, it was agreed that a deputation, composed of some of the most influential landed proprietors of the county Down, should meet a similar deputation from Antrim together with one from the Board of Governors. The meeting accordingly took place, and one of the Inspectors attended. After a long discussion two resolutions were proposed; the one carried by the majority, in favour of non-separation, was unanimously opposed by the Down deputation. At the next Summer Assizes the Down Grand Jury reiterated its former resolution. The question at issue was referred to Government, and subsequently brought officially by the Inspector under the notice of the Governors of the Asylum at a special meeting, when all further opposition to a division of the District was frankly withdrawn by them. An Order in Council was consequently passed for erecting an Asylum near Downpatrick for 300 patients after the coming Spring Assizes, at which a local committee is to be nominated by the Grand Jury, the Board of Control will initiate the necessary arrangements.

General management.

Of the general management of this institution we have reason to speak favourably, as on our various inspections we found the patients carefully and judiciously attended to, and the house clean and well organized in its details, under the control of a highly influential Board, than which none can take a warmer interest in the fulfilment of the trust confided to it. But while most willing to concede to that Board all the praise it deserves, we cannot refrain from again expressing our regret that it should stand alone in the whole empire in its opposition to the regular attendance of Chaplains, duly appointed as such, on the mass of patients so likely to derive consolation, if not direct curative benefit, from their ministrations. To join issue on a technical point of law, or to wait till an Act of Parliament shall decide as to whether Chaplains are or are not to officiate, is beside the question—the principle remains intact—the rites and comforts of religion should be afforded to our fellow-creatures, who, being confined in public institutions, are thereby denied the opportunity of seeking them out of doors; and, as we have already observed, we cannot conceive why delusions restricted to one subject should necessarily influence the correct exercise of the mind on all others; or why, for example, if a patient believed himself to be a lord mayor, judge, or general, he should not have the facility of attending a place of worship according to his creed, for surely the practice of religion is not incompatible with the functions of any of those exalted personages to whose order he might fancy he belonged. In criminal law the accused is justly held responsible for the offence he may have committed, unless it be associated with his delusions; hence partial sanity is legally recognised as coexistent with partial insanity. By strengthening the former we materially modify the latter, and thus, irrespective of its other influences, religion may act as a sanatory agent.

We, therefore, trust that the Board of the Belfast Asylum, which has hitherto so kindly ministered to the comfort of its inmates by the formation of an admirable band of music, the encouragement of evening entertainments, reading, country excursions, and the like, will afford us the opportunity of stating in our next Report that it had itself applied to your Excellency for the appointment of three Chaplains, an Episcopalian, Presbyterian, and Roman Catholic, as at Omagh and Londonderry, where, according to an official report from the Governors, "the system of religious instruction and public worship has been productive of beneficial results exceeding their most sanguine expectations."

Admissions, discharges, and deaths.

The number of patients in the Belfast Asylum on the 31st December was 357, one more than on the 31st March; 88 were admitted in the intervening nine months, 56 discharged cured, and 17 improved, the total deaths being 13, or at the rate of about 5 per cent. annually. This gives an unusually low average among lunatics out of a civic population.

One female, who was convalescent, escaped, and was retained at home by her friends. No accident of any kind occurred. With regard to social condition, the married and widowed amounted to 122, the unmarried to 235. The incurables and epileptics (246), constitute more than two-thirds of the total number under treatment. The outlay, embracing every item of expense for the nine months just elapsed, was £5,226 15*s.* 9*d.*, or £19 8*s.* 8*d.* per head per annum.

Want of a refectory.

We think a great improvement would be effected in this asylum by the construction of a refectory in it, as, independent of the facilities thereby afforded for supplying the patients with their meals more comfortably, the necessity of carrying food to sixteen different and distant day-rooms would be obviated, the passages would be at all times in a more orderly state, and the odour from cooked meat and vegetables, and which has been complained of as affecting the atmosphere of asylums, particularly in damp and close weather, would be no longer perceptible.

The day-rooms too in the refractory divisions, particularly at the male side, are clearly too small for their inmates, and the consequence is that after being occupied for any length of time they cannot be as cleanly and well-ventilated as could be desired: for disagreeable as pent-up air is in any place, it becomes particularly so in apartments where lunatics are crowded together.

Other deficiencies.

We may here take the opportunity of observing, that an essential point in the construction of asylums is the securing an ample indoor space, with commodious lavatories, water-closets, &c., for the refractory above all other classes, a circumstance which will be duly attended to for the future, not only in the erection of new hospitals for the insane, but in the additions to be made to those already established.

CARLOW.

Admissions, discharges, &c.

The Carlow, one of the first District Asylums opened in this country, and built for 102 patients, contains at present exactly double that number, such has been the pressure on it from the three counties of Carlow, Kildare, and Wexford, for which, and Kilkenny (but recently detached), it was originally intended. During the last nine months 39 patients were admitted; 20 were discharged cured, and two convalescent; 12 died, or 7½ per cent. on the average number under treatment. No accident of any kind occurred in this establishment, which at all times has been conducted in the most satisfactory manner.

Condition of patients.

Regarding the educational and social condition of the inmates, 52, or as nearly as possible a fourth, are uneducated; and the same number are widowed or unmarried. Of the history of 65 lunatics transmitted from prison as dangerous, we have no certain record; some of them have been in the asylum over twenty years. Ninety-six patients are probably curable, and 108 quite demented; 49 has been the daily average of males employed, and 65 of females. Books and other means of amusement are afforded the patients, and latterly the Board has had it in contemplation to establish a small band of music in the asylum. In few institutions are the inmates treated with more consideration than at Carlow, and though the house itself is kept with order and regularity, it is still far from being in the condition we could desire. In saying so we refer to certain wants and deficiencies, especially of a structural nature—water-closets, baths, infirmaries, an enlarged kitchen, a suitable place for worship, &c. At the same time, as heretofore observed by us, we must allow that none of those desirable improvements or additions can be undertaken in the existing overcrowded state of the institution.

Want of baths, &c.

Insufficiency of accommodation.

In no district of Ireland did a more urgent necessity exist for an increased provision for its lunatic poor than in the Carlow, and so far as the Inspectors were concerned, for the last ten years they have not ceased to express their opinions on the subject. The Grand Jury of the county Wexford, also, felt the great disadvantages accruing to their lunatics from the want of a home accommodation, of which the County Gaol afforded the strongest proof; so many as thirty lunatics committed as dangerous being generally confined in it, awaiting an admission into the District Asylum, which very rarely offered. Fortunately this state of things is drawing to a close, for not only has an Order in Council been passed for the establishment of an asylum at Enniscorthy, but the site, with forty acres, has been purchased at a cost of £2,712. The plans, of a very expensive and ornamental character, as made by the architect selected by the Grand Jury, and which have been recently submitted to the Commissioners of Control, are now undergoing certain revisions directed by them, both in regard to economy and structural conveniences. A local committee, composed of some of the leading gentry of the county, has been appointed, and with its co-operation we anticipate that a building creditable in every respect to the district will be constructed; and further, that on its occupation by the patients belonging to Wexford, and just now located in Carlow, the asylum there will be fully renovated, and more land taken, as the present farm—only twelve acres—is much too small.

New Asylum for Wexford.

Inconvenience attending transference of lunatics from Kildare to Carlow.

The position of a lunatic institution at Carlow, as regards the two counties of Wexford and Kildare, has hitherto been alike inconvenient to the greater portion of both. The former, by having an asylum for itself, will soon escape the disadvantages arising from distance; but the remote parts of Kildare, such as some parishes in the barony of Carberry, over forty miles distant from the asylum at Carlow, and comparatively close to that at Mullingar, must continue to suffer as before, or until such time as the country at large will have been fully supplied with accommodation for its insane poor, when arrangements tending to obviate the inconvenience referred to may be very properly taken into consideration.

CARLOW.

This Asylum has been inspected on three occasions within the last nine months, and on each it was found in a very satisfactory state. The Boards, though the attending Governors are few, have latterly been held with much more regularity than was formerly the case.

CLONMEL.

CLONMEL.

Admissions, discharges, &c.

The Asylum at Clonmel, for the North and South Ridings of Tipperary, contains its full complement—140 patients—a number from which, since its erection thirty years ago, it has scarcely ever deviated, such has been the urgent and continuous demands upon it. Eleven lunatics only have been admitted into it during the past nine months. Six were discharged recovered, and one was returned to friends improved. Four died, a mortality rating little more than 3 per cent. annually. No accident of any kind has occurred in this institution for years.

The social condition, quoad marriages, presents a marked contrast here and in Armagh, the married in Clonmel being to the unmarried as 55 to 58, in Armagh as 28 to 111. Sixty-nine of the 140 are uneducated, and, we regret to add, that 115 are incurable, but still for the most part requiring that supervision which in asylums alone can be efficiently sustained.

Auxiliary Asylum at Clonmel.

For some years an increased provision for the insane poor of the county had been a subject of discussion, not so much in reference to its absolute necessity as with regard to the locality in which it should be provided. As stated by us in a preceding Report, we did all we could to procure the erection of an asylum in the North Riding, stating our views and reasons therefor to the Executive and the different local authorities; but eventually a decision was come to at the conjoint solicitation of both Grand Juries and the Board, to have an auxiliary establishment at Clonmel, Government stipulating, on our recommendation, that all the available land about the workhouse should be purchased with it, and which has been done at a cost of £2,335. The estimate for structural alterations and additions for the accommodation of 150 patients, and which is already in progress, amounts to £6,000, so that, after all, even on the score of economy, little will have been gained, whilst the inconvenience of distance remains unchanged. No doubt, within the last twenty years, the population of the county has fallen from 435,000 to 247,000, and thus, so far under existing circumstances, an asylum provision for 310 lunatics may, on the whole, be considered a fairly proportional one; but the disadvantages to pauper lunatics of a journey of from forty to sixty miles, from the northern parishes to the southern asylum of the district, particularly in inclement weather, is a serious consideration, when, as we strenuously advised, accommodation might have been secured at home, and at no very great extra charge. At present fully three-fourths of the lunatics in the Clonmel Asylum belong to the South Riding, of which that town is the capital. To protect the interests of the North Riding a due number of beds must be secured for it in future. An ample and well cultivated farm of thirty acres is attached to the Asylum, and the whole concern is conducted in a most creditable manner, and with a considerate regard to the well-being, occupation, and amusement of the patients. On the completion of the auxiliary buildings, it is proposed that an assistant medical superintendent should reside on the premises, with a suitable but small staff of attendants to look after the chronic cases drafted to it. Thus we shall endeavour to effect the best arrangements for the county at large.

Farm.

Fifty has hitherto been the male average daily employed, and forty-nine the female. The well educated amount to only seven, the illiterate to sixty-nine. One patient alone has been under restraint within the past nine months. The outlay has been £2,463 14*s.* 2*d.*, or at the rate of £23 9*s.* 3*d.* a-year per head, including every item of expenditure.

CORK.

CORK.

The Cork District Asylum, opened about nine years since, was constructed for the reception of 500, and contained on the 31st December last 479 inmates, principally belonging to the city, and East Riding of the county. The remote baronies of the West Riding, from fifty to seventy miles distant, do not by any means participate in its advantages in the same proportion as those in closer proximity to the institution; so much so, that when lunatics belonging to the former are brought to it, generally speaking, it will be found that they had, in the first instance, been arrested under the 8th & 9th Vic., cap. 107, as dangerous, and thus escorted to prison by the police, their immediate friends, for the most part paupers themselves, having neither pecuniary nor other means for their conveyance from home.

Suggestion regarding expense of

In extensive districts, such as the Tipperary just spoken of, the Cork, Killarney, and Ballinasloe, it would be highly advisable if some funds were placed at the disposal of local magistrates to pay the cost of travelling to asylums when the lunatics are absolute paupers. County Treasurers might have authority, on the recommendation of a Justice of the Peace and parochial clergyman, to allow the expense thereof out of the Grand Jury rates, for parties in indigent circumstances becoming insane, and duly certified as such by the dispensary physician of the district. transferring pauper lunatics to Asylum.

The condition of the Cork Asylum, with reference to its general management and the medical treatment of its inmates, has been at all times very satisfactory. The patients, as a body, are well and warmly clad. The corridors and sleeping-rooms are kept cleanly and in good order, and the bedding, on our recommendation, has latterly been improved. The day-rooms, however, particularly those at the male side, are rather dingy and unfinished, without any break, by print or picture, to the monotony of their walls. General management of Asylum.

During the nine months just expired 97 patients were admitted, the large number of 74 were discharged cured, and 4 were taken home by their families improved. Admissions and discharges.

Eighteen died from natural causes, being at the low rate of five annually in a hundred. One, a male, from suicide. A coronor's inquest was held on the deceased, and the verdict exonerated all parties from blame. The individual in question was an agricultural labourer; he had been in the house for some years, and never evinced any suicidal disposition. On the day of his death he was employed cutting seed potatoes, as he had for some days before, in a shed, where, in the absence of the attendant, he hung himself with a straw rope which he happened to see in it. This act was, no doubt, the result of a momentary impulse from the painful comparison of the present with the past; for the land steward, under whose charge he was placed, remarking to him a few moments before how clever he was, he, in reply, feelingly alluded to the days when he had his own farm, and planted potatoes on it for his wife and children. Suicide of a patient.

With reference to the educational condition of the inmates of this institution, thirty-one only are well-informed, 225 cannot read or write, the others can do so but indifferently. The proportion of the married to the unmarried is 125 to 354; the incurables amount to 252, the probably curable to 227. During the nine months four patients escaped from off the farm, three of whom were quickly retaken by the attendants; one, a convalescent female, found her way home, where she was retained. Among the patients admitted was a man whose brother and sister died in the asylum, and another who also had had a brother and sister in it, who left cured. Statistics.

The average number employed in useful occupations in and out of doors within the past nine months was 140 males and 147 females.

Much attention has, we are glad to report, been paid in the Cork Asylum to procuring suitable amusements for the insane. A ball is held once, at least, in each month, in the recreation hall. A regular band of music has been formed under the direction of a paid master. There are bagatelle-tables and cards, than which latter there is seemingly nothing more to the taste of an Irish lunatic. Few are disposed to read. Amusements.

The total expenditure of this asylum for nine months was £6,255 3*s.* 4*d.*, at the rate of £17 18*s.* 10*d.* a-head in the year. The cost of patients in the Cork Asylum has been hitherto lower than in any similar establishment in this country, a fact referrible to different causes. In the first place the scale of dietary, particularly in the item of animal food, is not so liberal as elsewhere, neither are the wages of servants; secondly, superannuation pensions, which, in longer established District Asylums form a considerable item, are as yet very low; and thirdly, repairs, alterations, and the renovation of old furniture, &c., have been hitherto almost unneeded. Low rate of expenditure.

No structural additions or changes have been made in the Asylum since its opening, with the exception of a Turkish bath and an apparatus for warming a portion of the female dormitories. The former has now been in operation for over twelve months, and so successfully, that similar baths may well be adopted in other asylums. The Resident Physician reports very favourably of its tranquillizing effects, whilst for general use it has in great measure superseded the common tepid bath, it being daily employed, on an average, by about thirty patients, who take it in succession through the house, unless in particular cases there be reasons to the contrary. On inquiring from the lunatics themselves, we find that it is agreeable to the great majority, and some even regard it as a luxury. Continued success of the Turkish Bath.

The construction of an apparatus for heating by boiling water was submitted to the Commissioners of Control by the Board of Governors early in the spring of last year, but we hesitated a long time as to its expediency, impressed with the opinion that, in a climate such as ours, it was not only uncalled for, but might be prejudicial, inasmuch as a perfect ventilation appeared to us more or less incompatible with a continuous and fixed supply of hot air, no matter how obtained; neither did we think, however prevalent its employment in other countries, where the thermometer for months in the year falls considerably under the freezing point, that in Ireland, so subject to a damp, close, and oppres- Heating apparatus.

Objections to heating by means of boiling water.

sive atmosphere, with a temperature, in winter even, scarcely below 40 degrees, hot air was required, of all places, in institutions for the insane. No doubt, in the gaols and convict depôts of this country, it is used to a certain extent, but the sedentary habits of a prisoner confined to his cell in some handicraft employment, are totally different from those of the lunatic, freely associating with others, who is at liberty to move about in ample corridors and day-rooms, and when fine to take advantage of the weather out of doors.

We think animal heat is more steadily and healthfully maintained by good clothing day and night, comfortable bedding, a fair supply of nutritious food, and a ready access to open fire-places and open stoves well supplied with fuel; while it should not be forgotten that, independent of the unpleasantness of confined air, so noticeable among lunatics, the freshness of good ventilation is of primary importance in cerebral affections.

It was supposed that some patients had died from the effects of cold at the Cork Asylum; but on reference to the books of that institution, not a single case was attributed to such a cause. As an experiment, however, and to meet the repeated wishes of the Board of Governors, the Commissioners of Control acceded to the heating of the cells and sleeping-rooms off a corridor containing thirty-eight beds, at the female side, the cost whereof amounted to £120; the apparatus has just been finished.

Sanitary condition of Cork Asylum as compared with English Asylums.

Mortality.

While on the subject of heating, we would observe that, anxious to arrive at a just conclusion as to its merits, and prepared to surrender, if necessary, our own preconceived opinions, we sought information elsewhere. In the last Report of the Commissioners of Lunacy in England, a return is given of the deaths in the lunatic asylums of that country for five consecutive years, viz., from 1854 to 1858 inclusive; those from 1858 to 1862 have not been as yet published, so we cannot make any comparison for the latter period with our more recent returns. On contrasting the mortality in the Cork Asylum (which certainly is not an under average one in Ireland), for the same term, with that in the Stafford, which we selected in the first instance, as being regarded among the best lunatic institutions of the sister kingdom, and heated in the most approved manner, the deaths consecutively, from year to year, on the daily average under treatment appeared to be 13·7, 12·8, 13·8, 17·6, 14·1; while in Cork the proportion, similarly calculated, stands thus—10, 7·1, 5·9, 8·5, 8·9. But not to restrict the inquiry to one asylum, for, to use a common phrase, there might be a temporary "run of luck against it," if we take the other asylums, commencing, for example, with the letter S—the Suffolk, Somerset, and Surrey, all of high repute, and each fully furnished, we believe, with a heating apparatus, we shall find on examination, that the deaths in the Suffolk, 167 on 1,369 (the total average under treatment), will be 12 per cent.; in the Somerset, 233 deaths on 1,800 (the total average), 12·9 per cent.; in the Surrey, 512 deaths on 4,645 (the total average), 11 per cent.; while in the Cork, 189 deaths on 2,360, the similar total average under treatment for five years, constitute only 8 per cent., or, relatively speaking, as to deaths alone, 43 per cent. less than the Stafford, 39 less than the Somerset, 34 less than the Suffolk, and 28 less than the Surrey Asylum. Again, in the most northern and, from climate, coldest of Irish asylums, in which, too, no artificial heating is employed, the deaths in the five years just enumerated, offer, in proportion to the total averages, about the same favourable contrast as the Cork, being in Omagh 7·4, and in Londonderry 8·7, per cent. We have thus minutely referred to the question of heating, and placed before your Excellency our sentiments thereon, which have been corroborated by the opinion of two of the Commissioners of Control, after a visit specially made to some of the English asylums. It is, therefore, the intention of the Board of Control to rely simply on open fire-places and stoves of an improved principle for the proper and, above all, an equable heating of the asylums about to be erected in this country.

Condition of farm.

Attached to the Cork Asylum are fifty-eight statute acres, with farm offices, &c. The land is now in a tolerably fair state of cultivation, having been cleared and generally improved by the patients under a professed agriculturist. We cannot, however, speak in flattering terms of the condition of the grounds in front of the building, which have been hitherto much neglected; had our recommendation been carried out, before this they would have been tastefully laid down as airing and exercise gardens. We hope that in the course of the coming year the Board of Governors will direct its attention to the matter, particularly as the regular yards are damp and gloomy. Those at the extremity of either wing admit of being improved: they should be enlarged, and enclosed by a sunk fence instead of the existing high walls.

Damp and gloomy state of airing yards.

Want of dining-hall.

With certain additions, among which we would especially mention a commodious dining-hall, this asylum might be rendered much more perfect in its details. As it is, the front of the house occupies a line from eight to nine hundred feet long, the kitchen is in the centre and at the rere; hence food has to be conveyed three times daily over two hundred yards to some of the distant sitting-rooms, at the top of a third story. The construction of a refectory would materially increase the comfort of the inmates, and thus their meals would be served to them much warmer and more commodiously than now; and while diminishing the labour of the attendants, would tend to greater cleanliness and better ventilation. We hoped we had succeeded in gaining the Governors over to our views, as plans for the purpose were discussed, but the dread of additional charges on an already heavy expenditure has marred their good intention. Cork.

The infirmary, as also the chapel, which is used in common by both persuasions, lies detached from the main building, and accommodates twenty-four inmates; but as they are all in associated dormitories, we have suggested to the Governors the propriety of providing eight single cells for the violent or noisy, who otherwise must seriously interfere with the quiet and sleep of the ordinary sick. We further directed their attention on a late occasion to a deficiency, viz., that of seats of suitable construction in the hospital, as well as in the divisions for the more aged and weakly patients. Infirmary accommodation. Furniture.

We frequently visit this large and important institution at which a full Board attends monthly, three of the members of which devote a constant attention to the well-being of the inmates in the intervals between the meetings. Board meetings.

At the Cork Asylum, after much and lengthened discussion, the admission of reporters was approved of by a bare majority, a practice previously unknown in every asylum in the three kingdoms. We frankly confess we see no benefit whatever arising, or likely to arise from this exceptional course. Admission of the Press to Board meetings.

The proceedings of Boards of Prison Superintendence are not open to the press, which, it must be said, has never sought admittance to them; neither are those in hospitals or charitable foundations, though supported by the public. On principle, then, and for obvious reasons, the proceedings in the Board-room of a lunatic asylum, where the most delicate family questions, albeit of the humbler classes, are necessarily discussed from time to time, should be kept private; the Governors of District Asylums are not elected as Poor Law Guardians, with a power of taxation, but chosen by the Executive from among the leading gentry, and simply delegated to carry out a trust for the benefit of their insane fellow-creatures., the necessary funds for which are advanced by the Treasury on orders from the Lord Lieutenant in Council.

KILKENNY. Kilkenny.

The Kilkenny District Asylum, restricted to the county and city of the name, has undergone little or no interior alteration since its opening in 1854, with the exception of the conversion of part of the upper corridors to dormitory purposes, on a plan suggested by the Inspectors, by which twenty beds have been added. The airing-yards at either side of the wings, and having a south-westerly aspect, with a commanding view of the surrounding scenery, have been latterly modified and improved. The building generally is in a very satisfactory state, and all the fitments in good order, save those of the laundry, the boilers in which appear to us too small, and the means for supplying them with hot and cold water insufficient; a fact we brought a short time since under the notice of the Board. The number of inmates in this establishment on the 31st December was 154, or 18 under its full complement. The admissions for previous period of nine months were 12; the recoveries, 7; 1 was taken home improved; 7 died from natural causes, none from suicide or accident. Three attempted escape, but were immediately retaken. The house is kept with much regularity and neatness, and the well-being of its inmates carefully attended to. Altogether, both in regard to interior management and the mode in which the pleasure-grounds and farm are maintained, the Kilkenny Asylum deserves commendation. Condition of buildings. Admissions, discharges, &c. Management.

From time to time harmless idiots, as well as hopelessly demented and quiet cases, have been removed to the adjoining poorhouse, in exchange for more urgent cases belonging to the union—it being however understood that a liberal scale of dietary, similar to that in the asylum, should be continued to them.

The number of male patients actually employed for the past year averaged 35; of females, 48. Fifty-four of the total inmates can neither read nor write. The married and widowed amount to 40; the single to 114; while the probably curable are just a sixth only of those under treatment. In this asylum there are fourteen related within the degree of second cousins; and proportionally more paying patients. The margin of vacancies here, in the absence of pauper applicants, admits the reception of parties willing to pay, but who have not means to meet the expenses of a private licensed house; and we, under such circumstances, do not see any fair reason why, if injury does not thereby accrue to the lunatic poor in the restricted signification of the term, the advantages of a public institution should be denied to the ratepayer who contributes to its support. Paying patients.

The interior arrangements of the Kilkenny District Asylum are good and commodious. There are two dining-halls and a well-constructed infirmary for males and females; opportunities of amusement, music, reading, dancing, are freely afforded. The total outlay of this asylum for the nine months just expired was £2,286 13*s.* 11*d.*, or at the rate of £19 18*s.* 10*d.* a head.

Board meetings.

The Board assembles once a month for the discharge of business; and were it not for the regular attendance of three or four of the most influential members, resident from twelve to twenty miles distant, occasionally a sufficient number to form a quorum would not be present, although the asylum is in the vicinity of an important city. A Sub-Committee of two gentlemen resident in the neighbourhood pays great attention to the general well-working of the establishment.

KILLARNEY.

KILLARNEY.

The asylum belongs altogether to the county of Kerry, which at present contains 200,000 inhabitants, or 38,000 less than when, in 1850, an Order in Council was passed for its detachment from the Limerick district.

The institution commands a view of the lakes, with their adjacent mountain scenery, and thus, so far as situation can be said to exercise a beneficial influence over the minds of the insane, enjoys peculiar advantages.

Condition of building.

It was constructed for 220 patients, but presents a more imposing appearance than its actual accommodation would seem to warrant. The central buildings, in consequence of the use of a thick drying wash or composition, first extensively tried at the Cork Asylum, is now, we are glad to observe, secured in great measure from the effects of damp; but the wings at either side having a south-west aspect, and thus fully exposed to the prevalent rainy winds of the country that beat against them with great force, are as yet far from being stanched against wet. The Board, however, purpose employing in the course of the coming year the same exterior wash over the house generally, so as to allow the walls to dry from without inwards, and thus obviate the danger of dry rot in the joists and flooring of some of the corridors and day-rooms, which otherwise there would be reasonable cause to apprehend. Now that the central building is in a fit condition, we think the propriety of painting or papering the passages, public rooms, and general apartments in it, and which are but coarsely plastered, may become a very fitting consideration for the Board.

Statistics.

The number of lunatics in the Killarney Asylum has varied little within the nine months just elapsed. On the 31st March it amounted to 196; on the 31st December, to 197. During the intervening period 44 were admitted; 17 were discharged cured, 9 convalescent, and 3 unimproved; the deaths, 14, were all referrible to natural causes, but principally to old age and debility. Two patients effected a temporary escape—one was immediately retaken, after getting over the boundary-wall; the other was pursued by the attendant in charge to his house, and brought back next day. The probably curable form about a fourth of the total under treatment. The educated, be it to a greater or less degree, in all 86, contrast favourably with the utterly illiterate, 107, a ratio more satisfactory than the average of other district asylums. The unmarried predominate here, as elsewhere, but not to the same extent, the numbers respectively being to the married 112 to 78 (of 7 in the house the social condition is unknown). If we compare Londonderry and Kerry, for example—the one in the extreme north, the other in the south—the proportion of the single is 179 to 50, the cause of difference being, no doubt, owing to the greater prevalence of early marriages in the latter county. Again, as indicative of the extent of clanship in Kerry, and of feudal habits even among the poor, for thus we would explain the fact, we find far more of relationship among patients in this asylum than in any other in Ireland—in fact, 29 of the 195 are within the degree of second cousinship.

Asylum grounds.

The daily average employed was 42 females and 58 males; the former principally in the laundry or at needlework, the latter in agricultural labour.

The asylum stands upon a farm of thirty acres, sufficient probably for the number at present engaged in its cultivation; but from the position of the buildings at its very confines, we could desire that about eight acres lying close to and immediately in front of them, were added to it, in order to prevent their being taken at any future time by private parties for building purposes, as thus not only the appearance of the asylum, but its privacy would be seriously damaged.

The Board is adverse, and it must be added, with every semblance of justice, to any fresh expenditure in the way of rent or purchase—useful as it might, and in the present instance certainly would be—that directly increased the taxation of the county for lunatic purposes, and at present amounting to 5*d.* in the pound on the Grand Jury valuation.

Management.

The Killarney Asylum is conducted in a highly creditable manner, and the patients themselves as a body seem to appreciate the kindness with which they are treated. On our different inspections we have found them carefully looked after, and their creature comforts fully attended to. The men take their meals in a common refectory; the females in their different divisions. KILLARNEY.

The whole establishment appears to be maintained with a due regard to cleanliness, order, and ventilation, while the humanizing influence of cheap but appropriate decorations in many of the day-rooms and corridors, is not neglected. The new airing courts, particularly that at the male side, a sort of excavated circus, and on which a considerable sum has been laid out under a Treasury allowance, admit of the improvements now intended to be carried out by the Board; they will thus become more airy and cheerful, and at the same time be sheltered by the adjoining plantations. Airing courts.

Considering that fully two-thirds of the inmates of this establishment belong to the humblest classes, simply agricultural labourers from mountainous districts, it cannot but be gratifying to find how much we can administer to the well-being, occupation, and social improvement of the insane poor, who in the absence of a humane interference would be doomed to neglect and wretchedness.

The hospital lying in the rere of the main edifice, and hitherto unoccupied by the sick and infirm, is now, from the progressive influx of patients, about to be converted to its primitive object. Thus twenty additional beds will become available; and thereby, without any structural enlargements, we think the wants of the district will be satisfied for the future, provided a due discrimination be exercised in the admission of applicants. Hospital accommodation.

There are at present nine lunatics whose maintenance is paid for in the asylum, and in regard to whom we would reiterate the same observations as we have just made in similar cases at Kilkenny. The Board assembles regularly once in each month, for the transaction of fiscal and ordinary business; but one or two influential members, who take a great interest in devising means, whether for the amusement or occupation of the inmates, or in carrying out suggestions for the general benefit of the institution, visit occasionally in the interval. The expenditure, of which £160 was for pay patients, amounted in the nine months just expired, to £3,204, being at the rate of £21 16*s.* 4*d.* per head annually. Paying patients.

LIMERICK. LIMERICK.

The District Asylum at Limerick, on the 31st December, had in it 389 patients, being a larger number than it could conveniently accommodate; in fact, about sixty more than, under ordinary circumstances, a building of its dimensions should contain, having regard to infirmary and other provision. Seventy-two lunatics were received in the nine months previous to 31st December; 48 were returned home cured, 5 improved, and 10 unimproved; the deaths from natural causes 9, or a per centage scarcely above the average mortality out of doors. No accident of any nature occurred in the institution. The proportion of the uneducated in the Limerick Asylum is considerably smaller than in any other asylum in Ireland, 66 being the number who cannot read or write, or nearly a sixth; but, as in other institutions, the unmarried—293—far exceed the married and widowed, 96. Overcrowded condition.

The incurable lunatics form a very large majority of the inmates, being no less than 320 out of 389; yet few could with safety be deprived of that supervision which an asylum affords, and perhaps here less than elsewhere, for strange to say there is far more excitability of temper and disposition to be insubordinate among the female patients in the Limerick Asylum than in any other in the kingdom; still in no institution is coercion or seclusion less employed—in fact, only five were placed under any kind of restraint during the last nine months. Forty-seven males and 111 females have been on an average daily employed; £5,525 10*s.* 3*d.* was the total outlay of the Limerick District Asylum for the nine months last passed, or £18 18*s.* 10*d.* a head in the year. Incurable patients.

The asylum is kept in a most creditable state in every respect, notwithstanding its many drawbacks; and we have no hesitation in saying that when thinned, and thus an opportunity afforded for a better interior organization, due advantage will be taken of it by the Board, first among the effects of which will be throwing more light and air into the corridors on the basement story, and the total disuse of the cheerless flagged passages now employed as dining-rooms for some of the patients.

Last year, at the suggestion of the Inspectors, a line of cells both at the male and female sides of the house were thrown down, and two dormitories erected in their stead, by which room for sixteen additional beds was obtained. A chapel is about to be commenced, at an estimated cost of £800, with the approval of the Board of Control, and two supernumerary day-rooms are in contemplation, and which, no doubt, will be built under the same contract as the chapel. The farm of 30 acres attached to the institution is well and profitably managed, a large number of the patients being constantly occupied in its cultivation. Alterations and improvements.

An Order in Council was made for the detachment of Clare from Limerick, and for the erection of an asylum in the former county, at Ennis, nearly three years ago; but, as in the case of Donegal and Derry, from the opposition raised to it by the Board of Governors and the Grand Juries, not alone of Limerick city and county, but also of Clare itself, no action was taken for a considerable period on this order. Within the last twelve months, however, your Excellency, on a full reconsideration of the merits of the case, and on reports from the Inspectors and from the Commissioners of Control, finally decided on a separation of the two counties, and the formation of them into distinct districts, with a new asylum, as originally proposed. For this purpose forty-nine acres of land have been bought by the Commissioners of Control, near Ennis, the county town, at a cost of £3,610.

The Grand Jury, with the sanction of the Board of Control, selected an architect to prepare plans, &c., for a building capable of accommodating 260 patients, so that on their completion no impediment will exist to an undertaking, the necessity of which the Inspectors for the last six years omitted no opportunity of impressing on the Governors of the Limerick Asylum and the Grand Jurors of Clare, who we are sure, when the establishment is in operation, will fully coincide in the justice of our views, and recognise the advantages of having an institution for the insane of their own county alone, and under the control of a local Board.

LONDONDERRY.

LONDONDERRY.

Insufficient accommodation.

The Derry District Asylum has for a series of years continued in the same overcrowded state as at present, no lunatic institution in the kingdom having had, proportionally, more applicants for admission into it. Originally constructed for 104 patients, and intended to meet the wants of the three counties of Londonderry, Tyrone, and Donegal, with an aggregate population of over 700,000 souls, it became so thronged within a very short period after its opening that, to meet urgent cases, apartments previously allocated to other purposes were converted into day-rooms and dormitories. For the last twenty years no addition of any kind, it may be said, has been made to the buildings; hence the Inspectors, since their appointment, have never ceased to urge in every mode at their command the necessity of increased accommodation. Their object was in part effected by a sort of instalment, through the separation of Tyrone from the district in 1854, when matters being practically, so far as the two remaining counties, little improved, we proposed the erection of a new asylum in Donegal. The question lay in abeyance for a few years, in consequence of a strong opposition to our views, not only on the part of the Governors of the Asylum and Grand Jury of Londonderry, but of a large and influential section of the Donegal gentry, who, while frankly acceding to the expediency of an enlarged provision for the insane poor of the district, thought it could be efficiently and much more economically secured by adding to the existing asylum. It is unnecessary to recall your Excellency's attention to the lengthened correspondence between this office and the local authorities, to the reports we submitted to the Executive, or to the more recent interviews with which you were pleased to favour deputations from Donegal and Derry. A division of the district, and the erection of a separate asylum for the accommodation of 300 patients at Letterkenny, for the county of Donegal, having been ordered in Council, the site has been already selected on a farm of forty-six acres, purchased at a cost of £3,099 by the Board of Control, sections of the land have been made, plans prepared, &c., so that by April next the buildings will, we trust, be in progress; and we make no doubt that even those most at issue with us as to the mode of effecting a common object, will in the end approve of the one sanctioned, after a full and dispassionate consideration by the Executive.

New Asylum for Donegal.

Workhouses as receptacles for lunatics.

Meanwhile the Governors of the Derry Asylum have not been unmindful to secure, as far as lay in their power, some suitable provision for the lunatics of the two counties, until such time as the new establishment shall have been completed. After discussing the subject at three different meetings specially held for the purpose, and at which one of the Inspectors attended, they applied to the Poor Law Commissioners for a portion of one of the workhouses in the district, which, if given, they undertook to furnish, and wherein they would support the insane poor out of the regular asylum funds advanced by the Treasury. The workhouse which seemed to be most suited to the object was that at Newtownlimavady, having fourteen acres of ground attached to it, and being only eight miles from Derry. The actual pauper residents at the time were ninety-six, while there was room for 600. But the Commissioners thought they could neither consistently nor legally accede to the proposition of the Board. They offered, however, to assist the Governors in their views, by procuring in each workhouse connected with the district, fourteen in all, all the accommodation they could for lunatics belonging properly to the immediate union, and who might be removed from the asylum. Were it attainable, we should, for various reasons, have far preferred the temporary occupation of part of one workhouse for all, than their division in different houses—some of them, too, without the boundaries of Donegal and Derry. Furthermore, we apprehend that the Guardians generally will object to the reception of insane patients, no matter how tranquil or inoffensive, into their unions, under the mistaken idea that because a party is charged to the county at large when in an asylum, the union rates are diminished, forgetful that one electoral district balances another throughout the whole county. LONDONDERRY.

The number of inmates in the Derry Asylum was on the 31st December, 229; the admissions for the preceding nine months, 39; 21 left it cured, 3 convalescent. There were 10 deaths, being about 5 per cent. in the year. Thirty only can read and write well; 110 are wholly uneducated. The married and widowed count 50; the single, 179. Of the whole 31 are probably curable, a very limited proportion of cases, indeed, for the opportunity of successful treatment. Admissions, discharges, &c.

No accident of any kind occurred during the year. Two patients escaped, but were promptly retaken. The average daily number employed amounted to 98 males and 96 females. The total cost for nine months was £3,462 19*s.* 7*d.*, or at the rate of £20 6*s.* 9*d.* per head yearly.

The general condition of the Derry Asylum we have found satisfactory. The patients are carefully attended to, well clad, and in every respect have their comfort duly regarded. The house itself is not in good repair, the flooring, woodwork, and stairs in some divisions stand in great need of renovation. There exists a marked want of lavatories, bath-rooms, and water-closets—a want to which we have frequently alluded in our local reports and at the Board, and which, it is but right to add, the Governors themselves are anxious to remedy; but, as in Carlow, with a very overcrowded house, nothing efficient can be undertaken. General management.

We should not be surprised if the question originated ere long among the Governors themselves—whether—regarding the great advance in the value of land adjoining the rising and already important city of Derry, and the position of the asylum, with a farm of twenty-four acres lying almost under its walls, and in a seaward line, it would not be more advisable to sell the whole premises, and with the product thereof erect a new establishment in a more rural and retired situation; thus avoiding a fresh expenditure in repairing and enlarging ill-adapted buildings, now over forty years in existence. Were we asked for an opinion by the Board of Governors, we certainly should recommend a change of site, as being under all circumstances the more advisable. Change of site advisable.

MARYBOROUGH.

MARYBOROUGH.

The Asylum at Maryborough, now confined to the King's and Queen's Counties (Longford being detached from the original district), accommodates 187 patients, its number on the 31st December. No alteration, we may say, has taken place in the structure itself, or any addition to the grounds belonging to it, since its occupation in 1833; neither has the interior undergone any marked changes beyond the conversion, as at Carlow and Derry, of rooms intended for other purposes—workshops, stores, and the like—into dormitories; and from the same cause—the pressure of applicants for admission—the original accommodation being much below the demand on it. The establishment at large is kept in good order, and with a due regard to cleanliness, warmth, and ventilation. The patients are comfortable, well clad, and the dietary afforded them, though, so far as animal food is in question, not so liberal as in many other District Asylums, is amply sufficient as to quantity. State of buildings.

This institution is not large enough for the wants of the district, a circumstance of which the Grand Jury of the King's County is now fully cognizant, for by resolutions passed at the last Summer Assizes it addressed the Executive on the subject; and we have recommended its enlargement by sixty beds, at the same time suggesting other improvements; but particularly the construction of an infirmary, bath-rooms, lavatories, &c. We consider it further highly advisable that from ten to fourteen additional acres should be purchased for the fuller employment of the patients. Proposed additions.

The number of lunatics admitted into the Maryborough Asylum for the last nine months amounted to 36; 13 were discharged cured, and 7 improved; 3 were taken home by their friends still insane. The deaths were 11; none of them from accident. There was no escape. The uneducated are comparatively small in this establishment, being little more than a fourth of the whole; the married and widowed, 47; the single, 137. Statistics of Asylum.

The probably curable are as near as possible one-half of the inmates. Seclusion only is used as a mode of restraint. With regard to means of amusement, as well as objects in the way of ornament or decorations to break the monotonous appearance of the corridors and day-rooms, this institution still continues to be deficient. Those disposed to read, and who it must be said are very few, are supplied with light periodicals. Fifty- Absence of means of amusement.

MARYBOROUGH.

three males and eighty-three females constitute the average daily employed; £3,058 has been the total outlay for nine months, or at the rate of £21 per head per annum. The attendance of the Governors is regular, averaging from four to five at each Board. Our visits of inspection to it have been four in the nine months just elapsed. On the whole, we feel we can report to your Excellency favourably of this asylum, and of its management; and we cannot discover any legitimate reason why, with a little discretion, forbearance, and good taste, so necessary in all the relations of life, on the part of those who profess to be most interested in its welfare and good name, it should not have hitherto progressed as quietly as other similar establishments in this country.

MULLINGAR.

MULLINGAR.

The District Asylum for the three counties of Meath, Westmeath, and Longford, and situated close to the town of Mullingar, was constructed in 1854 for the reception of 300 inmates. On the 31st December it contained within twenty-two of its full number. This asylum has much of architectural pretension, is of the Tudor style, and built of cut stone. The grounds around it are well-farmed, and tastefully laid down. The interior is kept with uniform neatness, and the patients themselves carefully looked after in every respect. A considerable sum was granted after the occupation of the buildings by the Treasury to make good defects in them, of which over £600 were expended in remedying dampness, more particularly in their front or southern aspect. We regret, however, to state that, the dampness still continues, although not to the same extent; to guard against which and the possibility of dry rot in the timber, especially of the corridors, we trust the Board of Governors will take precaution in the course of the coming summer.

Condition of building.

Damp.

Water supply.

The supply of water here for a considerable period had been limited; but latterly the pump machinery connected with the well has been remodelled, and a sufficient quantity is now conveyed to all parts of the house by horse-power. The water itself is very hard, and leaves a heavy calcareous deposit; great attention is therefore at all times required to be paid to the state of the tubes and boilers, as the rain tanks are soon emptied in dry weather. Notwithstanding that the existing spring is ample for all domestic purposes, in order to obviate any contingency we have suggested the utility of sinking another pump in the yard adjoining the laundry.

Want of gas.

Like the Maryborough, the Mullingar Asylum is not as yet lighted with gas, its distance from the meter in the town, fully a mile off, and the consequent expense of such a long tubing, has hitherto prevented its introduction; but we trust some satisfactory arrangements will ere long be made by the Governors with the company, or if not that a small gasometer will be erected within the premises.

Probable necessity for separation of district.

Up to the present the asylum has been sufficient for the district; but we think an infirmary will be immediately required, as a division of the house, hitherto employed for hospital purposes, is now being occupied by ordinary patients. The area of the three important counties of Meath, Westmeath, and Longford, is very great, with a population between them of over 326,000, so that, at no distant period, some modification of the district will probably be required. If so, it might be best effected by the detachment of the first-named, and its association with Louth.

Admissions, discharges, and deaths.

The number of patients admitted during the nine months ended 31st December was 69; 27 were discharged cured, 2 improved, and 1 unimproved. The total deaths during the same period were 14, of which 2 were accidental; the first was that of a male lunatic, who was drowned by falling into the well when being repaired; a coroner's inquest was held, and the verdict given—"accidental, without blame to any person." The second was in the case of a female, whose clothes caught fire in the day-room; the attendant in charge at once attempted to extinguish it, and burned herself severely. The patient died of the effects in the course of a few days. On this, too, a coroner's inquest was held, and a verdict of merely accidental was recorded.

Seventy-eight are entered as illiterate; 69, married and widowed; and 203, single; and of the total under treatment, viz., 278, 75 alone were probably curable on the 31st December. One patient, a male, escaped. Fifty-one males and seventy-eight females were daily employed in various ways on an average during the past nine months. Muffs alone were used as a means of restraint on four occasions, and seclusion on thirteen. Indoor amusements, though not neglected, are less varied than they might be, so we are desirous of establishing a band of music in this institution. Newspapers and periodicals are supplied to those who take any gratification in their perusal. The attendance of Governors at the monthly Board is regular, and from four to five constitute the average present. Our visits to the Mullingar Asylum, have been five in the past nine months, and on each occasion we found it in the same satisfactory condition.

Deficiency of means of amusement.

OMAGH.

Statistical Returns.

The Omagh District Asylum, for the counties of Fermanagh and Tyrone, having between them 340,000 inhabitants, contained on the 1st April 275 patients, and on the 31st December it accommodated 301; 110 having been admitted in the interval, during which time 38 were discharged cured and 13 relieved; 25 died—one from accident, an epileptic, who was suffocated, while at table, in the act of swallowing a mouthful of animal food. Of the 301 now in asylum 121 are more or less educated; 212 are unmarried; the probably curable amount to 75; the remaining offer little or no hope of recovery; 59 males and 58 females constituted the daily average actively employed. In the nine months referred to, we are happy to state, that one patient only escaped, and then only for a few hours, whereas in our last report we made a return of 28 escapes, or attempts thereat, by different parties in the course of two years. These frequent occurrences were attributed by the Resident Medical Superintendent to the insecure state of the boundary adjoining, a shallow river running along the west side of the grounds, and to a want of constant and proper watchfulness on the part of the attendants. The subject was brought officially under the notice of the Board at its meeting on the 10th January, '61, and the result was that the fences were repaired, and fine or dismissal awarded as a punishment to any servant through whose neglect a lunatic should be found to escape. As might be expected from its recent erection, with the exception of its being generally repointed, the cost of which was partly liquidated by a Treasury allowance, nothing of a structural character has been carried out in the asylum. Gas has been latterly conveyed into it from Omagh, nearly two miles distant; its substitution for oil and candles has been found very satisfactory, as thereby the whole interior of the house, of large and massive extent, is rendered much more cheerful, while the absolute charge for lighting is little if at all increased above what it had formerly been. The tubing and fitments cost a sum of £240, and was debited to the current account.

Fuel.

Another change for the better has also taken place in the domestic economy of the institution, from the use of coal as a general article of fuel, instead of turf. Independent of cleanliness, a superior heating power, and other advantages, the former is found on the whole to be the cheaper and of the two the more certain of supply, although there is a large turbary adjacent, whereas coals have to be carried from the port of Derry, fully sixty miles distant. The infirmary, a detached building, and in which the gardener previously lived, is now being occupied by patients. Until the body of the house itself was filled a portion of the general wards were appropriated to the sick and infirm, in order to save the expense of additional attendants.

Asylum grounds too limited in extent.

The grounds in front of the asylum are tastefully planted, and formed into terraces commanding an extensive mountain prospect. The farm (twenty-seven acres) belonging to the institution, but of which eighteen only are available for agriculture, is not in our opinion sufficiently large. We recommended the purchase of about twenty acres in addition for dairy purposes, and by which we calculated an ample supply of the best milk could be obtained at all times, and at a cost much less than that paid, too frequently, for an inferior article, particularly in summer, when it has to be brought in cans from five to six miles from some of the contractors. The item for milk alone amounts annually to about £600. The Governors, however, are averse from incurring a fresh outlay by way of purchase on an establishment they deem too expensive already.

Unfounded charge of neglect against the Medical Superintendent.

At the June meeting of the Board the Protestant Chaplain complained that one of the attendants, who died of fever in the preceding month, had been neglected during his illness by the Resident Physician. The Governors present inquired at once into the statement, and came to a different conclusion. Subsequently the question was referred by them to us for investigation, when we visited the asylum and examined witnesses on oath. So far from any want of attention on the part of the Resident Physician, it was proved that both he and his family were unremitting in their kindness to the patient all through his illness, and that the complainant had scarcely afforded himself an opportunity of speaking from his own personal observation. Five of the Governors favoured us with their presence on the occasion, and with their approval, the Chaplain having made a suitable acknowledgment for the error he had been led into on hearsay, we took no further action in the matter.

General management.

Of the general management of the Omagh Asylum, and of its great utility to a large and important district, but ill-provided before with accommodation for its lunatic poor, we have reason to report in favourable terms. From year to year perceptible improvements are taking place in it, whether as tending to a better system of treatment, or to enlarged facilities for the occupation, amusement, and social advancement of its inmates. A full and highly influential Board regularly meets in each month for transacting the fiscal and general business of the institution. The total cost of maintenance of the Omagh Asylum for nine months was £4,111 4*s.* 7*d.*, being at the rate of £18 18*s.* per head per annum.

RICHMOND.

RICHMOND.

Insufficient for District.

The Richmond, or metropolitan, the largest Asylum in Ireland, belongs to a district comprising the city and county of Dublin, and the counties of Louth and Wicklow. It contained altogether 676 patients on the 31st December, and for many years has been unequal to meet the demand on it, although the lunatics belonging to Meath, who had been formerly in it, were removed to Mullingar on the opening of the asylum there in 1854. The want of accommodation for the insane poor of this district is made painfully apparent by the state of its prisons, in which are no less than 108 dangerous lunatics.

Methods of securing additional accommodation.

In our last Report we referred to the exigency of the case, and the necessity of effecting a suitable asylum provision, and which can be best secured in one of the three following modes: by the erection of a building in juxtaposition to the existing one for chronic and demented patients,—by establishing an auxiliary asylum on the confines of the county Wicklow, portions of which are very distant from the present institution; or by a subdivision of the district, which latter, if decided on, would be best obtained by the detachment of Louth, and the formation of a new district, comprising the two counties of Meath and Louth, which lie for a considerable extent in apposition to each other; if so, Louth will have to be repaid its equitable claims by Dublin and Wicklow. For some time the number of lunatics made chargeable to city rates, in consequence of their transference to the Richmond, under warrant of the Lord Lieutenant, has been a source of much discussion before the Corporation. There can be no doubt that the committals of insane strangers to the prisons of Dublin are much more numerous than obtains elsewhere, and that pro tanto an increased taxation is the result. Certain it is that taking the absolute population of the metropolis, and the aggregate of insane of all classes chargeable to it in asylum, poorhouses, and gaols, it is in a marked excess, but by no means to the extent set forth by a deputation which, in November, had a conference with the Chief Secretary on that immediate subject, as well as on some others connected with the Richmond Asylum. As Sir Robert Peel promised he would take the subject into consideration, we refrain from any further reference to it at present.

Admissions, discharges,&c.

The patients admitted into the Richmond in the preceding nine months amounted to 114, of whom no less than 51 were by warrant of the Lord Lieutenant from prison; 42 left it recovered, 14 improved, and 4 unimproved; 32 died from natural causes, being at the yearly rate of 6½ per cent. No death was accidental. Three escaped, but were all quickly retaken. Of the whole 676, 106 cannot read or write, which is a less proportion of illiterate than is to be found in most other of our asylums, a fact in part attributable to the classes established in it under regular teachers, the daily average of attendants at which are 96. The number of the married here—172—bears, too, about the same proportion to that of the single—447—as it does elsewhere. The probably curable amount to 102, or little more than a seventh of those under treatment; 186 has been the daily average of males, and 244 that of females industriously employed. Seclusion, it may be said, is the only form of restraint used in this large asylum. On thirty-seven occasions only has recourse been had to muffs, and always for men.

Seclusion as a means of restraint.

Amusements.

Means of amusement are liberally supplied—cards, bagatelle-tables, draughts, music, singing, foot-ball, hand-balet, &c. There is a library with various periodicals and weekly journals at this asylum, and on each Monday evening from 100 to 140 of the male and female patients, with their attendants, join in dancing.

Improvements effected in Asylums.

Within the last four years this institution has, in many respects, been most materially improved, and various beneficial changes have been effected in its management by the resident Medical Superintendent. We think, however, that instead of being inferior, as it certainly is, to some District Asylums, in regard to a uniform neatness and the personal appearance not alone of a portion of the patients but also of the attendants, it should, as a metropolitan establishment, be superior to them all.

Expenditure.

The total expenditure for the Richmond Asylum in nine months was £13,754 11*s.*, of which £2,318 16*s.* 10*d.* was for repairs and alterations, as well as renovating the bedding and furniture, principally in the old building, which contains 420 patients. The superannuation pensions are much heavier here than elsewhere, it being the longest (over fifty years) in operation, consequently having more retired officers and servants. The salaries of officers and wages of servants, if taken and divided over the aggregate of patients, is less considerably on an average than in other asylums, being under £3 17*s.* per head per annum. The larger the number of inmates inversely should, no doubt, as a rule, be the cost of a staff; but it should be remembered that under the name Richmond two separate asylums are in operation, a quarter of a mile distant from each other, and having distinct officers and servants. Further, the infirmaries, containing sixty patients, are detached buildings lying between both. We believe the dietary at this institution, if not superior, is certainly equal to any in either kingdom.

We have referred to repairs and alterations at the Richmond Asylum; they had been going on in detail for the past two years, and are now nearly completed. They consist in certain improvements which were much needed in the apartments of the Medical Superintendent and of other resident officers, but principally in opening out the buildings, thereby increasing the supply of light and air in more spacious corridors; cells and narrow passages have been converted into ample day, work, and recreation rooms; on the second floor, amongst others, the school or main room, sixty feet long, twenty-two wide, and thirteen high; and on the ground floor a dining-hall of the same dimensions were constructed; at the same time that sleeping accommodation, by an increase of thirty-two beds, has been obtained; the sewerage, too, had to be reconstructed, and at a very considerable depth in front of the main buildings: all of which was undertaken with the full approbation of the Governors, and the estimated expenditure and absolute outlay submitted by the Inspectors for the sanction of your Excellency in Council. The increased population of the Richmond, altogether amounting to over 800 persons, rendered the chapel originally constructed in it too small for the two religious denominations of Protestant and Roman Catholic, particularly as it was divided into distinct compartments, and not used in common, neither was large enough for its object. As both the Chaplains and the Board of Governors were unanimous in opinion that a second place of worship of smaller dimensions should be erected for the Protestant congregation, the matter was referred to our office for report. The subject lay in abeyance for over a year, when on a second application from the local authorities, plans were prepared by order of Government and submitted to the Board of Control. The new edifice, of cut stone, similar to the first, has been just completed, and like it, too, lies about midway between the two asylums—the only direct communication between which, we regret to say, is very inconvenient, being effected by a low and narrow tunnel (under a high road separating their respective grounds), and not passable for vehicles.

Richmond.

Nature of improvements effected.

New place of worship.

If any additional accommodation is to be prepared for the insane poor of the district at the Richmond itself, or, indeed, in any case, we think that from eight to ten acres lying in front of the existing buildings should be purchased; for if occupied by houses, the privacy and openness of the whole institution would be materially affected.

The Board of Governors, though not a numerous one, meets regularly once in the fortnight, and devotes much time and an unceasing attention to the fiscal and general details of the asylum.

Board meetings.

SLIGO.

Sligo.

On the 31st March there were 175 patients in the Sligo Asylum, and on the 31st December last, 185, its full accommodation being for 260. During the nine intervening months 54 were admitted; 22 left recovered, 4 convalescent, and 3 unimproved. The deaths from natural causes were 14. One lunatic escaped. As to the educational and social condition of the inmates, 16 could read and write well; 69 indifferently; the rest were uneducated. The married and widowed amounted to 58, the unmarried to 127. The very small number of 37 out of 185 represents the probably curable. Eight patients paid for maintenance, but not above the average cost. Considering the population of the two counties of Leitrim and Sligo, forming the district, 230,000 souls, and the length of time (seven years) that the asylum has been open, the slight pressure on it, seventy-five vacancies being available, contrast forcibly with what is observable in other establishments, which under a similar ratio of accommodation as to inhabitants, are already filled, or nearly so. We believe the explanation to be simply this, that not only the remoteness of parts of Leitrim, but the difficulty of access from thence to the asylum, interferes with the conveyance of lunatics to the institution, except in the instance of those who, being committed as dangerous to the county prison, are transmitted by the gaol authorities a distance of nearly thirty miles. In corroboration of our opinion we would observe that on the 1st of January there were 124 lunatics in the Asylum belonging to Sligo, with a population of 125,000, while Leitrim, with one of 105,000, had only 60, or little more than one-half in proportion to the inmates from Sligo. Four patients attempted to escape, getting over the boundary walls, which are rather low at one side of the farm; three of them were immediately retaken; but the fourth unfortunately was drowned in crossing a river that lay directly on his way home.

Vacant accommodation.

Explanation thereof.

Fatal attempt at escape.

He had been in the infirmary for some time before, and latterly when in bed was in the habit of concealing himself under the clothes—no doubt for an ulterior object. On the night he escaped, after putting a large pillow between the sheets, and covering it up in the same manner as he used do himself, he lay concealed in the bath-room. The attendant in charge, not suspecting any deception, on his lock-up visit closed the door of the dormitory as usual. Early next morning the patient was missed; two keepers were immediately sent to his home, about eight miles distant; search was made, and in the evening the body was found. The day after, a coroner's inquest was held at the asylum, five magistrates of the county (two of them Governors) attended, when a verdict of accidental death, and without blame to any person, was returned.

Relationship between the insane in this asylum is rather prevalent, sixteen being in close affinity to each other.

Expenditure.

The entire outlay for the nine months was £3,228 8*s.* 8*d.*, the cost of each patient in the year being at the rate of £22. The employed averaged daily 60 males and 58 females,—the former being principally occupied on the farm, under the care of a land steward, or on the pleasure-grounds immediately about the house. Seclusion in single rooms is solely employed as a means of control, no mechanical restraint being ever used.

Amusements.

In no asylum do we find amusements in the way of music, dancing, ball-playing, &c., &c., more encouraged than at the Sligo, which is maintained in a very orderly manner; the inmates are well clad and appear to have their creature-comforts liberally supplied under the influential Board of Governors that controls the establishment.

Waterford.

WATERFORD.

This is the only institution of the kind which, from the period of its erection (1835), has been found, it may be said, adequate to meet the demands on it from a district comprising the city and county of the name, and containing 134,000 inhabitants. It is capable of accommodating 142 patients, the average number in it for the last eight years being 126. On the 31st December it contained more than at any preceding date, viz., 137.

The uncrowded condition of this asylum is owing in great measure to the fact that chronic cases, or at least that portion of them merging into idiocy, are drafted off to the adjacent poorhouse, which belongs to the most populous union of the district, to be replaced by more acute ones from the same electoral divisions.

Admissions, discharges, &c.

The admissions during the nine months were 53; 20 were discharged cured, and ten removed by their friends as convalescent. The last-named, being at the rate of 6 per cent. on the total under treatment, would appear to be proportionally greater from the Waterford than from any other of our asylums; 4 died from natural causes, none from accident; 65 are quite illiterate; 70 are more or less educated; 54 of the total inmates are probably curable, and 81 incurable; on a daily average, 20 men are employed at work, and 35 females. There seems, comparatively speaking, less employment among the male patients in this establishment than elsewhere—a fact which we have brought under the notice of the local Board.

Want of infirmary accommodation, and of baths, lavatories, &c.

The sanitary condition of the Waterford Asylum has been hitherto very favourable, not, but that the addition of an infirmary to it is most necessary, as well as other appurtenances at present wanting—baths, lavatories, water-closets, &c. To the expediency of their construction we directed the attention of the Board fully ten years ago, in a special record on the books of the institution, and similarly again in 1856, besides frequently doing so at local meetings. The committee of the County Grand Jury, in 1858, made a minute corroborative of our recommendation, on which occasion the mode of carrying out these improvements was pointed out by the Inspectors, viz., by application to the Commissioners of the Board of Works, with whom all arrangements connected with structural enlargements or alterations rested at the time.

On the formation of the Board of Control, plans for the purpose were forwarded from it to the Committee of Governors, and which were generally approved of by the latter; but when the preliminary steps were about to be taken, the Governors thought it more advisable to adopt a more comprehensive scheme, previously suggested by the Proposed additions.

Inspectors, viz., to do all that was required at once, and not confine operations simply to an infirmary, but to erect a chapel, dining-hall, and at the same time improve the day-rooms, laundry, kitchen, &c. They accordingly employed an architect, who prepared the necessary plans. These plans were forwarded to the Board of Control; but before they could be fully examined and decided on, the Governors at their next subsequent meeting determined on confining themselves to their original intentions, which they calculated by certain modifications could be carried out at a cost of about £1,200, instead of paying £5,000 for far more general and efficient alterations and additions. The subject matter was fully discussed at a special meeting, at which one of the Inspectors was requested to attend. An influential member of the Board, who takes a great interest in the well-working of asylums generally, proposed extensive and beneficial improvements, but the majority was opposed to his suggestions, from an apprehension of the large expense which their adoption would entail. The smaller plans are now before the architect of the Board of Control, and on his approval of them, the necessary steps will be at once taken to carry them into effect. We cannot but express our regret that so much unnecessary delays should have taken place in this matter; the recommendation originating with the Inspectors might long since have been acted on but for the indecision of the Governors, hesitating between a more comprehensive scheme and one of a minor character; the plans now under examination, as made by a local architect, are almost the same as what were proposed nearly four years ago by the Board of Works: thus, a loss of time and of money has been the result. WATERFORD.

Having thus brought under the notice of your Excellency the individual condition of each of the District Asylums in this country, and referred to certain matters pertaining to their general management, we shall now endeavour to take a brief survey of them collectively, and of their efficiency in advancing the humane objects for which, as national institutions, they were erected, and have since continued to be maintained at a large public expenditure. DISTRICT LUNATIC ASYLUMS.

That a progressive and marked improvement has steadily taken place in District Establishments for the insane is undeniable, both in regard to the comfort and attention bestowed upon their inmates, and the successful treatment adopted in them. Progressive improvement of Asylums.

The willing disposition of local Boards to carry out, within what appears to them proper bounds, any suggestions tending to the good of the insane poor of all denominations, needs no comment on our part. Neither is it necessary for us to refer to the now prevalent wish among the wealthier classes in the community, that suitable accommodation should be prepared for a section of their fellow-creatures, who, they feel, have peculiar claims on their benevolence.

Our present object is simply to place before your Excellency the results of the working of District Hospitals for the insane, and in doing so, we can, perhaps, best elucidate the subject by the comparison of them, past and present, with themselves, and with similar institutions elsewhere.

First.—Then, as to cures, in regard to which, we venture to say, that Irish Asylums have heretofore held a prominent place. The recoveries in them, if we are to judge from official records, being more numerous than have occurred in other countries, no matter how tested—whether by admissions, the daily averages, or the total under treatment, for any definite period. Analysing the returns on these heads for the last nine months, we find the cures proportionally for the time greater than on previous occasions, amounting on 921 admissions to 450, or 49 per cent., and on the daily average (4,348) under treatment, to 13·8 per cent. In our last report the absolute recoveries for the preceding biennial period on admissions appears as 46·71, or two under the present; and on the average then under treatment, 14, about the same as now. Results of treatment.

Secondly.—Referring to parties discharged as being convalescent, viz., 103, and 40 as uncured, making an aggregate of 143, it would appear that of the total received, 921, 160 had been through re-admissions, but not necessarily of individuals discharged within the nine months. On this point we wish to be as explicit as possible, for if they (the 160) formed part of the 450 already referred to as recovered, there would be reason to question the reality of the cures. These re-admissions, however, are, for the most part, made up of cases belonging to more distant periods, and which, after long intervals of health, sometimes of as many as from eight to ten years, were obliged, from the recurrence of insanity, to seek hospital treatment again. Indeed we have reason to believe that no inconsiderable portion, probably a thirteenth or fourteenth of the inmates of the asylums in this country, consists of relapsed patients. Relapsed cases.

We cannot institute any comparison between Irish Asylums and those in England, France, or elsewhere, on the proportion of primary admissions to readmissions, inasmuch as in all other governmental returns both are grouped without distinction as to the their relative numbers under the one heading. With us, each is not only given separately, but the different occasions on which the lunatics may have been previously confined. This system we have adopted as being the most definite and satisfactory in affording information with regard to the liability of relapses in insanity; and, so far as we can form an opinion, fully three-fourths of them would be found immediately referable to dissipation or destitution, particularly if there existed a family predisposition to mental disease. Readmissions.

Thirdly.—As to deaths. An English writer of great practical experience, and well versed in the statistics of lunacy, lays it down that a mortality under 8 per cent. bespeaks a very favourable state of things; if so, Irish asylums are particularly fortunate; for assuming 8 to be represented by 100, the mortality in them would be at the annual rate of 82 on Mortality in Irish Asylums.

DISTRICT LUNATIC ASYLUMS.

the daily averages, and 70 on the total under treatment. It is a source of regret, that even one among the deaths should be referrible to accident or suicide. In the foregoing pages of this report we gave the details of four produced by the former, and one from the latter cause; but when it is remembered that 249 were transferred in the nine months just elapsed from prison as dangerous to themselves or others, independent of those already in asylum under similar circumstances, and that an aggregate of 5,210 of all classes were under treatment, the number of such deaths, five, will not be surprising;—still less so, if we advert to the suicides in the arrondisement of the Seine, where, it would appear, that one in every 2,600 of the male population at large dies by his own hand.

Escapes.

Fourthly.—On the subject of escapes or attempts to escape, we can form no comparison between our District Asylums and those in other countries, as in the latter they are not officially recorded, possibly it may be they do not occur. During the past nine months four effected a permanent escape, that is, found their way home and were detained there; and sixteen got over the boundaries, but were retaken by the attendants, and brought back by them;—the longest absent being twenty-four hours. In one instance, that at Sligo, already detailed, the patient lost his life, as it is presumed, from accident.

Social condition.

The disproportion between the single and married, the former amounting to 2,984, the latter to 1,243, must at first sight seem extraordinary; but the difference is explicable by the fact, that independent of the larger ratio of the unmarried in society at large, insanity is a disease of early much more than of advanced life; while among the single the hereditary taint, when it exists, is more likely to be brought into action by intemperance and continued habits of dissipation.

Educational condition.

Our object in introducing the educational condition of the inmates of the different District Asylums, and in which the illiterate more than double those who have received a fair amount of education, was to exhibit their previous social position, and to show the beneficial working of these institutions in producing habits of order, neatness, and even some approach to refinement among the insane classes; while the number daily employed in and out of doors serves to prove the encouragement given to industrial occupations. On this latter head, however, we feel satisfied that great room for improvement still exists, and that suitable occupations could be devised for a much greater proportion of patients than at present; for nothing can be more injurious to the insane themselves than idleness, and that listless mode of existence, particularly within doors, which we regret to observe is too much tolerated. In the absence of industrial employment, pastimes ought to be more generally provided.

Occupation of patients.

School classes.

In our last Report we stated our intention to apply to the Commissioners of National Education for the means of establishing classes in Irish District Asylums. We have since done so, and are happy to state, that the proposition was cordially assented to. This is a step in advance; and though for obvious reasons it cannot be expected that much success will attend any system of tuition in lunatic asylums, still, the mind is thereby more or less engaged and diverted from the one continuous train of thought.

When stating the condition of each District Asylum, in none of them did we omit to mention the proportions which the incurable bore to the curable, viz., 3,265 to 1,123—a question at once presents itself: Is regular asylum accommodation required for every incurable? We think not; for while all need supervision, that supervision is not necessarily limited to the precincts of an hospital duly constituted for the treatment of insanity; neither, on the other hand, is the lunatic, however tranquil, amenable, and hopelessly demented he may seem in an asylum, at all times a fit object to be removed from it. Each case must be examined on its own peculiar merits.

Chronic cases.

The consideration of how chronic patients should be dealt with, is one of considerable importance in a social and fiscal point of view.

It is quite clear that not only the institutions about to be enlarged, but those about to be erected, will be filled, like most of those already established, after the lapse of a few years. The insane are an accumulative community, composed of various classes. There are now in asylums, and will be so, until some counteracting arrangement be arrived at, aged imbecile lunatics, of enervated frame, who have sunk into a state of fatuity, and harmless idiots, beyond the influence of any tuition, whose room might be better filled by more urgent or hopeful applicants, without detriment to the displaced, if the creature comforts of life, and a kindly attendance, were afforded them as before. We cannot fix the exact per centage of these parties, but from personal observation, we apprehend it might be set down as between ten and twelve per cent., one asylum with another. Thus, for example, at Killarney, there would probably be found about twenty of its inmates fit objects for transference from the regular wards of that institution to a less organized, but still not unsuitable, establishment.

District Lunatic Asylums.

Dietary.

When dwelling on the individual condition of District Asylums we referred to the dietary provided for their inmates, which, generally speaking, is both nutritious and plentiful, and in some, we should say, fully equal, if not superior, to that given in similar establishments in the sister country. On our different inspections, we particularly examine into the quality of all articles of food, and have generally found it to be good. Milk, which is very much used, requires to be specially looked after at all times, to prevent its being watered or adulterated. We think it a mistake to accept the lowest tender for meat—an article which we have noticed as being more frequently of inferior quality than any other, in consequence of the small price paid for it; however, as in future all contracts for supplies are to be forwarded to our office for examination and approval, we shall not fail to communicate when expedient with local authorities on the subject.

Audit of accounts.

The Audit Commissioners, as usual, rigidly investigate the expenditure, monthly, transmitted to them from the various Boards of Governors. Hitherto a considerable interval, and one attended with great inconvenience, occasionally elapsed between the receipt and passing of accounts, but the practice is now much more prompt and satisfactory. We trust, too, in the course of the ensuing year, to have established, in accordance with the wishes of the Chief Secretary, a still more uniform system of book-keeping than the one at present in use.

Discipline among attendants.

Gratifying as it may be to us to report thus favourably of the general success of the district asylums of this country, it is equally so to feel we can bear testimony to the moral discipline which pervades them, and to a marked propriety of conduct among the attendants in all their domestic relations.

Investigation at Sligo Asylum.

During the nine months just elapsed we held three investigations where charges of harshness or violence had been preferred against keepers; for we make it a rule to examine personally, and on oath, into any complaints of a serious nature, when notified to us. The first inquiry took place at the Sligo Asylum, it being reported to our Office, by order of the local Board, that an attendant had maltreated a patient, by knocking him down in a moment of passion. The fact was proved, and though the offence was not premeditated, the party was dismissed, as a warning to other servants in the establishment.

And at Richmond Asylum.

The second was at the Richmond, or Metropolitan, Asylum; but as there were other extenuating circumstances, little or no actual violence displayed, and the attendant bore a good character, he was reprimanded and fined.

Treatment of patients by attendants.

Instances, now and then, similar to the preceding may occur, when, in the exercise of manual restraint or in self-defence against strong and dangerous lunatics, keepers have been charged with using too much force, or acting roughly; but fortunately in none, that we are aware of, has a deliberate act of cruelty been perpetrated against a patient. On the contrary, springing in great measure as they do from the same classes, and for the most part natives of the same district, we have been always struck with the kindly and familiar relationship existing in Irish asylums between their inmates, lunatics, and servants alike. This contingency, however, of irritation and excitement constitutes the principal argument advanced by the advocates of a mild mechanical restraint, as being, in the absence of proper means of seclusion, more safe and efficient than the employment of a continued personal coercion. As a rule it may be said that in our District Asylums neither is now had recourse to except on very urgent occasions.

Investigation at Ballymahon Workhouse.

The third cause of complaint submitted to us in regard to severity—or in this instance perhaps we should say, cruelty—was from the Poor Law Commissioners, and having reference to a party sent from one of the workhouses in the district to the Mullingar Asylum. This man, an imbecile, in consequence of his refusing to take food, was transferred to the asylum in the most neglected and unseemly condition. The Resident Physician at once reported thereon, and the Master of the workhouse was written to and remonstrated with for his gross inattention.

In a short time the patient being pronounced an unfit case for the asylum, was returned to the poorhouse, a man having been sent from it to convey him back in a common country cart. On the day of his arrival the Master entered after his name, "admitted, with ribs broken at the asylum." The Commissioners at once forwarded a copy of the entry to our office, and three days subsequently, notice having been given to the union authorities, one of the Inspectors went down to the poorhouse, when it appeared on inquiry—1st. That the patient during his residence in the asylum had been kindly and carefully attended to; 2. That no ribs had been broken at all; 3. That the Surgeon of the poorhouse had not been shown the entry referred to; 4. The Master on being sworn acknowledged that he not only made the entry from a misapprehension, but that on the man's complaining he had a pain in his side, he examined it, but could perceive no mark of bruise or injury. Whether this pain or soreness was attributable to the jolting against the wooden rim of the cart in which he sat for a journey of twenty miles, or to the pressure necessarily employed by the attendants in holding and feeding him against his efforts for a period of nearly three weeks, it was difficult to say. He never once complained of it in the asylum, and the last person whom he saw on leaving the institution was the Resident Physician, who wished him good-bye, and shook hands with him.

The notes of the investigation were forwarded to the Poor Law Commissioners, who, in a lengthened communication to the Guardians of the Union, animadverted strongly on the conduct of their officer, stating that a similar error should not be so leniently dealt with on any future occasion. The proceeding was also censured by the local Board.

We have been thus particular in this case, inasmuch as the public—and most justly too—is highly sensitive on all matters relating to the treatment of lunatics; and as heads of the department, we think asylums should be beyond all cavil or suspicion when humanity, be it ever so indirectly, is in question.

Revised "Rules and Regulations."

A code of rules for the management of District Asylums has, since the issue of our last Report, been framed and promulgated by an order in Council; though modified in part it is essentially the same as that submitted from the Board of Control. The principle of giving to Resident Superintendents their professional status is fully recognised, and to them the moral and general medical treatment of the insane is committed, as well as the domestic control of their several establishments—thus far closely approximating to the English system. A Visiting or Consulting Physician—an officer whose regular attendance we regard as of paramount utility—still continues to be attached to each District Asylum as before. We trust that these rules will be carried out by all parties directly interested in them, in the same spirit with which they were framed; if so they cannot fail of being beneficial to the insane poor, and by putting a stop to any previous cause of misunderstanding as to the respective duties of officers and servants, add to the general good name which our public lunatic institutions have so long maintained.

With enlarged duties fresh responsibilities are entailed, and we know no duties more onerous, more unceasing, or more irksome than those affixed to the Medical Superintendents of asylums. The Royal Commissioners of Inquiry, in their Report (1858), referred to the rather scant remuneration bestowed on the Physicians and attendents of Irish Asylums. Fully concurring in their views, we would further take advantage of the present opportunity to express our respectful appreciation of a like opinion pronounced by the Earl of Shaftesbury, Chairman of the English Lunacy Board, than whom, from his benevolence, none more disposed to take into consideration, and, from his experience, none more competent to appreciate the services of Medical Officers attached to public Asylums for the insane.

POORHOUSES.

Poorhouses.

Treatment of lunatics in Workhouses.

The poorhouses in this country have varied but little for the last four or five years in the number of their lunatic inmates; but as a general rule a better and more considerate system of treatment has been adopted in their regard, particularly in those unions—as, for example, in the North and South Dublin, the Limerick, Waterford, Kilkenny, Belfast, &c., &c., in which many of the insane classes happen to be maintained; a liberal dietary is allowed them, and in other respects, so far as the capabilities of these establishments admit of, their comforts are fairly attended to.

From the collective returns (163) before us, it appears that a very small proportion of those reported as being mentally affected are actually lunatic in the restricted acceptation of the term, the great majority being composed of imbeciles or epileptics.

Unsuitableness of accommodation in them.

In the correctness of these returns we concur from our own personal observation, having visited the workhouses already named, and very many others, not alone for the purpose of suggesting arrangements tending to the general benefit of all, but for the object of specially inquiring into the mental condition of each of their demented inmates. As we have already expressed our opinion as to the manner in which the insane classes in question should be provided for, and pointed out the unsuitable construction of workhouses as receptacles for no inconsiderable portion of them, not omitting to mention the deficiency of in-door means for classification, as well as of facilities for out-door occupation or amusement, we deem it unnecessary on the present occasion to trouble your Excellency with what would be but a simple reproduction from preceding Parliamentary Reports.

We are quite aware of the difficulties in which the question of suitably locating persons labouring under diseased manifestations of the mind in all their varied forms is involved, and of the large expense to which the community must be subjected, if regular asylum accommodation had to be provided for all, and which, furthermore, would be a useless one, inasmuch as for the major part of the idiotic, epileptic, and demented, it is only necessary to secure a due amount of care and of those comforts and enjoyments which they are capable of appreciating. The subject is one of considerable importance, requiring not alone a mature consideration in its details, but that discussion on the respective merits of suggestions which, just now, it might be premature to undertake.

GAOLS.

Since the date of our last Report we have, so far as lay in our power, disembarrassed gaols of dangerous lunatics; but the numbers still confined in them, from an almost daily replenishment, show that the relief, practically speaking, has been altogether inefficient, for instead of diminishing, committals to them appear to have increased within the last nine months; and, as a matter of course, in those districts where asylum accommodation is most needed, the accumulation of lunatics has become greater, as in the gaols of Down, Wexford, Dublin, Donegal—in fact, no stronger evidence can be afforded of the condition of a county in regard to provision for its insane poor, than the state of the prisons belonging to it. In some of them, no doubt very much reduced in the quantity of ordinary prisoners, the lunatics constitute nearly a fourth of the inmates, much to the dissatisfaction of the authorities, as they interfere so directly with discipline, particularly where the separate system is carried out; for the more perfect the organization, the greater would seem the disadvantages accruing to it from an intermixture of the sane and insane. Though detention in prison after a certain time may, as a rule, be considered to exercise a very deleterious influence over lunatics, it would still be a mistake to suppose that all committals must necessarily prove injurious to the committed—the reverse is by no means uncommon; neither should this fact be a matter of surprise, when it is remembered that as dissipation, exposure to excitement, and habits of intemperance, constitute no inconsiderable share of the immediate causes of insanity, the sudden interruption to them, caused by the control and isolation of a prison life, not unfrequently acts both promptly and efficaciously on the lunatic. It may also be observed that there are certain ingredients of success which some gaols may possess more largely than the crowded asylum of the district. The former is had recourse to on the first violent outbreak of the disease, while the patient himself, unless there be many of his class confined with him, has a greater intercourse with the sane.

Increase of committals.

Inconvenience attending system of committal.

Advantages.

We would thus account for the early cures effected in prison; so that, much as one may disapprove in very many cases of the mode of committal, it must be acknowledged there is some good mixed up with the evil, while under any circumstances, the lunatic who otherwise might be neglected, and possibly maltreated, finds a temporary refuge; so, until some adequate accommodation be established, gaols must be more or less had recourse to as affording, in urgent cases, an auxiliary provision for the insane. It would, no doubt, be much more satisfactory for the public service, did magistrates commit persons only to prison as violent or dangerous lunatics, who bonâ fide were so; but they adopt, as the Law Advisers of the Crown can fully corroborate, a very lax and culpable practice on many occasions in the mode of carrying out the provisions of the Act. The committals being directly transmitted to our office, in order that action may be taken on them, we are in a condition to say that on an average, one in every five or six, if not actually illegal, are irregular on some point or other, and thereon a lengthened correspondence commences. The truth is, magistrates frequently sign warrants of committal without seeing, as they are bound, the alleged lunatic, or making that strict inquiry which ought never be omitted into the antecedents of each case.

Inattention of magistrates to the provisions of the Act.

Hence parties, when they become troublesome at home, from old age, bad temper, physical infirmities, and the like, find their way into prisons, provided that being unsettled in their minds, relatives may depose to their insanity. Governors of gaols cannot or do not like to question magisterial authority, and so, as a matter of course, these individuals, no matter how tranquil or reasonable they may appear, are received by them as dangerous lunatics. We not unfrequently have found persons so committed, turned of sixty or seventy years of age, half blind, decrepit, and in their dotages; and it has happened that some have been actually brought in a dying state, and under very painful circumstances, to gaol, as being dangerous to themselves or others. We do all we can to check the abuses of the Act which, if correctly administered, and with discrimination, we consider calculated as a temporary safeguard for the protection of society, as well as of the unhappy individuals themselves. Faulty though the results may be, and will continue to be through inattention on the part of those whose duty it is to carry out the Law in its true spirit, human life should not be imperilled by the abrogation of one statute till we have the means of guarding it through the operations of another.

Class of persons committed.

Principle not altogether objectionable.

If the party is a pauper maniac, clearly evincing dangerous and uncontrollable propensities, we cannot fairly object, in the absence of available hospital accommodation, to his friends taking advantage of the law, and to their applying to justices of the peace for his immediate security by a committal to gaol, in the expectation that thence he will be sent to an asylum for proper treatment; neither do we think that magistrates, when thoroughly informed as to particulars, should throw any impediments in the way,

Case in point.

fully satisfied as we are that a prompt interference has prevented serious personal injury, and that a procrastination from one day to another, has eventuated in the loss of life.

For example, and as a practical illustration, we shall assume a case, be it in a northern or southern district, at Sligo or Clonmel. A cottier farmer or labourer becomes suddenly and violently insane, having a family of three or four young children solely dependent on him for their means of subsistence. He lives 50 miles from the asylum; in the one case the gaol of Carrick-on-Shannon, in the other that at Nenagh, lies much closer to his home, some thirty miles nearer; the wife has no one willing or able to take charge of him, neither has she wherewith to convey the lunatic to the asylum, a journey on foot, or in a common country car, of three entire days. She is consequently constrained to apply to the next magistrates for his committal, under the provisions of the Act. The police take charge of him, and he remains in prison till cured, or ceasing to be dangerous, is liberated by one of the committing justices, unless in the interim he may be removed to hospital by warrant of the Lord Lieutenant. Thus in extensive districts, and in such extreme cases, the statute may be regarded at present not only as a necessity, but when judiciously carried out, a certain protection to life and property.

Division of Asylum Districts.

In our endeavours, and we believe we may now add, our successful endeavours, to establish provision for the insane poor of this country, we have, as your Excellency is aware, urged respectfully, but not the less strenuously, in opposition to local influence and authority, the division of districts in preference to the enlargement of existing institutions. We did so on conviction, and from a desire that thereby contributory sub-districts should benefit as much as possible from their outlay on the erection and maintenance of asylums, for it may be accepted as a medical truism, that in the area around any public institution (unless a counteracting influence be brought into bearing), the benefits derivable from it diminish almost in a fourfold degree with increased remoteness.

Suggestion for defraying cost of transmission of patients to Asylums.

By placing these hospitals for the insane within more easy access to applicants for admission, we not only advance the opportunities of checking the disease in its early stages, and thus lessen an expenditure of public rates, in supporting chronic patients, but we obviate to a considerable degree the necessity and consequent frequency of gaol committals. In a preceding passage of this Report, the utility was suggested of authorizing magistrates resident in any particular locality, and thus, it is to be presumed, cognizant of the social condition of the parties, to defray on urgent occasions the transmission of insane poor to the asylum of the district out of the county rates, whereby committals to prison would be also lessened. In the new code of rules already referred to, we had a power given to the Board of Governors to pay out of the asylum funds the cost of the return of recovered lunatics. By this means a sort of reciprocity of conveyance for the benefit of the indigent would be established.

Treatment of lunatics in gaols.

The treatment of lunatics in prison appears, on the whole, to be very humane. Their dietary, which is not fixed, is generally left by visiting Boards of Superintendence to the discretion of the Medical Officers, who are at liberty to order for individual cases whatever they may deem advisable. So far as the limited capabilities of a gaol permit, we have reason to think that, as a class, a considerate attention is for the most part bestowed on them. They are placed immediately under the care of one of the Warders, assisted, when necessary, by two or more prisoners or convicts, who, it is to be presumed, are selected to the task for their good behaviour and intelligence. With regard to bedding, fuel, clothing, and other creature comforts, we have found them generally well supplied. The food is ample in quantity; but we could desire in some gaols more animal and vegetable nutriment, particularly for those any lengthened time in confinement. As a matter of course, in the absence of all means of classification, recourse is had in violent cases to handcuffs and similar mechanical appliances for coercion; and on some, but rare occasions, the mode even of their application appeared to us much too severe. We are not, however, disposed to attribute this so much to any intentional harshness, as to an ignorance on the part of persons uninstructed on the subject, and who, perhaps, themselves having suffered violence from the insane, naturally dread their excitement.

Objections to detention of lunatics in gaols.

The great and irremediable objection to the detention of lunatics in gaols arises from their liability to a continued confinement, in narrow cells and cheerless passages, without a single break to the monotony of their existence, while the yards, in which at best they can take but a scanty exercise, overhung by lofty walls, are drear and gloomy; thus the very residence itself, intended as a place of punishment for criminals, or of safe custody for prisoners, is calculated in many cases to render the disease more fixed and intractable.

On the 31st March 282 individuals of both sexes were confined as dangerous lunatics. If divided equally among the 40 gaols of this country, there would on an average be about seven in each of them. But such was not the case; for 209 were to be found in ten prisons belonging to those districts where the want of asylum accommodation had been most felt. In thirteen gaols, on the other hand, where a provision existed, there were no insane whatever; thus, the remaining seventeen had, one with another, five lunatic inmates. Gaols.

During the nine months just elapsed there were 527 committals under the Act 1st Vic., cap. 27—327 males and 200 females; so that the total in custody for the time being, including the 282 already confined, amounted to 809.

From the documents in our office, it would appear that 51 were discharged cured, and 146 by Magistrates on medical certificates, as convalescent, or ceasing to be dangerous. Thus, then, in fairness it must be conceded, that committals have been productive of good; for not only have absolute recoveries been obtained in gaols, but the exposure of life and property to injury averted; for it is to be presumed, that many of the discharged cases had been received in the acute or violent stages of the malady, as they left on the score of being improved, or no longer dangerous. 249 were transmitted to asylums by warrant of the Lord Lieutenant—the prisons which they left having served as a temporary refuge; 32 died—a mortality at the rate of $10\frac{1}{5}$ per cent. for nine months, or nearly 3 per cent. more than in asylums. On the 31st December, 1861, 321 lunatics committed as dangerous were still in custody, and being fully three hundred and twenty more than we should desire to see so located, it will continue our unceasing object to disembarrass gaols altogether of such inmates, through the establishment of a sufficient and suitable accommodation for the insane poor in every district of the kingdom. Admissions, discharges, &c.

CENTRAL ASYLUM AT DUNDRUM.

Central Asylum at Dundrum.

The Central Asylum, at Dundrum, erected for insane persons charged with offences in Ireland, and now in its eleventh year of operation, contained on the 31st March, 131 inmates. In the interval up to the 31st December, four were admitted in the usual form, by warrant of the Lord Lieutenant; one patient effected his escape, he had been in the Asylum nearly four years, and, in the ordinary course of law, being recovered, would have been shortly discharged, as the term of his penal servitude was about to expire; one died—a proportion far below the common scale of mortality, thereby affording the strongest evidence of the sanitary state of an institution, containing altogether 150 human beings. On the 31st December there were in the Asylum 131 patients, or 11 beyond its due complement. Returns.

As in former Reports this asylum has been so fully dwelt on in detail, and those subjects which we deemed pertinent to the safe custody and well-being of its occupants, brought under the notice of the Executive, it is unnecessary for us to reproduce them on the present occasion. We would, however, observe, that in every respect the institution progresses satisfactorily; the house is kept in a creditable condition as regards order and cleanliness, while the patients themselves are treated with every consideration, the majority of them being usefully employed, viz., 65 out of 91 males, and 27 out of 40 females. The grounds, comprising altogether 31 acres—24 within the walls and 7 outside—with the exception of the pleasure gardens and airing courts, are partly tilled and in part grazed —the establishment being now supplied with milk from its own dairy. Condition of Asylum, and of grounds.

With regard to the educational and social condition of the patients, 57, or nearly one-half, are illiterate, while the unmarried amount to 82. The following tabular form classifies the present inmates of the Dundrum Asylum, in reference to the offences which they committed, or of which they were accused:— Classification of inmates as regards offences.

From the foregoing table your Excellency will perceive, that ten patients charged with homicide are sane; but as five of them have not been convalescent as yet for an entire year, we feel no immediate difficulty in their regard. A question, however, arises, and one of no easy solution, in a moral and social point of view, as to how the others ought to be disposed of. To keep a sane person confined for a lengthened period among lunatics may, on the one hand, appear an act of injustice to the individual, who had been acquitted on the score of being an irresponsible agent; while on the other, a respect is due to public prejudice against the ingress of a lunatic homicide, even though restored to reason, into society, and particularly to a locality where the deed was committed. If there existed unequivocal proof that the party was of unsound mind at the immediate time, and that there was just reason to think recovery perfect, and likely to be permanent, we should have little hesitation in recommending a discharge; fortunately, too, in every instance we have done so the result has been satisfactory; but when the grounds of acquittal are at all doubtful, and that the accused never exhibited any symptoms of insanity after trial, or suspicious ones before it, the line we ought to adopt becomes very embarrassing; for example, there is a patient at present in the asylum, coming within this category, who has been there for five years, and is perfectly sane. Were it certain that if free he would emigrate, he might be liberated; but no engagement made in his present position would be binding on him, and we can scarcely advise his unconditional discharge, from a regard to strong local feelings against his release, which have not as yet subsided; thus, in getting out of one difficulty, we should probably find ourselves involved in a greater.

CENTRAL ASYLUM AT DUNDRUM.

Detention of recovered lunatics.

Convict lunatics.

In a preceding report we remarked that one of the main difficulties to be contended with at the Central Asylum had reference to convicts, the average admittance of whom since its opening has amounted to nine annually. Some of them being malingerers, were soon detected and sent back to prison; others recovered, and were, for the most part, discharged in due course of law. When delusions, real or feigned, are in question, it is easy to deal with the party, as then there is something definite to work on; but when habits of insubordination, recklessness of conduct, and a disposition to violence uncontrolled by any moral influence, are the sole symptoms by which the mental condition of a prisoner is to be judged of, great difficulties arise as to whether he be actually a lunatic, and irresponsible for his acts, or quite the reverse. Such persons, however, being duly certified to be insane, are received, as a matter of course, into the Dundrum Asylum, and pass through it, many of them, troublesome enough, remaining till the period of their penal servitude terminates, while others are re-transmitted to the convict depôt as soon as their state of health permits it.

Malingerers.

In two or three instances it has happened, that the parties themselves, getting tired of living with lunatics, and feeling that they were objects of suspicion, from being constantly watched, speedily recovered, frankly expressing a preference for prison life.

To exemplify the difficulty which the question of sanity or insanity may produce, in regard to the treatment of convicts, we will adduce a case recently visited by one of the Inspectors in the lunatic wards of the gaol at Philipstown, and whose history on a personal inquiry was noted at the time.

Mental depravity.

W. W., a native of the County Kilkenny, well-educated for his previous station in life, commenced his career, not by degrees, but by boldly and at once robbing his father, on a Sunday, when at chapel, of whatever earnings he had saved as a labourer; came to Dublin, where, previous to his last offence, he had been fourteen different times in prison, summarily convicted for larcenies, &c. He seems utterly reckless and depraved, versed in crime, and indifferent to punishment, which he represents as being only calculated to render him more insubordinate and vindictive. He is about twenty-six years of age. He kept a female companion, as was the fashion with some of his associates, to whom he intrusted all his gains on the produce of picking pockets and shop-lifting. He was not addicted to drinking, neither did he appear to have been altogether insensible to the early teachings of religion; he frequented his place of worship perhaps from better motives, though it sometimes happened that yielding to his ruling passion, he returned from it with the purse or even prayer-book of some more practical Christian. His conversation is rational, and there is no delusion discoverable about him. He appears to regard his own existence and that of his neighbour with a like indifference. W. was placed in the lunatic department of the prison from his unaccountable disregard of rules, and sudden outbreaks of violence—at one time boisterous and unmanageable, and at another quite taciturn and dejected, without any assignable cause for either.

This is a strong, but not an exaggerated case, indicative of the action of the human mind. How far the effects resulting therefrom, whether it be in regard to criminality, on the one hand, or on the other, to the social rights and privileges of the individual, are to be attributed to insanity, is more a subject for legal consideration than for discussion in a Parliamentary Report.

Willing as we may be to discover a palliation for crime in the false perceptions between right and wrong in the mind of the offender, it still comes within our province to suggest that such parties, if they persist in turbulence and insubordination, should not mix with other inmates of the asylum, but have separate wards, and be under a separate discipline. However, once admitted, the antecedents of the patients are no longer considered; they are recognised only as lunatics, receiving the same kindly treatment as the others; and we are happy to state that many of them, gradually conforming to the rules of the institution, become quiet, amenable, and useful on the farm, or if they prefer it, are instructed in some handicraft business.

Discharge of recovered patients.

We have remarked that in no instance up to the present had we cause to regret the free discharge of recovered lunatics from the Dundrum Asylum, a result materially owing to the caution and judgment exercised in their regard by the Resident and Visiting Physicians in giving certificates of sanity. Furthermore, in every aggravated offence, independent of our own personal examination, from time to time, into the immediate condition of the patient, a year's probation of unbroken health is required by us before we submit the case to the favourable consideration of the Executive.

Tendencies of the insane.

Strong tendencies or predispositions are attributed to the insane; but from our experience, we would restrict the homicidal within the narrowest limits—the suicidal is much more prevalent;—a lunatic lives within himself, his mind is separated more or less from the world at large, and looking with distrust on those around him, no matter how closely related, all his miseries, present or future, are centred in his own existence, which often becomes an insufferable burden to him;—but while we have reason not to ignore the former, it appears to us that most of the deaths or violent assaults on the person, at the hands of the insane, when delusions actually existed, were accidental, originating in circumstances of the moment. We do not therefore regard the deprivation of another of life by a lunatic as a bar to his liberation when thoroughly cured. We are fortified in this opinion, by finding on reference to the statistics of the Dundrum Asylum since its opening, that more than one-half, or 126, of those received into it had committed homicide or grievous assaults; and it so happened that of the former, two were perpetrated in District, Asylums, and of the latter, two were made on physicians attached to them. Still, with all these apparent elements of violence and danger, very little of either has been noticeable in the Dundrum Asylum.

Assaults on patients by other patients.

There were, it is true, during the past ten years, some assaults committed, as might happen in any similar institution; two of these, and of a very serious character, were on the one person, a lunatic, who is much given to irony and descanting upon his companions both in prose and verse. The third we shall mention was an attempt made by a patient, otherwise of inoffensive habits, on the life of an attendant, whom he wounded severely in the side with a small bar of sharpened iron; he had long entertained the delusion that unless he could kill this attendant he himself would be poisoned. The suicidal propensity is much more frequent, as may be gathered from the one fact that at the female side, with only forty patients, three women at the same time attempted self-destruction from starvation, and one succeeded, from the debility under which she subsequently sunk.

Attempts at self-destruction.

Enlargement of Asylum.

In consequence of the influx of patients and the number of criminal lunatics in gaols, who were still unaccommodated, we felt called on to apply to your Excellency for an enlargement of the asylum by fifty beds, thus setting the hospital free for the reception of invalids, and not have it, as now, solely employed for dormitory purposes; 120 was the original number for which the building was constructed, and even for it the provision was rather restricted, some of the day-rooms being overcrowded. The additions, as suggested by us, will we anticipate be found highly useful; a reading-room is proposed for the better and convalescent classes, as well as a refectory, large day-room, and a Turkish bath for general use; and we have further made provision for separating turbulent inmates from the more quiet and orderly. Among other improvements too, we have arranged with a public company in the neighbourhood, for a regular supply of gas to the institution.

Expenditure.

The current expenditure of the asylum, of which the details have been given from year to year in preceding Reports, amounted in eleven years, that is, from the 31st December, 1850, to 31st December, 1861, to an average charge of about £26 12*s.* per head per annum.

Management of Asylum.

In closing our remarks on the Central Asylum, which, since its opening, has been altogether intrusted to our management and control, we feel it a simple matter of justice to state to your Excellency that its satisfactory condition is mainly if not altogether due to the care and attention bestowed on the patients by both the Resident and Visiting Physicians, aided by the other officers, and to a vigilance and uniform propriety of conduct on the part of the attendants.

Now that the asylum is in its twelfth year of operation, it may not be uninteresting to your Excellency if we give in the subjoined form a general resumé of the cases received into it since its opening up to the 31st December, and of the mode in which they are or were disposed of.

PRIVATE ASYLUMS.

PRIVATE ASYLUMS.

Number of private licensed houses.

Under the provisions of the 5 & 6 Vict., c. 123, and subsequent Acts, there are at present, twenty-two Private Lunatic Asylums in operation; nineteen of which are licensed, and three unlicensed, the latter being partly charitable institutions, viz., St. Patrick's or Swift's Hospital, St. Vincent's Asylum for Females, managed altogether by a religious sisterhood or community, and the Bloomfield Retreat, belonging to the Society of Friends.

Fees on licences.

During the nine months ending 31st December, sixteen licences were issued, authorizing the reception of 303 patients, the fees paid on which amounted to £161. These fees, in full, now produce annually upwards of £200, or more than double the sum necessary to cover the expenses attendant on the supervision of private licensed houses.

We have had, latterly, no reason to complain of the manner in which private institutions for the insane have been conducted.

Fines imposed for irregularities.

In consequence, however, of certain irregularities connected with the admission of patients into Hartfield House and Eagle Lodge, and an inattention on the part of the proprietors of those establishments to our frequent representations, we deemed it our duty to recommend that conditional licences only should be granted them, a recommendation on which the Magistrates assembled at Quarter Sessions acted by issuing the licences for three, instead of twelve months, which was equivalent to a fine of £20 on the former, and of £13 on the latter, inasmuch as the fees had thus to be paid twice over within the year. The proprietors of one or two other asylums have also, from time to time, been more or less irregular and inattentive to our warnings; but we trust the course adopted by us on the occasions referred to, and which we are resolved to carry out whenever the forms of the law are not observed, will have the effect of preventing the recurrence of any future neglect.

Present accommodation in licensed houses.

The present accommodation in Private Asylums, including the three partly charitable institutions already named, is for 600 patients, constituting an increase of 150 beds within the last five years, from which it is evident that the demand for asylum accommodation has not been confined exclusively to the humbler classes of society; for, as the necessity of extending the District Lunatic Asylums of Ireland has pressed itself on the attention of the public, a similar one has been experienced by the proprietors of Private Licensed Houses from the same cause.

PRIVATE ASYLUMS.

There are six establishments not under the care of resident medical men, viz., the Retreat, Armagh; Bloomfield Retreat, county Dublin; Course Lodge, county Armagh; Lysle House, county Dublin; Riversdale Lodge, county Dublin; and St. Vincent's Asylum, county Dublin; these, however, are regularly visited by duly qualified and experienced physicians, in accordance with the 18th sec. of the Act.

Alterations and improvements.

Disuse of mechanical restraint.

The interior arrangements of many of the Private Asylums are now most satisfactory, alterations and additions having been made in them, at our suggestion, with the express object of providing suitable accommodation for the inmates. Mechanical restraint is now, we are glad to observe, not employed except in cases of extreme violence, and then only so long as may be necessary for the protection of the patients themselves. So far we have just reason to be content, for, contrasted with what it was some years back, one cannot fail to observe, in the present condition of Private Asylums, many salutary improvements, both as regards the general well-being and social comforts of the patients, and increased means for carrying into effect a proper system of classification.

Separate establishments for females.

The proprietors of Farnham House, Hampstead House, and Hartfield House, have provided distinct and separate establishments for the accommodation of females, an arrangement of which we cannot too highly approve, while St. Vincent's Asylum, Lysle House, Riversdale Lodge, Course Lodge, and Annebrook are exclusively devoted to the reception of female lunatics. The total number of females thus separately accommodated at present is 84; and when the extensions now in progress at St. Vincent's are completed, there will be provision for a much larger number.

Visitation of private licensed houses.

To this (the Private Asylum) branch of our department we pay unceasing attention, and our efforts have been productive of much good. We visit Licensed Houses very frequently, not alone for the purpose of inspecting the establishments themselves and their domestic arrangements, but of examining into the condition of the patients, and satisfying ourselves that no party shall be improperly or unnecessarily detained, or who is not a fit and proper person for confinement in an asylum.

Statistics of Private Asylums.

Suicide.

The total number of lunatics in custody in Private Lunatic Asylums on 31st March, 1861, was 513, namely, 267 males and 246 females. During the nine months, 157 were admitted, 70 males and 87 females; making a total under treatment during that period of 670, 337 being males and 333 females; the discharged amounted to 131—57 males and 74 females; a considerable number of them, however, were but transferences from one asylum to another; of these 131, 60 were returned to our office as absolute recoveries—27 males and 33 females; 43 improved—25 males and 18 females; 25 not recovered or incurable—3 males and 22 females; 3 escaped—2 males and 1 female; two were brought back almost immediately after; the third, a colonel in Her Majesty's service, we regret to say, committed suicide by drowning himself, and so determined was he to effect his purpose, that he filled his pockets with stones. His body was found in a quarry-pit about a mile from the asylum. On its discovery, one of the Inspectors proceeded to the asylum, and made special inquiry into all the circumstances of the case. It appeared that the lunatic had, while at exercise on the ground, eluded the vigilance of the attendants, and although followed, succeeded in escaping pursuit, owing, it is supposed, to having concealed himself amongst the thick hedge-rows in the neighbourhood, and which were in full leaf at the time. A Coroner's inquest was held, and a verdict returned in accordance with the facts. This was the only death out of 24, the total mortality referrible to suicide or accident, that occurred in Private Asylums during the period intervening between the 1st April and 31st December, 1861.

Respectfully submitting the foregoing Report on the Lunatic Establishments and State of Lunacy in this country to your Excellency,

We have the honour to subscribe ourselves

Your Excellency's obedient Servants,

JOHN NUGENT,

GEORGE W. HATCHELL.

APPENDIX F.

General Rules and Regulations for the Management of District Lunatic Asylums in Ireland, issued by the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council on 16th January, 1862.

By the Lord Lieutenant and Council of Ireland.

Carlisle.

Whereas by an Order made on the 27th day of March, 1843, certain General Rules and Regulations were established for the good conduct and management of the several District Lunatic Asylums in Ireland; and by Orders made respectively the 13th of April, 1844, the 15th of February, 1847, and the 14th of October, 1853, certain further General Rules and Regulations were established for the good conduct and management of those Asylums.

And whereas it is expedient that the said Rules should be rescinded, as well as all Bye-Laws founded on them.

Now We, the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council of Ireland, by virtue of the powers given unto Us by the statutes in such case made and provided, do order and direct that the said several Rules and Regulations, and all Bye-Laws founded thereon, be rescinded, and that for the future good conduct and management of such Asylums, and for defining the duties of the different Officers connected therewith, the following Rules and Regulations be substituted in place thereof.

The Board of Governors.

I.—The Board of Governors of each Asylum, three members whereof shall form a quorum, shall meet regularly on a fixed day, and at a fixed hour, to be determined by the Governors, once in every month (or oftener, should it be deemed necessary or advisable), for the discharge of the ordinary business of the institution; and every such Board shall examine into all fiscal details and the general management of the Asylum; and after an inspection of it by two or more Governors, shall enter on the minutes of the day's proceedings, a report of its state as to cleanliness, regularity, and order, and the condition of its inmates, stating how far their well-being and comforts are attended to.

II.—Should a Board not assemble on the ordinary day the Resident Medical Superintendent shall issue summonses for a meeting on that day week.

III.—Special meetings may be summoned at not less than four days' notice for any particular object, upon a requisition to the Resident Medical Superintendent to that effect, signed by two or more Governors, or by one of the Inspectors.

IV.—A full and accurate copy of the minutes of proceedings of every meeting of the Board shall be transmitted to the Inspectors within four days from the day of meeting; the Board shall also transmit to the Inspectors the quarterly accounts and estimates of expenditure, and all applications for the advance of moneys for the current Asylum maintenance.

V.—All tenders for contracts, whether accepted or rejected, signed as such by the Chairman of the Board at which they have been opened, shall be duly forwarded to the office of the Inspectors for examination and approval. All receipts for disbursements in regard to current expenditure, duly authenticated by the Board, shall be sent to the Commissioners of Audit in London.

VI.—The general dietary shall be regulated by the Board, subject to such alterations as the Inspectors may think fit from time to time to recommend. The Medical Officers shall be at liberty to prescribe such extras as they may deem necessary.

Admission, Treatment, and Discharge of Patients.

VII.—Persons labouring under mental disease, duly certified as such by a registered physician or surgeon, and for whom papers of application are filled up in the prescribed form, to the satisfaction of the Board, shall be admissible into District Asylums, after having been examined by the Resident Medical Superintendent.

VIII.—No patient is to be admitted without the sanction of the Board, except by order of the Lord Lieutenant, or in case of urgency, when the Resident Medical Superintendent, or, in his absence, the Consulting and Visiting Physician of the Asylum, may admit upon his own authority, stating on the face of his order the grounds upon which he acts.

IX.—The Board may require an engagement to be given in writing for the removal of any patient, to be signed by the friends of the patient, or the magistrate, clergyman, or other responsible person who signs the application for admission.

X.—Patients, except where special reasons to the contrary may exist, are to be clad in the dress of the institution, and their own clothes are carefully to be laid by, to be returned to them on their discharge.

XI.—The patients shall, on admission, be carefully bathed and cleansed, unless otherwise directed by the Resident Medical Superintendent. They shall be treated with all the gentleness compatible with their condition; and restraint, when necessary, shall be as moderate, both in extent and duration, as is consistent with the safety and advantage of the patient.

XII.—Strict regularity shall be observed with respect to the hours for rising in the morning and retiring for the night; that for rising being fixed at six o'clock from the 1st of April to the 30th of September, and for retiring at an hour not earlier than half-past eight o'clock nor later than nine for the same period. During the Winter six months the patients shall rise at seven, and retire not earlier than seven nor later than eight o'clock.

XIII.—The like regularity must be observed with respect to meals; in no case shall the number of meals be less or more than three, and they shall be supplied during the Summer six months at the following hours, viz.: breakfast at eight o'clock; dinner at one o'clock; and supper at six o'clock;—and during the Winter six months at the following hours, viz.: breakfast at nine o'clock; dinner at two o'clock; and supper at half-past five o'clock.

XIV.—On the admission of a patient the Resident Medical Superintendent, or, if he shall be absent on leave, the Consulting and Visiting Physician, shall make himself acquainted as far as possible with the history of the case, and note the same down in the General Registry; he shall also examine into the bodily condition of the patient, who is to be placed in an appropriate division, and carefully attended to both medically and personally.

XV.—Patients may be visited from time to time by their friends, with the permission of the Resident Medical Superintendent, and as a general rule between the hours of 12 and 4 o'clock, P.M.

XVI.—No patient shall be discharged without an order from the Board, on a certificate signed by both Medical Officers, stating the then mental condition of the patient; and no lunatic transferred to an Asylum from gaol, by warrant of the Lord Lieutenant, as dangerous, shall be set free or handed over to his friends as ceasing to be dangerous, except on a joint certificate to that effect, from both Medical Officers; but in the interval between the meetings of the Board it shall be in the power of the Inspectors, or one of them, to order the discharge of any patient (not being a criminal lunatic placed in the Asylum under an order of the Lord Lieutenant); but no such order shall be made, except at the request of the Resident Medical Superintendent, until after a personal inspection of the patient by the Inspector making it; and in every case the order shall be in writing, stating the grounds on which it is made, and shall be deposited with the Resident Medical Superintendent, to be kept by him among the records of the Asylum.

XVII.—On the discharge of patients who have no available means, the Board is authorized to allow the expense of their journey home.

XVIII.—Patients confined in the Central Asylum at Dundrum and removable therefrom, under the 12th Section of 8 & 9 Vic., cap. 107, shall, if insane, at the expiration of their period of imprisonment, and if liable to be treated as pauper lunatics, be transmitted after due inquiry by the Inspectors to the District Asylum, to which, as pauper lunatics, they shall appear to have been admissible previous to their being taken into custody. In the absence of any such definite information, they shall be transferred to the District Asylum of the locality, in which the offence with which they were charged was committed. Lunatics so transferred to District Asylums may be discharged therefrom by order of the Board of each Asylum, as if they had been originally admitted by it.

Resident Medical Superintendent.

XIX.—The Resident Medical Superintendent shall be duly qualified as a Physician and Surgeon.

XX.—He shall superintend and regulate the whole establishment, and is to be intrusted with the moral and general medical treatment of its inmates, for whose well-being and safe custody he shall be responsible; and he shall at all times devote his best exertions to the efficient management of the institution.

XXI.—He shall engage all servants and attendants, subject to the approbation of the Board; and fine, suspend, or with the sanction of the Board or Inspectors, dismiss them for infraction of rules or neglect of duty. In cases, however, of drunkenness, insubordination, or cruelty, he may peremptorily dismiss any attendant, reporting the name of the party and the cause of dismissal to the Inspectors within four days, and to the Governors at their next meeting. He shall take care that no servant or attendant be engaged by him who is under twenty-two or over thirty-six years of age, and who has not the most satisfactory testimonials as to sobriety, good temper, and morality.

XXII.—He shall, before one o'clock, P.M., inspect the whole establishment daily,—dormitories,—dining-rooms,—kitchen,—laundry,—stores, &c. He shall go through all the divisions, and see that they are orderly, well ventilated, and of a proper temperature. He shall carefully examine each patient who may seem to require his advice, or to whom his attention may be directed. When going round the female divisions he shall be accompanied by the Matron or Head Nurse, who shall direct his attention to any matter worthy of notice.

XXIII.—He shall take care that all the Officers of the institution acquit themselves of their respective duties, and in any case of their neglect, he shall report accordingly to the Board at its next meeting.

XXIV.—He shall also visit the male divisions after the patients have retired to rest, and satisfy himself that they are safely and comfortably located for the night.

XXV.—In complicated or difficult cases of mental disease, or any case requiring particular treatment, he shall freely communicate with the Consulting and Visiting Physician, and concert with him the most judicious mode of treatment which should be adopted.

XXVI.—He shall never be absent from the Asylum at the same time with the Matron, nor ever for the night without special leave from the Board of Governors or the Inspectors, and upon every such absence he shall enter in the book the date and period; and inform the Consulting and Visiting Physician, who for the time shall exercise a general supervision over the establishment.

XXVII.—He shall be careful that the following books are kept with regularity, and that they are at all times ready for inspection, viz.:—

1. The General Registry.
2. The Registry of Discharges and Deaths.
3. The Medical Journal.
4. The Morning Statement Book, which shall contain a return of the number of patients divided according to their sex and chargeability,—the names of those admitted and discharged, specifying their mental condition,—the names of those who have died,—the number employed,—the names of those who may be under mechanical restraint or seclusion, and the causes thereof,—the number under medical treatment,—the hour and duration of visits of the respective officers, to be recorded by themselves. This daily return to be countersigned by the Resident Medical Superintendent.
